

SUNDAY MORNING

AUGUST 30, 1914

Liberty Under Law—Equal Rights—True Industrial Freedom
PRICE 2½ CENTS Delivered to Fifty, 50 Monthly, 20 Cents, postage
On Streets, Roads and Tracks, 5 Cents

FLIGHT FROM THE PARIS BATTLE ZONE ORDERED BY THE MILITARY GOVERNOR.

PARIS, Aug. 30, 1:30 a.m.—It is officially announced that the military governor has ordered all residents of the zone within range of action of the city's defending forts to evacuate and destroy their houses within four days from today August 30.

Further announcements made by the War Office say:

"In Lorraine our forces have advanced. We occupy a line along Mortagne and our right wing is pushing forward. There is no news from the Meuse."

"A violent battle occurred yesterday (Saturday) in the region of Lennoy, near Lille, Signy l'Abbaye and Chateau Porcien, but the result has not been decisive and the attack will be resumed tomorrow."

"Four French army corps engaged in a violent battle on the left wing. The right wing of these four corps, taking the offensive, drove back on Guise the Tenth German corps and the guard, both suffering considerable losses."

"Our left was less fortunate. The German forces are advancing in the direction of La Fere." (La Fere is a town in Aisne, 14 miles northwest of Laon. It is a fortress of the second class.)

English cavalrymen guarding a railway station.

THE WORLD'S NEWS IN TODAY'S TIMES.

ESTABLISHED, CLASSIFIED AND INDEXED.

INDEX.

Paris Preparing for a Siege. Threatened by Three Armies. Union Departs Miner. London Day for Parisians. British Boats Are Battered. Battle of Reth of Germans. The Checkerboard of War. China Declines Japan's Aid. China from Southland Counties. Weather Report: City in Brief.

Big Guns for Harbor Defense. Big Service: City Hall, Courts, Law Points, Verse. Big Raises Price of Drugs. Big Books and Rare Fruits. Big Books to Outlive Ages. Whole Beef as a New Edible.

Big Cities and Playhouses. Books and Fancies for Women. Books Art and Artists. Books Part as True Woman. Books Reasons of South Sea. Books in Realm of Local Society. Books-Town Society Notes.

Big Cities from Across Atlantic. Books in England. Books in Argentina. Books in Words and Pictures. Books Reviews; Literature Notes.

Books Classified Advertising.

Books News: Fact and Comment. Books Real Estate Advertisements.

Books Will Marvel of Ages. Books in the Southwest. Books for Fire Workers. Books from the Oil Fields. Books Books and Automobiles. Books Books and Fashion Sheet.

Books Books would do Justice to himself will not depend wholly upon the foregoing

HEART OF IT

GERMANS DEFEAT RUSSIANS IN THREE DAYS' BATTLE.

Five Army Corps and Three Cavalry Divisions Are Reported to Have Been Put to Rout by the Kaiser's Men, Who Cross Into Muscovite Dominions to Pursue the Enemy.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m. south; velocity, 12 miles. Thermometer, highest, 73 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Forecast: Fair.

THE CITY. The government will soon commence the installation of mighty guns at Los Angeles Harbor to protect the sea approaches.

THE SKY

Combined.
FEAR ROUT OF ALLIES.

Now Threatened by Three Armies.

Left Now Rests on Second French Line of Defense on Somme River.

Tactics May Develop Into Attempt to Stop Germans on This Flank.

Russian Move on Koenigsberg Adds Greatly to Strength of Their Position.

By an Associated Editor of the "Army and Navy Journal."

BY DIRECT WIRE—NEW YORK DAILY NEWS
NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 29.—The success of the German turning movement in pushing back the British line from Cambrai to St. Quentin is an important gain for the German armies. If the allies are still holding their advanced position at Maubeuge, they are in serious danger of a disaster on their left flank. If the combined advance of the armies of Gens. Von Bismarck and Von Hindenburg and of Grand Duke Albrecht should succeed in breaking through west of Metz, the retreat of the allies from Maubeuge would be caught in the flank and might be turned into a rout. While it seems probable that the allies have withdrawn to a line running from Metz to St. Quentin, the official reports make no mention of any move.

The importance of the energetic sortie that is being made by the Belgian army from Antwerp is shown in the dispatches which report that a new line has been withdrawn from the front and moved back to the northeast.

This indicates that the Belgian attack so threatens the German line of communication that they were forced to disarrange their general plan in order to meet it. The northern sufficient troops to drive back the Belgian sortie.

Another significant item that might be readily overlooked is the news of the landing of large bodies of British troops at Boulogne. The adoption of La Havre as the base of supply for the British troops would appear to indicate that the retirement of the left of the allies' line has been their plan of operation from the start.

To the left of the allies' line new posts on the French second line of defense of the Somme River. The reports from the war mention the movement of large bodies of French reserves to reinforce their left flank.

If this should develop into a strong effort to stop the German invading columns on this flank, it will indicate that the allies are satisfied with their disposition along the rest of the line.

The arms of the Crown since continued its efforts to break through the allies' line near Montdidier.

FRENCH AGAIN AGGRESSIVE.

The Berlin dispatches agree with the London reports of a resumption of the French aggressive movement from Nancy. The movement of additional German and Austrian corps to the front shows that the Germans are adhering to their policy of devoting all available troops to the overwhelming of the French resistance and that they will prosecute this invasion to the extreme limit, regardless of the Russian advance into East Prussia.

The advance of the Russian invasion to the vicinity of Koenigsberg adds materially to the strength of their military position. Their front is now reduced so that they can appear in greater mass along the line and their right flank is more protected from the danger of a flanking movement. The line of retreat of Koenigsberg, if true, will add still more to the above advantage.

The German defense is growing stronger and is forcing the Russians to fight hard for their advance. The German strategy is to force them to stubbornly contest every step in the Russian advance and to delay by repeated holding of defensive lines. At the same time their field armies must be careful to retreat in time to avoid the danger of being destroyed by a superior force.

FORCES ABOUT EQUAL.

The opposing forces in East Prussia are now about equal in numbers.
The Germans will attempt to stop the Russians east of the Vistula River and to delay them until additional reinforcements are brought up. If this battle goes against them they will retire and make a still greater effort to halt the Russian invasion at the line of the Vistula River. No reports have been given out concerning the advance of the Russians through Poland; such a move would expose the German Vistula defense to the danger of being taken in flank.

To every German the present position of Prussia and Austria brings to mind the position of Prussia in the same period of her history when from 1756 to 1763 when she successfully fought against all Europe. Every German has made a thorough study of the war of 1756 by which Frederick the Great resisted the French, Austria and Russia, the most powerful nations of Europe in his day.

Such victories by the weak Prussians of that period give the present German nation confidence that with their wonderful military strength they can again concentrate to the west and dispose of the enemy in that direction in time to enable them to turn back and overcome the enemy advancing from the east.

KING OF BELGIUM IN THE TRENCHES.

BY ATLANTIC CABLES AND A. P.
LONDON, Aug. 29.—According to the Antwerp correspondent of the Daily News, King Albert constantly mingles with his troops and was in the trenches in the fighting around Malines. He was always at the point of the greatest danger, assisting and encouraging the men while keeping them stirred to a soldier's heart and his sympathetic conduct had a remarkable effect.

What Everybody Has Been Looking For—Topographical Map of the War Zone.

The Franco-German frontier and the districts on either side where the armies of the Kaiser are pitted against those of the allies, namely, French, English and Belgian. The airship stations are also indicated. It will be seen that the French have more of these than the Germans. Those of the Germans have been located with special reference to a probable invasion of the British Isles via the air-line route.

TAKING AMERICANS OUT OF AUSTRIA.

THE UNITED STATES ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR IN CHARGE OF RELIEF.

BY ATLANTIC CABLES AND A. P.

VIENNA (Via Rome and Paris)
AUG. 29, 7:15 p.m.—The American Relief Committee continued its labors today and dealt with 150 applicants for assistance for the most part tourists, physicians and students. Seventy-five Americans left today and a special train has been arranged which will carry 150 additional Americans.
This will dispose of most of the Americans in Vienna.

Henry S. Breckinridge, Assistant Secretary of War, who has charge of the relief work in behalf of the Americans in Austria-Hungary, is at Brussels and has made arrangements for a special train which will leave Budapest Sunday night for Berlin, carrying away Americans who were stranded in Hungary.

The committee has been able to render much assistance to many persons with checks, drafts and letters of credit, which they have been unable to negotiate at the banks.

The American Ambassador, Frederic C. Penfield, is doing his utmost to obtain a train for 160 British tourists and will call on the German Ambassador.
Official announcement is made that the ordinary passenger and freight service will be partially restored on all state railways in Austria at any early date.

FLEEING AMERICANS ARRIVE IN LONDON.

BY ATLANTIC CABLES AND A. P.

LONDON, Aug. 29, 11:35 p.m.—
More Americans fleeing from Germany reached here tonight, coming by way of Flushing, Holland.

The first train carried 200 passengers, while 170 were accommodated on the second, which reached Amsterdam Wednesday.

DISTRIBUTE ARMS TO CIVILIANS.

GERMANS CHARGE AUTHORITIES OF TOWNS INCITE THE PEOPLE TO WAR.

BY ATLANTIC CABLES AND A. P.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(By Marconi Wires.)—The leaders of the German army protest against the news circulated abroad regarding their practice on the field of battle of another British official dispatch, which adds:

"The German troops are occasionally obliged to adopt severe measures when provoked by treacherous attacks by the civil population and atrocities committed against the wounded. The responsibility for the conduct of our warfare lies solely with the authorities of the occupied territories who have distributed arms among the civilians and incited them to the part in the war. The German population is not hostile to our troops. Harm is not done either to property or persons. The German soldier is neither an incen-sor nor a pillager and fights only against a hostile army."

QUICK AID TO AMERICANS.

GIGANTIC TASK ABOARD ABLY HANDLED AND MILLIONS OF DOLLARS ARE EXPEND-ED BY FEDERAL RELIEF BOARD.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—How the American government has handled the gigantic task of providing relief and means of returning home for thousands of its citizens marooned in the European war zones was outlined by the Federal relief board. Summing up the situation after nearly three weeks of work, involving the use of millions of dollars, unprecedented activities by diplomatic and consular agents abroad and the dispatch of two gold-laden cruisers across the Atlantic, the board said, in part:

"The situation is so greatly relieved that Americans anywhere on the continent can apply to the American embassies or legations for information. The population is not hostile to our troops. Harm is not done either to property or persons. The German soldier is neither an incen-
sor nor a pillager and fights only against a hostile army."

FRENCH OFFICERS FALL IN BATTLE.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—An official communication says that a general commanding an army has mentioned in the army orders of the day the names of six under-lieutenants who were killed in battle on August 26.

Lieutenant Léon of the Fourth Battalion of Riflemen fell mortally wounded at the moment when at the head of his section he was making a counter bayonet charge.
The other five were mentioned for conspicuous gallantry.

ROOM ON AMERICAN TRAIN.

Special Wagon Left Berlin for Holland. Reported Not to Be Fully Occupied: Many Americans Remain.

BY ATLANTIC CABLES AND A. P.

BERLIN, Aug. 28, via London, Aug.
29.—The special train which left today was not fully occupied. The next train will start on August 30.

Commander Ryan and his assistants Commanders Ford and Martin, and scantily sleep on the bare ground.

Capt. Fenton, Mill, Clegg, Enochs, who instituted the renewal here, find considerable in persuading Americans to go in his return to this city. He is completely obsessed by himself. Even before the war he was constantly of spies and it was a day when the imperial high and low did not notice one of Leipzig did not notice one of his four days was a brilliant of arms.

German laborers who are in Germany are constantly of being spied on. When they started there were many stories of German attempting to blow up railway bridges, telegraph offices and government buildings.

London, the German for the Russians in their war in Berlin.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.

LONDON, Aug. 29, 10:30 a.m.—
Among the arrivals from Germany today was H. G. G.
Johnstone, F. W. G. G. G. G.
He was declared the troops under the Crown of Bavaria were attacked from the south, but the enemy
in the palace yard, where many hardships. They have joined the Austrian army and are fighting against Serbia and against the Austro-Hungarian

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.

LONDON, Aug. 29, 8:55 p.m.—An army led by Crown Prince William is advancing to the Muese. The troops under the Crown of Bavaria were attacked from
the south, but the enemy
in the palace yard, where many hardships. They have joined the Austrian army and are fighting against Serbia and against the Austro-Hungarian

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.

LONDON, Aug. 29, 8:55 p.m.—An
army led by Crown Prince
William is advancing to the Muese. The troops under the Crown of Bavaria were attacked from
the south, but the enemy
in the palace yard, where many hardships. They have joined the Austrian army and are fighting against Serbia and against the Austro-Hungarian

LITTLE UNION DEPORTS MINER.

Comes Back to Demand Arrest of Agitators.

Ends of I.W.W. Murderer Protest Execution.

Blame the Plutocracy if Man Is Killed.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Members of the Butte Mine Workers today deported Edward O'Brien, a young miner, whom they said was a member of the Western Federation of Miners, refused to join the union, or to quit the union, and he was placed under guard in a mine, taken to the head-quarters of the mine workers, and held a prisoner until after the miners had attended the funeral of Alvaray, the miner who died at the union's headquarters.

The miners returned and said President McDonald had been arrested for the arrest of O'Brien, but although McDonald was in the outskirts of town and demanded to "beat it" and return.

He returned in several hours and said the county court had adjourned for the arrest of McDonald, and he had been released.

McDonald had been arrested for the charge of kidnapping, that was placed in the hands of Driscoll by the court early this morning, but although McDonald, and the miners, had each other, the miners were asking that a warrant be issued. The warrant was issued up to a late hour tonight, according to miners, who said that it would be issued.

Arrests are being taken at the mines of the Anaconda Company against possible trouble. It is reported that the militia is called in.

EXECUTION.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Industrialists of the World held a meeting in Union Square today in protest against the execution of Joseph Hill, leader of their organization, in the City next week, on a charge that he was a spy. The men, who were sent to Hill, Spry declaring Hill had concealed on film evidence of his conduct, Spry would be considered a reactionary plutocrat responsible for the death of his comrade.

CONFIRMED.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The Senate confirmed the nomination of McDonald to be an associate of the Supreme Court. The vote was "very definitely" in favor of the confirmation. It was also confirmed without opposition of Thomas W. of Texas to be Attorney-General.

OF LONGWY IS MINIMIZED.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PARIS, Aug. 29.—The Post's correspondent considers the fall of Longwy as no disgrace to the Army. It was only a fortress second rank, its heavier guns taken away some years ago.

He considers it a mistake that it was taken so easily.

He says that the attack for over three weeks, correspondent that it is half the garrison was wounded and that, under circumstances, their resistance of four days was a brilliant one.

Epidemic.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

INSTANT HUNT FOR SPIES IS OBSESSION OF BERLIN.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—(Via London, Aug. 29, 2 a.m. Sunday.) The hunting of spies is the worst of the war in Berlin," declared a correspondent of a local newspaper to this city. He is completely obsessed by the hunt for spies. Even before the war one constantly of spies and it was done when the imperial high command did not sentence one.

German farm laborers who are so in Germany are constantly being spied on. When the news of the many stories of German attempts to blow up bridges, telegraph offices and government buildings.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain 1000 meters high on the banks of the Drina.

"Cologne and the Rhine province have each contributed 1000 marks toward a fund for the relief of refugees from East Prussia."

The American Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, who is charged with a special mission to Europe in connection with repatriation of stranded Americans, has expressed his gratitude for the support he has received in German and Austrian official circles.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

PARIS, Aug. 29, 2:55 p.m.—An storm in the first line a mountain Independent.

CHINA DECLINES OFFER OF AID FROM JAPAN

Peking Tells Tokio It Is Capable of Putting Down Any Internal Disorder—Cable Between Shanghai and Tsing-Tau Has Been Cut—German Ambassador Leaves Nipponese Capital for Yokohama.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]

PEKING, Aug. 29.—It is understood that the Chinese government will decline Japan's offer to suppress any disorder that may occur in China during the European conflict. The government, it is said, believes itself capable of putting down any internal uprising.

The cable between Shanghai and Tsing-Tau has been cut. It is stated that the entire German Far Eastern fleet is in the harbor at Tsing-Tau and that the Germans are placing mines outside the harbor entrance.

Word is received from Tokio that the censor there will not receive from us any German. Our cavalry picks us for the approach of war.

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

"We lay in trenches, crossed the river, and then the Germans came and they crept up on us. Then our officers shot at them and they ran away."

FIRE SALE Building Material

$25,000 stock Plumbing, Paint, Sash and Door, Hardware and Gas Ranges turned over to us by insurance company.

Cast iron Enamelled Tubs, slightly stained and damaged $14.00 up

Closet Combinations

Low down steel enameled closet combinations $7.50 up

Low down bentwood closet combinations $7.50 up

Everything else in the plumbing line.

Lavatories

All sizes and designs: $6.00 to $15.00 values $2.50 up

Hardware

A general assortment of building hardware at 50c on the dollar. Heavy galvanized chicken netting, 2-inch mesh, all widths, at per hundred sq. ft. 45c

Sash-Doors

Windows, No. 1 quality; slight water damaged 50c up

Screen Doors

Full wire front doors. Panel bottom, back doors. All stock sizes; screen wire slightly discolored; otherwise in perfect good order: $1.75 values reduced to $1.40 500 50c to 75c Cupboard doors, No. 1 quality 50c up

Gas Ranges

All kinds and sizes at 20 per cent off.

Lumber always the lowest

WHITING-MEAD COMMERCIAL CO.
Ninth and Maple

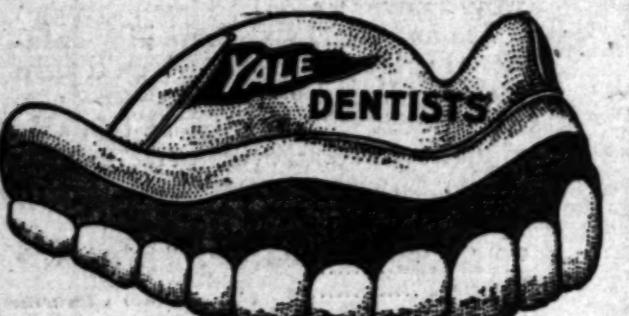

Second Hand Department

1 Combination butcher and grocery ice box, worth $300. Our price $125.00
Skylights 8'x12' complete. Only $15.00
Sidewalk vault lights in good shape, 3'x5', each $3.50
1x4 Maple flooring T and G ends; excellent condition; $35.00 per M.

Whiting Wrecking Co.

Eighth and San Pedro

San Pedro Cars Pass Our Doors.

In Everybody's Mouth

Yale Dentistry

We never will be satisfied until we have secured the dental work of the entire public of Los Angeles and Southern California. We merit it by the high character of the service we render. We are entitled to it because of the low prices we make. Every customer means so many more customers among his or her friends. Ten years building up in this one spot. We Continue Our Little Vacation Prices This Week.

Plates as Low as $2.50; Reduced Prices on Crowns and Bridges.

Large staff trained experts, each one a master in his particular field. Finest dental equipment. Sanitary surroundings. Absolutely painless methods guaranteed.

YALE DENTISTS
Third Floor Parmelee-Dohrmann Bldg. Take Elevator.
444 South Broadway.

No Profit Shoe Sale

Shoes $1.85

Worth $2.50, $3 and $3.50

Women's Shoes All Styles All Sizes

$1.85

An introductory offer to the readers of THE TIMES only! We want every reader of this paper to become acquainted with the fact that UPSTAIRS THEY CAN BUY SHOES FOR LESS! For Monday and Tuesday only we place on sale full lines of every conceivable style of Women's Shoes. And remember—

These Are Shoes That We Sold For $2.50, $3 and $3.50 and at Those Prices Built Up Our Reputation for Value Giving!

Unrestricted choice at this price of dozens of new styles in Women's High and Low Cut Shoes. We feel sure that if you patronize The Sample Shoe Store once, you will always trade here. Come expecting to see great Bargains and you'll not be disappointed.

Big Sixth Floor Shoe Store

Take elevator to sixth floor and see our immense stock of fine footwear for the entire family.

THE SAMPLE SHOE STORE
444 SOUTH BROADWAY
PARMELEE DOHRMANN BLDG. TAKE ELEVATOR - SIXTH FLOOR

Allies Forced Back.

(Continued from First Page.)

man naval officers and sailors are on the way to Constantinople.

There has been strong renunciation of the continuance of football, cricket and other games while the British army is fighting, and more men are required to reinforce men, and particularly to reinforce men, marching matches while Secretary of War Kitchener is calling for recruits.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts referred to this in a speech he made today a new organization of naval forces recruited from the business and professional men of the city of London. He expressed his intense admiration for these men, saying:

"How often did you see your action to those of the men who still go on with their cricket and football as if the very existence of this country were not at stake. This is not the time to play games, wholesome as they are in times of peace. We are engaged in a life-and-death struggle."

He explains that she was manhandled by Germans for the reason that she was for Tsing-Tau when the British army was not permitted to sail. A pre-emptive inspection made by the British authorities at Shanghai before the Hamanet sailed, resulted in her captain receiving certificates stating that she carried no cargo.

DETROIT MECCA FOR THE G.A.R.

SENIOR AIDE DE CAMP NAVE OF LOS ANGELES REPORTS FOR ENCAMPMENT.

IT IS A P. NEWS WIRE.

DETROIT (Mich.) Aug. 29.—Every train and boat coming into Detroit today brought veterans of the Civil War for next week's forty-eighth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. Arrangements have been made to take care of 25,000 members.

Among those who reported today was Senior Aide de Camp Orville J. Nave of Los Angeles, Cal. Patriotic services will be held in all the local churches tomorrow.

How Drink Habit Is Conquered

In Three Days by the Neal Treatment Without the Use of Painful Hypodermic Injections.

The Los Angeles Neal Institute, 945 South Olive street, is one of the grandest institutions in the State of California. It is doing great good for the cause of humanity. During the past three years hundreds of drink and drug-poisoned men and women have been saved from ruin and death by the Neal Treatment and restored to useful lives. There is no guess work about the Neal Treatment. It has been successfully administered for years at sixty splendid Neal Institutes in the principal cities of the world. It is safe, sure, internal treatment that removes the craving and necessity for drink in three days without painful hypodermic injections. Spend three days at the Neal Institute, or at home, taking the Neal Home Treatment and stop drinking. You will never regret it. Send your drinking father a hundred dollars for the Neal Treatment before something terrible happens to them. It is your duty to help them. Call now and investigate, or write or phone G. U. Neal, manager, for full information. Phone: Broadway 4602, A4072. All drug habits treated.

IT IS A P. NEWS WIRE.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—A circle of thirty-four miles in length will be swept of buildings if the order of the Military Governor of Paris that residents of "sons of action" of the French capital's defending forts burn their homes in anticipation of a siege is correctly interpreted here. It is supposed the order refers to the suburban territory just beyond the city's second line of defense, composed of these connecting forts.

These are located in a wide circle about two miles outside of the inner wall, which surrounds Paris. They are for the most part among famous suburbs, towns such as Neuilly, Suresnes, Vincennes and Marly, every approach to the city. It is assumed that the Governor's order is intended to clear the way in front of these defenses that no protection will be afforded to the city.

This order probably applies also to the fortifications of the fortifications that the Germans have occupied in the suburbs of Paris. They are built of steel

ENES OFFER D FROM JAPAN.

Capable of Putting Down Cable Between Shanghai and Tut — German Ambassador for Yokohama.

SIFIC CABLE.

Understood that the Chinese government offer to suppress any disorders due to the European conflict. The Chinese capable of putting down any possible and Tsing-Tau has been cut. German Far Eastern fleet is based at the Germans are placing their forces.

that the censor there refused and what is suppressed.

CALL JAPANESE BLACKMAILERS.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.) LONDON, Aug. 29.—W.H. indication is manifested in German news papers reaching this city over the action taken by Japan in support of Great Britain.

Editorially, most of the newspapers refer to the Japanese as blackmailers. The Germans have assumed a position on the loss of Kiaochow, confirming themselves with the view that its ultimate fate will be decided on European battlefields. The news papers remind their readers that Kiaochow will be given to Germany, and Germany nearly $40,000,000, aside from the enormous sums spent on railways and mines.

GERMAN DESTROYER WAS NOT SUNK.

(BY PACIFIC CABLE) PEKING, Aug. 29.—After an investigation denies that the German Legation denies that the German torpedo-boat destroyer "S-90" was sunk.

The Japanese legation here expects that a Japanese landing party of Kiaochow will be made in a few days.

At this time our artillery began shelling us among them and then broke into open formation, rushing forward and firing volleys. On the left of the Germans all back in confusion and lay down wherever cover was available. We gave them no rest and they were again in flight.

Then came more shelling of our men and another rush across the front. This time they were strongly supported by cavalry and suffered terribly, but came up again.

We received them in the good old style, and they crept nearer and nearer.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

TELL OF RUSH BY GERMANS.

British Describe Experiences in Recent Battles.

Artillery Drops Shells Among Advancing Hordes.

British Charge to Muzzles of the Field Guns.

ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.) LONDON, Aug. 29.—Sergeant Loftus, writing to his brother in England of the experiences of the British in the battle of Mons, says:

"It came unexpectedly at a time when we had given up hope of seeing any Germans. Just after reveille or cavalry patrols fell back, reporting the approach of the enemy in force. We lay in trenches as our artillery had been put into fine style and they were the compliment. They were in time in finding the range. After about half an hour their infantry came into view. They were in many places standing out sharply against the skyline. You couldn't miss them.

"We lay in our trenches without a gun and they crept nearer and nearer. The Germans had come forward in a line of file, with the sound of many rifles along the line and the stream of bullets through the advancing mass. It seemed to stagger like a drunk man, his between the eyes, and then it made a rush at us. Half way through the ranks, the British were another volley fire.

"At this time our artillery began shelling us among them and then broke into open formation, rushing forward and firing volleys. On the left of the Germans all back in confusion and lay down wherever cover was available. We gave them no rest and they were again in flight.

Then came more shelling of our men and another rush across the front. This time they were strongly supported by cavalry and suffered terribly, but came up again.

We received them in the good old style, and they crept nearer and nearer.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

At this time of thing went on through the day, without bringing us any nearer to shifting us.

After the last attack we lay down in our trenches, but before long we were told to abandon our positions. Nobody knew why, but we went without a murmur.

The enemy's cavalry, evidently understanding our action, came on again in force, but we had moved, and they were scattered and left.

Schools and Colleges.

Urban Military Academy
DAY AND BOARDING SCHOOL FOR YOUNG BOYS.
800 S. Alvarado St. Telephone 52647.
Commandant Maj. Ray D. Welch, U.S.V.

PARENTS AIM

to send your boy to the most beautifully equipped school on the Pacific Coast, where, under the guidance of cultured men and women and in an environment the very atmosphere of which breathes refinement, your son will not only be trained mentally and physically, but will be taught to become a courteous gentleman and fitted to grace any position, no matter how exalted, that the future may hold in store for him.

Teachers, like other skilled artisans, require good material to turn out good work. We do not profess to manufacture brains—that is a prerogative of the Almighty alone—but we do claim to be unequalled in the ability to draw out and develop the qualities with which Nature has endowed your son.

"Judicemur Agenda" (judge us by what we do) is our motto, and how well we have lived up to it is evidenced by the following (entirely unsolicited) letter which voices the sentiments of many of our patrons:

Urban Military Academy,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Gentlemen:

In entering my son David in your summer school I wish to take this opportunity to compliment you upon the splendid progress he has made in his studies and general training.

David has absorbed more knowledge during his six months at Urban as a day scholar than during two years in the Venice and one year in the Los Angeles public schools. His studies have become a pleasure to him and his interest in the school is most intense. Mrs. Howse joins me in wishing Urban every success. We shall never fail to recommend the school to our friends. Most sincerely yours,

PAUL D. HOWSE.

It is the duty of every parent who can afford such a school and who has a "worth-while boy" to visit the

Urban Military Academy
and judge for himself before placing that boy elsewhere.

Big Fall Opening Sept. 8th
ENROLL THIS WEEK.

327 W. EIGHTH AT HILL ST.

Opposite Hamburger's.
P2106, Main 3236
5700 Students
Last Year.

Ask for Year-book and Rates.

OLIVET SCHOOL FOR GIRLS
Boarding and Day Pupils. High School, Grammar and Primary Grades. Also Music Department. Beautiful grounds. Tennis court, shower bath, etc. Fall Term opens Sept. 1. 441 W. 32nd St. Phone 22857.

YMCA
SCHOOLS FOR MEN AND BOYS in trade, commercial, technical and professional. Personal instruction. No crowded classes. Manual training, athletic, swimming, etc. are available. The Y.M.C.A. motto: "To help you help yourself."

College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (Merger Pacific and Los Angeles Colleges), 321 S. Hill St. 429 students in past year. 8 buildings, 18 stories, equalling hotel accommodations, 42 professors. Year opens Sept. 1. Last class for 3-year course. Write NOW for catalog.

YALE SCHOOL
800-808 NORTH UNION AVE., Los Angeles, Calif. Boarding and Day School for Young Men and Boys. Grammar and High School. Girls' Department. Opened 1897. Located in Southern California. Emphasis Home Life. Paying special attention to the boy moral, spiritual and physical development. Manual training and athletic instructor. Business branches taught. Manual Training. Illustrated Catalogue. Phone 2424.

BELMONT SCHOOL FOR BOYS
21 miles south of San Francisco. Prepare for College. General and elective courses. Address Secretary, Dept. A, call W. T. REID, Belmont, Calif.

Castilleja School for Girls
Accredited to Colleges East and West. Grammar and Primary Departments. Illustrative catalog. Principal, Mrs. L. Lockey, A. B., Palo Alto, Calif.

Miss Harker's School For Girls
Accredited to Colleges. Grammar and Primary and Secondary. Opened 1897. Address Miss H. Harker, Palo Alto, Calif.

MISS ALLEN'S SCHOOL FOR NERVOUS AND BACKWARD CHILDREN, 18th year. Most approved methods. For particulars address Miss H. MAUD ALLEN, 7214. Telephone 72147. Rev. Robert R. Gordon, A. M. Head Master.

HOLLMAN Business College Specialists in Quickshorthand and Commercial Business. 2017 S. Figueroa. 54252. Broadway 2286.

URBAN MILITARY ACADEMY
Day and Boarding School for Young Boys.
800 ALVARADO STREET
Phone 52647
Fall Term Sept. 15th.

Southwestern University LAW SCHOOL (Day and Night)
School of Commercial Accounts and Finance.
Send for Catalog. Union Oil Bldg. Phone A5052.

Harvard School, Military!
Western Ave. and 16th St. Boarding and Day School. Located in the heart of the city. Training shop. Detailed U. S. Army officer. Men teachers. Fall session opened June 1914. Write for Illustrative Catalogue.

St. Matthews School EPISCOPAL
Fifteen miles south of San Francisco—dry atmosphere—out-of-door life. Accredited to East and West. Established 1886. Boys take in all subjects. Girls—mathematics, English, French, Latin, etc. All taught together. Positions positively guaranteed. Rev. W. A. Bassett, Rector.

Burlingame California

California Military Academy
Boarding and day. For boys from 10 to 18 years. All grades, from all year. Fine equipment, modern training shop, foreign languages in primary and grammar grades if desired. 1932 Lovelace Ave. University car. Phone 23472. N. William Brick, M. A. Principal.

Mount Tamalpais Military Academy
San Rafael, California.

Fully accredited to University. Infantry, Cavalry, Mounted Artillery, Engineers, Air Service, Swimming, etc. Detailed U. S. Army officer. Men teachers. Fall session opened June 1914. Write for Illustrative Catalogue.

War næster—address Arthur

Schools and Colleges.

Girls' Collegiate School
(Casa de Rosas)

Adams and Hoover Streets (University Car Line).

"An ideal school could ideal surroundings."

Twenty-third year. Tuition $150.00 per month.

Residence and day pupils.

SUB-FRESHMAN YEAR—(Eighth Grade.)

FOUR YEARS OF ACADEMIC OR HIGH SCHOOL WORK.

Accredited at leading Colleges and Universities.

POST GRADUATE YEAR—two courses.

College Freshman, preparing for Sophomore year in College, or Elective courses in Advanced Work.

Departments of Music—Miss Widenham, piano; Miss Winston, voice.

(Standardized methods entitle student to college credits.)

Department of Art—Miss Horlock, Drawing, Painting, Arts and Crafts.

—Gymnasium, Dancing, Athletics, Games, Swimming, Riding, etc.

Miss Cadwell and Miss Helm.

Domestic Science (Cooking, Sewing, Millinery)—Mrs. A. McDonald.

Expression—with special attention to intelligent reading—Miss Marion Helm.

COURSE IN BUSINESS METHODS—INTRODUCED THIS YEAR.

Book-keeping, Stenography, Typewriting, Business Law, Banking Methods.

Leading to advanced course in Secretarial work.

ALICE K. PARSONS, B. A., JEANNE W. DENNEN, PRINCIPALS.

Office hours 10 to 4 o'clock. Special appointments by telephone.

Telephones: Home 24256—Sunset, West 717.

BUSH CONSERVATORY
FORMERLY BUSH TEMPLE CONSERVATORY

KENNETH H. BRADLEY, Pres. and Director H. CLARK ST. & CHICAGO AVE., CHICAGO

A Faculty of Over 50 Teachers of National Reputation including:

Miss Julie Rive-King Guy Newell Mckee

Edna A. Newell Woodard Guy Newell Mckee

Grace Stott Potter Guy Newell Mckee

Edward Drury Guy Newell Mckee

Mabel St. John Guy Newell Mckee

The Leading School of

OPERA ACTING EXPRESSION MUSIC LANGUAGES

The following is a list of the Leading Teachers of the Bush Conservatory:

Charles W. Clark, Pres. and Instructor in Paris and David Baxter, Vice Pres. General Manager.

The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School

having a special room for the study of Music. The Department of Public Schools is a special feature. The Bush Conservatory is the only Music School</div

BRITISH BOATS ARE BATTERED.

Warships Show Many Signs of Heligoland Battle.

Many German Wounded in English Hospitals.

Light Cruiser Fearless Took a Prominent Part.

[BY ATLANTIC CANAL AND A.R.] LONDON, Aug. 23, 9 p.m.—British cruisers and destroyers, some of them showing signs of the battle in which they were engaged off Heligoland, have arrived at Harwich, Chatham and Sheerness. They had British and German wounded aboard. The Germans were picked up at sea after their ships went to the bottom. A number of men died before the ships reached port and were buried at sea; others died on the way to the hospital and their bodies were taken to the naval mortuary.

Most of the wounded are suffering from head injuries caused by shell fire, but others had arms and legs shattered. White-clad bearers carried most of the wounded on stretchers to the hospital, but some of them were accommodated on yachts which had been left for Red Cross service. One man, unable to get into a damaged vessel, but from shore, could be seen that some of them had shell holes. One destroyer had no less than fourteen such holes, which had been plugged with cloth.

The British Light Cruiser Fearless, a prominent unit in the battle, approached within ten miles of the German coast and drew out of the range of the German cruisers, which attempted to surround her. At one point the Fearless was engaged, single-handed, around four of them. One had come within 2000 yards when she was struck and burst into flames.

After her had found the range, the German marksmanship was good. The Fearless' gunners were shot down and hit nine times.

Afterwards the Fearless stood to the disengaged German, although herself was in great danger of being sunk.

The arrival of the other British cruisers speedily decided the engagement.

The British casualties so far reported are one killed and two wounded.

The crews of the destroyers which have arrived here, say that of the eleven British men, seven were killed and three were sunk in the engagement off Heligoland. Toward the end of the battle some English pinaces engaged the German ships to the city, however, and after the engagement was over, were strength in the water way followed by the German squadron, had to retreat to a hasty retreat, leaving the men to their fate.

The naval engagement between the British and German ships off Heligoland lasted about eight hours, during which the fighting was sharp and terrible. The British were shot away and turned back to the city, however, and after the engagement was over, were strength in the water way followed by the German squadron, had to retreat to a hasty retreat, leaving the men to their fate.

British sailors who fought in the British and German ships off Heligoland were sunk in the engagement.

Twenty-five heavily-armed men are reported to have passed through El Centro this afternoon, traveling in the direction of Mexicali. The stores in Calexico and El Centro have sold nearly every saddle, besides arms and ammunition, presumably to revolutionists.

Twenty-five heavily-armed men are reported to have passed through El Centro this afternoon, traveling in the direction of Mexicali. The stores in Calexico and El Centro have sold nearly every saddle, besides arms and ammunition, presumably to revolutionists.

It is rumored that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

W. K. Bowker, local manager of the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company, which amount he has received no notification of any such act and that his men go and come without molestation by the Federal soldiers and that his company has not been accused of backing the revolutionary movement nor has it been threatened by the Mexican authorities.

Gov. Anaya is recruiting men rapidly and goes about his business with the confidence characteristic of a man who has experience and knows what he is doing.

SCHOOL BONDS FOUND FAULTY.

BUYERS REFUSE TO ACCEPT SECURITIES BECAUSE OF LEGALITIES.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

SAN GABRIEL. Aug. 29.—The Board of Education received a severe joist when it became known today through Secretary Cuevas that Staats & Co., of Los Angeles, had refused to take the $5000 school bonds recently voted by the city for the erection of mutual school buildings and other school improvements.

The bonds were voted several months ago and contracts for the work were tentatively awarded, one of the buildings to be completed in forty-five days, the other in forty-five days. The bonds had been sold to the Los Angeles firm at a premium of $225, and work was to have been begun as soon as the cash was paid in.

Secretary Cuevas had been notified that an opinion was given by the bond house to the firm of O'Malley, Stevens & Milligan, saying that the proceedings authorizing the bond issue were faulty, and acting on this intelligence Staats & Co. refused to take the bonds.

The board followed the instructions sent out from the County Superintendent's office, and it is said that County Attorney Hill has on file with the Supervisors a letter saying that the opinion was wrong.

At the matter now stands it will be necessary to call another election and readvertise, which will cause a delay of several months in the erection of the buildings.

TO CULTIVATE LAND FOR VETERANS.

RESPONSES. Aug. 28.—Comments at this place.

HOME.—An inquiry for garden products never already under the house, except potato.

to add for their fifty acres of the home's land, and five more.

A later-bearing variety just at this time in the one place in all the

the Kaiser's cruisers and his engagement of Friday.

Cities and Towns South of Tehachapi's Top—Los Angeles County News

Pasadena.

SLUDGE WATER HAS MICROBES.

Chemist Finds Bugs by the Millions.

Electric Franchise Being Prepared.

Youths Captured Near Oceanside.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Aug. 26.—Beast seventeen separate fires have started in Oak Wyndham in two days, search for which was maintained night and day. Today, the cause of the numerous blazes was explained when a woodrat was seen scurrying across the ground with a match held in his mouth. The mystery of the cause of bedding which suddenly burst into flames and fires in the trees was solved. The woodrat ran into a pile of debris and shortly afterwards the pile burst into flames.

John H. Cain, formerly musician in Twelfth New York Infantry (Spanish-American War), native of New York, admitted from San Bernardino, Cal., in 1898, died August 28, aged 73.

Charles H. Anderson, formerly of Co. K, Twenty-fifth Infantry, a native of New York, admitted from Long Beach, Cal., in 1914, died August 25, aged 80.

William Sampson, formerly of Co. K, First United States Cavalry, a native of New York, admitted from San Bernardino, Cal., in 1891, died August 25, aged 80.

Robert J. Martin, formerly of Co. I, Thirty-first Iowa Infantry, a native of Pennsylvania, admitted from Colton, Cal., in 1914, died August 25, aged 73.

Ladies' model-fitting patterns cut to individual measurement, perfection absolute. Rosenblatt, 302 Laughlin Bldg.—[Advertisement.]

United States, the governor declares, where one crop after another may be produced throughout the year.

ESTIMATING EXPENSES.

Col. H. H. Markham, local manager for this branch, was a visitor at the home for two conferences with officers with reference to estimates for needs of the next fiscal year, which will place before the board of managers of the Methodist Home for aged Volunteer Soldiers, of which the colonel is a member—at its next quarterly meeting, to take place soon at Dayton, O.

MALARIAL FEVER.

Postmaster Will Smith, who was taken to the hospital suffering from what he believed was some remnant of malarial fever, acquired during work on the Panama Canal, is almost ready to return to his office. Maj. Hayden, chief surgeon, states that every symptom of the fever has departed for good.

RECENT DEATHS.

John C. Whitcomb, formerly first lieutenant Co. I, Forty-first Ohio Infantry, a native of Canada and admitted from Los Angeles in 1898, died August 28, aged 73.

John H. Cain, formerly musician in Twelfth New York Infantry (Spanish-American War), native of New York, admitted from San Bernardino, Cal., in 1898, died August 28, aged 73.

Charles H. Anderson, formerly of Co. K, Twenty-fifth Infantry, a native of New York, admitted from Long Beach, Cal., in 1914, died August 25, aged 80.

William Sampson, formerly of Co. K, First United States Cavalry, a native of New York, admitted from San Bernardino, Cal., in 1891, died August 25, aged 80.

Robert J. Martin, formerly of Co. I, Thirty-first Iowa Infantry, a native of Pennsylvania, admitted from Colton, Cal., in 1914, died August 25, aged 73.

Ladies' model-fitting patterns cut to individual measurement, perfection absolute. Rosenblatt, 302 Laughlin Bldg.—[Advertisement.]

Taut.

Nearer Clash at Mexicali.

Critical Situation About to Come to a Head.

ARMED MEN GATHER PROBABLY TO SECURE FRANCHISE.

ATTORNEY HARRIS IS PREPARING TO RESIST ATTACK—REPORTED SEIZURE NOT CONFIRMED.

BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALEXICO, Aug. 29.—The situation at Mexicali is once more becoming extremely critical on account of the threatened force under Gov. Anaya, which is growing larger each day, and it seems but a matter of hours before hostilities are begun. A large number of armed men are camped on the banks of New River at Calexico and the town is full of strange men, both Mexican and American, who are suspected of being here for no other purpose than to take part in the revolutionary movement against Mexicali.

Twenty-five heavily-armed men are reported to have passed through El Centro this afternoon, traveling in the direction of Mexicali. The stores in Calexico and El Centro have sold nearly every saddle, besides arms and ammunition, presumably to revolutionists.

It is rumored that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $60,000 acres of some of the finest land in the valley of the Colorado River.

It is reported that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company has been accused of backing the rebellion and Col. Cantu, in command of the Federal garrison at Mexicali, is alleged to have confiscated property on the Mexican side, which amounts to over $

EVERY LITTLE ADDED TO W MAN WITH MANY WHO TRIED TO HIDE IS NOW IN SA

WILL ADD LUSTER TO WOMANHOOD OF STATE.

Rich, Stunning Young Matron of Chicago and Her Mother, an Irish-American Leader, Who Has Brilliantly Multiplied Her Millions, Will Reside Here, Drawn by Business Interests.

THE recent marriage in Chicago of, want the cheap satisfaction of telling you that I won't shake hands with you?" Mrs. Frances Springer to Edwin Keith, who has large business interests in this city and in Southern California, will bring to Los Angeles one of the richest and most stunning young matrons in America, Mrs. Warren Springer, mother of the bride, will also make her residence here, and will be an important acquisition, as her beauty and her achievements as a scholar and financier have made her an international figure, known around the world.

Conspicuously successful as a social leader during the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago, where she held sway as the girl bride of the millionaire business man, Warren Springer, she was identified with the prominent women's clubs. She organized and for years was regent of the Daughters of the Revolution, and established a record of distinction between herself and a descendant of a patriot or the wife of a patriot.

One day a young girl student of a night medical school went to Mrs. Springer, stating she had been dismissed, was too poor and her mother had no influence to restrain her. Mrs. Springer became personally responsible to the president for the girl's good behavior by enrolling as a student for the fall term. Fascinated by medicine, Mrs. Springer took the full course and graduated with honors, and for years devoted her services to the poor of Chicago for love of her profession. Two years ago Mr. Springer died suddenly and the widow immediately assumed the conduct of his large business affairs. Her brilliant financiering has multiplied the millions Mr. Springer left.

IN IRELAND.

At a great congress of the women of the world held in London, Mrs. Springer was the representative of the Irish-Americans and was also commissioned by the Gaelic League to make important investigations and developments throughout Ireland. The Irish regarded her coming as a little less than a national calamity, for men knew they would hate this prying American woman, this Marguerite Warren Springer, who they imagined was a spinner, who sat on girdle and bared her legs to the tip of her tongue. So they dubbed her "The Yank" and awaited her with fear and dislike.

They were too loyal to the American leaders to protest, but the discontent grew until it openly manifested to leave the country when "The Yank" arrived. Even the courage of brave-hearted Margaret O'Reilly failed. But one day as she sat disconsolate in the headquarters of the Gaelic League, the most beautiful woman she had ever seen, entered and inquired, "As she handed her card:

"Have you any mail for me?"

The brilliant young editor cried exultantly:

Marguerite Warren Springer, who may have been born a "Yank" but you are Irish! Oh, thank God you are Irish!"

The news spread through the length and breadth of Ireland and men and women who were prepared to honor her as the daughter of a great nation and for what her mother's clan had done for their oppressed country, worshipped her for her intrinsic worth, the brilliance of her mind and her great heart, that throbbed in sympathy with their problems and national woes.

When she rode through the cities, towns and villages, men unbuttoned the horses and drew her carriage. Everywhere she received ovations and songs and poems innumerable were written in her honor. They all were very anxious for her safety.

She was a speaker for the first time in that in her ancestors. PERPETUATES THE CELTIC.

Mrs. Springer is a widow by the law of America, for she has been independent in supporting the ancient Celtic language. Next to the Greek, it is the oldest language in the world. At her own expense she had the type brought to America by Mr. Rawley of Knoblock, Ireland, and under the direction of Professor O'Farrell, he set up the Lord's Prayer in Irish.

Many in America saw for the first time this prayer in their own tongue. Mrs. Springer's liberal patronage made it possible to revive the old Irish language in the schools and universities. A few years ago she imported singers for a musical festival who gave compositions so old that the names of the composers are forgotten.

Mrs. Springer is a speaker of extraordinary charm and power and one of the most popular speakers at the meeting of foreigners. When she arrived at the hall she found a turbulent crowd of sinewy, somber-faced aliens, who had taken the oath of American citizenship because they could no longer endure the oppression of their own land, where a great tragedy had just been enacted. They had received the news that thousands of their countrymen had been slaughtered and were eager to have the bloody dead avenged.

MR. BLANK.

The men were in the most insatiable and domineering mood and fiercely protested against the cruel despotism. They made passionate pleas for freedom, freedom of thought, action and speech. Freedom was the trumpet call and at the word they all responded. Before long meeting began the chairman introduced many of the leaders to Mrs. Springer. Among them was a man of gigantic stature, black haired, black faced, with eyes that blazed like fire.

"Mrs. Springer, this is Mr. Blank, a plain citizen in plain clothes, but one of the most independent thinkers in this country," said the chairman.

Mrs. Springer stretched out her hand to the speaker and said cordially that is one of her chiefest charms, and her clear, vibrant voice rang out above the clamor of the excited men.

"I am happy to meet you, Mr. Blank," she said, "for I have often heard of you!"

"And I have heard of you" with a bitter, insulting emphasis on the pronoun. Thrusting his fist into his pocket, he eyed her defiantly. "And the more I hear of you the more I despise you." You can't imagine what a classless, I belong to the masses! You eat white bread and honey; I am glad to get a crust! You are a lady of leisure and I set type for a living! But Mrs. Warren Springer, I

Happy Acquisition.

WILL ADD LUSTER TO WOMANHOOD OF STATE.

Rich, Stunning Young Matron of Chicago and Her Mother, an Irish-American Leader, Who Has Brilliantly Multiplied Her Millions, Will Reside Here, Drawn by Business Interests.

THE recent marriage in Chicago of, want the cheap satisfaction of telling you that I won't shake hands with you?" Mrs. Frances Springer to Edwin Keith, who has large business interests in this city and in Southern California, will bring to Los Angeles one of the richest and most stunning young matrons in America, Mrs. Warren Springer, mother of the bride, will also make her residence here, and will be an important acquisition, as her beauty and her achievements as a scholar and financier have made her an international figure, known around the world.

Conspicuously successful as a social leader during the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago, where she held sway as the girl bride of the millionaire business man, Warren Springer, she was identified with the prominent women's clubs. She organized and for years was regent of the Daughters of the Revolution, and established a record of distinction between herself and a descendant of a patriot or the wife of a patriot.

One day a young girl student of a night medical school went to Mrs. Springer, stating she had been dismissed, was too poor and her mother had no influence to restrain her. Mrs. Springer became personally responsible to the president for the girl's good behavior by enrolling as a student for the fall term. Fascinated by medicine, Mrs. Springer took the full course and graduated with honors, and for years devoted her services to the poor of Chicago for love of her profession. Two years ago Mr. Springer died suddenly and the widow immediately assumed the conduct of his large business affairs. Her brilliant financiering has multiplied the millions Mr. Springer left.

IN IRELAND.

At a great congress of the women of the world held in London, Mrs. Springer was the representative of the Irish-Americans and was also commissioned by the Gaelic League to make important investigations and developments throughout Ireland. The Irish regarded her coming as a little less than a national calamity, for men knew they would hate this prying American woman, this Marguerite Warren Springer, who they imagined was a spinner, who sat on girdle and bared her legs to the tip of her tongue. So they dubbed her "The Yank" and awaited her with fear and dislike.

They were too loyal to the American leaders to protest, but the discontent grew until it openly manifested to leave the country when "The Yank" arrived. Even the courage of brave-hearted Margaret O'Reilly failed. But one day as she sat disconsolate in the headquarters of the Gaelic League, the most beautiful woman she had ever seen, entered and inquired, "As she handed her card:

"Have you any mail for me?"

The brilliant young editor cried exultantly:

Marguerite Warren Springer, who may have been born a "Yank" but you are Irish! Oh, thank God you are Irish!"

The news spread through the length and breadth of Ireland and men and women who were prepared to honor her as the daughter of a great nation and for what her mother's clan had done for their oppressed country, worshipped her for her intrinsic worth, the brilliance of her mind and her great heart, that throbbed in sympathy with their problems and national woes.

When she rode through the cities, towns and villages, men unbuttoned the horses and drew her carriage. Everywhere she received ovations and songs and poems innumerable were written in her honor. They all were very anxious for her safety.

She was a speaker for the first time in that in her ancestors. PERPETUATES THE CELTIC.

Mrs. Springer is a widow by the law of America, for she has been independent in supporting the ancient Celtic language. Next to the Greek, it is the oldest language in the world. At her own expense she had the type brought to America by Mr. Rawley of Knoblock, Ireland, and under the direction of Professor O'Farrell, he set up the Lord's Prayer in Irish.

Many in America saw for the first time this prayer in their own tongue. Mrs. Springer's liberal patronage made it possible to revive the old Irish language in the schools and universities. A few years ago she imported singers for a musical festival who gave compositions so old that the names of the composers are forgotten.

Mrs. Springer is a speaker of extraordinary charm and power and one of the most popular speakers at the meeting of foreigners. When she arrived at the hall she found a turbulent crowd of sinewy, somber-faced aliens, who had taken the oath of American citizenship because they could no longer endure the oppression of their own land, where a great tragedy had just been enacted. They had received the news that thousands of their countrymen had been slaughtered and were eager to have the bloody dead avenged.

MR. BLANK.

The men were in the most insatiable and domineering mood and fiercely protested against the cruel despotism. They made passionate pleas for freedom, freedom of thought, action and speech. Freedom was the trumpet call and at the word they all responded. Before long meeting began the chairman introduced many of the leaders to Mrs. Springer. Among them was a man of gigantic stature, black haired, black faced, with eyes that blazed like fire.

"Mrs. Springer, this is Mr. Blank, a plain citizen in plain clothes, but one of the most independent thinkers in this country," said the chairman.

Mrs. Springer stretched out her hand to the speaker and said cordially that is one of her chiefest charms, and her clear, vibrant voice rang out above the clamor of the excited men.

"I am happy to meet you, Mr. Blank," she said, "for I have often heard of you!"

"And I have heard of you" with a bitter, insulting emphasis on the pronoun. Thrusting his fist into his pocket, he eyed her defiantly. "And the more I hear of you the more I despise you." You can't imagine what a classless, I belong to the masses! You eat white bread and honey; I am glad to get a crust! You are a lady of leisure and I set type for a living! But Mrs. Warren Springer, I succeeded to the title. Writing from Berriedge Farm, the Earl said:

To Honor Dead Earl.

(Continued from First Page.)

"My father, the late Earl, was, as you well know, in business in Aberdeen for about thirty years before succeeding to the title, as a chartered accountant, manager of the Bank of Scotland, and other posts. I was born there in September, 1857, and, therefore, at the age of 57 years old, educated at the 'Gymnasium,' Aberdeen, and Loretto School, near Edinburgh, also at Aberdeen University. I came to Canada in 1875 and entered the service of the Bank of Montreal, remaining with them until 1880. I then farmed in Ontario until 1884, when I sold out and came to North Dakota and bought the larger part of my present farm. It now contains 3000 acres, of which 1500 acres are under cultivation, the rest being

WORKS ALL WAYS.

Now, take it the other way:

If a "Progressive" wins his own party endorsement and loses the endorsement of another party, which

he sought but did not receive,

then the law holds that if a candidate loses in one he does not lose in

all, except in the event that he happened to be beaten for his own party

nomination; in which case, he becomes discredited.

In other words the theory of the utterly absurd law is that if a candidate of one party attempts to steal

the nomination of another, which

he sought but did not receive,

then the law holds that if a candidate loses in one he does not lose in

all, except in the event that he happened to be beaten for his own party

nomination; in which case, he becomes discredited.

In other words the theory of the

utterly absurd law is that if a candidate of one party attempts to steal

the nomination of another, which

he sought but did not receive,

then the law holds that if a candidate loses in one he does not lose in

all, except in the event that he happened to be beaten for his own party

nomination; in which case, he becomes discredited.

Now, take it the other way:

If a "Progressive" wins his own

party endorsement and loses the

endorsement of another party, which

he sought but did not receive,

then the law holds that if a candidate loses in one he does not lose in

all, except in the event that he happened to be beaten for his own party

nomination; in which case, he becomes discredited.

Now, take it the other way:

If a "Progressive" wins his own

party endorsement and loses the

endorsement of another party, which

he sought but did not receive,

then the law holds that if a candidate loses in one he does not lose in

all, except in the event that he happened to be beaten for his own party

nomination; in which case, he becomes discredited.

Now, take it the other way:

If a "Progressive" wins his own

party endorsement and loses the

endorsement of another party, which

he sought but did not receive,

then the law holds that if a candidate loses in one he does not lose in

all, except in the event that he happened to be beaten for his own party

nomination; in which case, he becomes discredited.

Now, take it the other way:

If a "Progressive" wins his own

party endorsement and loses the

endorsement of another party, which

he sought but did not receive,

then the law holds that if a candi-

BS AND SEEDS

HERE

and Winter display. The time

ERS

CYCLAMEN — For planting in shady positions and for a copious display of bloom, either for cut flowers or garden ornamentation, there is nothing to exceed cyclamen. It has over one thousand flowers in pink, rose, white to crimson with interesting shades of salmon, pink, cherry, red, blue, etc. Each box, No. 100, 50c.

d Varieties

time to plant them for Spring years of giant size with unique varieties pale lavender. Falls overlaid with brown.

— Pure white. Rimmed and the outer edges with sky blue.

Lilac. Falls deep blue.

Standards light blue. Falls recent introduction, and a vast a few days in season. Regulars $1.00 per dozen.

package is synonymous with it please you beyond measure.

A

WICKING

a, equal in

Flowers

soft wavy pure white ice, salmon,

October for price 25c.

H'S

ES, CAL.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Four new fire companies will go into service tomorrow evening. The Fire Commission yesterday approved the plans of the chief for the new service, and his appointment of twelve drenmen and eight lieutenants.

More than 4000 parcels of land in Exposition Park assessment No. 3 district are delinquent and will be advertised for sale Tuesday unless redeemed tomorrow.

President Johnson of the Municipal Charities Commission asks the City Council to appropriate $2000 for support of the United Charities work in September and reports that plans are progressing for the uniting of city and county charities.

The Fire Commission recommends that the Santa Fe depot and freight sheds properties be exempted from the fire district, so that the company may proceed with the erection of sheds necessary for handling the 1915 traffic.

At the City Hall.

CITY GETS MORE FIRE FIGHTERS.

FOUR NEW COMPANIES TO BEGIN SERVICE TOMORROW.

Thousands of Parcels of Land Under Exposition Park Assessment to Be Advertised for Delinquency. Branch Library Site Collections the Next to Be Made.

At 8 o'clock tomorrow evening four new fire companies will begin their service of protection in four widely-separated districts of the city. They will occupy firehouses recently completed. A fifth company will begin its service on October 1 at Western Avenue and Thirty-eighth place.

The new companies will be as follows:

Engine Company No. 32, located at No. 2330 West First street.

Engine Company No. 33, located at No. 244 West Florence Avenue.

Truck Company No. 3, located at No. 2475 West Washington street.

Truck Company No. 9, located at No. 1825 Cahuenga boulevard, Hollywood.

The Fire Commission gave its approval to this programme presented by Fire Chief Eley yesterday. It also approved the appointment of the mission yesterday, asking that it reccertified list of the Civil Service Commission of twelve drenmen and of eight lieutenants.

The men raised to the position of lieutenants are Otto R. Luedke, S. H. Calderwood, Oscar John, William A. Burns, William A. Moore, Guy R. McKeon, James A. Tamolo and Leonard Griffin.

The twelve drenmen appointed will be divided between the new houses in addition to experienced men. The apprentices are Henry Roche, W. J. and Floyd M. Aslin, W. McClellan, F. J. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

The commission at yesterday's session took steps to hasten the start of construction on the firehouse to be erected at Wilmingon.

Save Fifty Cents Each.

Property owners in the third Exposition Park assessment district who have allowed their properties to become delinquent for non-payment of taxes are given an opportunity to save 50 cents each on the costs. More than 4000 parcels of land will be advertised for sale for these delinquent assessments on Tuesday. If the properties are not sold tomorrow the advertising fees will be saved. They will amount to 50 cents for each parcel. A penalty of 5 per cent. of the assessment has been attached to all delinquent lands. These properties will be advertised for ten days and immediately thereafter the sale will begin. The advertising fees will be carried on from day to day until the lists are cleared.

The next large assessment collection that will be undertaken by the City Utilities Committee will be the Exposition Park assessment district, which will be started in about two weeks, and will be carried on simultaneously with the sale of delinquent parcels in the Exposition Park assessment district. The collection will be made in room 4 of the City Hall.

Will Unite Charities.

Dr. Milbank Johnson, president of the Municipal Charities Commission, filed a request to the City Council yesterday that an appropriation of $2000 be made to assist in the support of the United Charities Fund Committee. This is in line with the policy of the city's assisting in this support until such time as the Board of Supervisors can take over the work and raise the money necessary by general taxation, thus equally distributing the burden.

In his communication to the Council Dr. Johnson says: "The master of consolidating the county and city charities is progressing favorably and many of the details have already been worked out satisfactorily."

May Exempt Santa Fe.

A representative of the Santa Fe Railroad was before the Fire Commission yesterday, asking that it recommend that the tract of land on which the Santa Fe station and its freight sheds are located be exempted from the fire limits.

This is desired so that the company may proceed with the erection of sheds necessary to accommodate the present traffic of 1915 and future extensions to its freight sheds 65000 feet in dimensions, but which could not conform to the present fire regulations, because no brick division walls can be placed in the structure without seriously inconveniencing the fire department for its efforts.

After long discussion it was decided that the exemption desired should be recommended to the City Council, with the understanding that the company shall erect a ten-foot fire wall at the fireproof entrance to the freight sheds and construct the building on plans approved by the Fire Chief.

In Re Universal Transfers.

The Public Utilities Committee of the City Council has recommended to the petition of the Joseph Ball Company that the city interest itself financially in the construction of a suspended electric railway system will be officially tucked away in its little book this week. The Public Utilities Committee has recommended that the proposal he filed and this recommendation will go before the Council tomorrow.

The recommendation of the Social Services Committee of the City Council for consolidating the existing dual telephone systems of Los Angeles, and that in future the city contract with only one telephone company for service, has been sent by the Committee of Utilities Committee to the Public Utilities Commission for its consideration and report.

For Depot Connections.

The approval of the Board of Public Utilities Committee has been given to the notice of sale of an electric railway franchise on portions of Sixth street and Central avenue, to provide for street railway connections for the Santa Fe Depot at the foot of Fifth street.

The committee recommends that the bids for this franchise be opened on September 14.

The committee finds itself divided on the subject of allowing the Pacific Electric Railway to abandon a franchise for a line on a portion of Vermont avenue lying south of Hollywood boulevard, and running into Santa Monica boulevard at or about Melrose Junction. It recommends that this line be again referred to the Public Utilities Committee for consideration. Members of the Council believe that the yellow car service adjacent should be improved before the red line is allowed to abandon its service on this line, and there has been filed a motion against the abandonment of the service.

About the Municipal Center.

The fire loss for the past week is estimated by Fire Chief Eley to be $17,000. There were forty-four alarms of which twenty were false, and in sixteen cases there was no loss. There were six grass fires.

The Fire Commission yesterday produced him in court," Judge recommended that fire hydrants be placed on Grand avenue between Jefferson street and Santa Barbara avenue, before the paving of Grand avenue is undertaken. The paving has been provided for and will soon be started.

The Fire Commission decided yesterday to at once advertise for bids on furnishing the department two motor-driven tractors.

Residents of Laguna Precinct No. 2 sent to the Fire Commission yesterday a check for $25 in appreciation of the fire department's work on August 26 at a fire at No. 4205 Stephen's avenue, across the city limits.

The money was placed in the firemen's pension fund. The donors did not wish to be named, but the fire department is grateful for its efforts.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

The commission at yesterday's session took steps to hasten the start of construction on the firehouse to be erected at Wilmingon. Taft informed Attorney Wright yesterday.

"She has gone away with the boy, but I don't know where she is," declared Leonard Mintner, the husband.

"If the woman and the boy are not produced, there may be complications," the court suggested to Attorney Edmonds, who represents the Mintners and is opposing the endowment of the Elliotts to get the custody of the boy.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to meet that contingency. This step is to be taken in the event of a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mintner, who have a son, F. T. Smith, 10, and W. McClellan, 7, K. Kirchner, R. W. Castro, J. E. Long, M. Scarabogio, A. S. Watson and Alon C. Williams.

"I think it would be wise," commented Mr. Edmonds, who, anticipating the next step of the Elliotts, prepared to Judge Craig is the best friend he has in the world. And the court is quite sure that there is no error in the proceedings, so far.

LEPT SOME OUT.

IRRIGATIONISTS LOSE POINT.

Because not all the original directors were made parties to the suit, W. F. Farwell, H. A. Gilman, J. E. P. Tengen and J. A. Johnson, organizers of the Chuckwalla and Palm Valley Irrigation Association, came to court yesterday when Judge Hewitt sustained the demurrer of the four defendants.

Nearly 400 residents of the Palm Verde and Chuckwalla valleys are involved in the litigation which really concerns the irrigation of those regions. The suit brings in the dimensions of L. V. Chapman, original secretary-treasurer of the association, by the first board of directors, and his resignation at a meeting of the association at large.

When dimensions arose among the original directors, Mr. Chapman was dismissed. H. L. Gilman was appointed secretary-treasurer. Then Mr. Chapman's friends held a mass meeting of the association's members and elected him secretary and treasurer by the first voluntary association. The new association demanded that the money in the treasury, about $1500, be turned over to them, together with the books and property of the association.

The old directors refused to comply with this demand, and the suit against four of the original directors was brought.

COURT PARAGRAPH.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

HELD FOR FORGERY. Although his wife telegraphed that she was now safe, the man who was held in custody is allowed to have a trial if the authorities would release him. J. R. Wilson was arraigned before Justice Young yesterday and committed to the County Jail under $2500 bail. Wilson was brought here from Balmorhea, where he had been held to produce dealers, in which he was engaged in this city. His preliminary examination was set for Friday.

SPECIALLY COFFIN. The will of Oscar Lopez, filed yesterday for probate, was written on a small sheet of paper, particular stress being laid upon the character of the casket in which he desired his body buried. The estate is set at $10,000, to be divided among his wife and children. Mr. Lopez provided a railroad casket, just inside and outside. The box is six inches wide and a fourth inches thick, and contains a casket lined with velvet and named "Oscar Lopez" after the deceased, his wife, and his son.

RACON WILL FILED. Louis E. Racon, who died at Long Beach July 10, leaving an estate of $11,000, bequeathed $1000 to the Christian Church of New Haven, Conn., of which his brother and sisters are members. The bequests were made in his will, which was filed a year ago. The church has been in existence for a number of years and has increased in lands, buildings, and uncultivated lands. The bequests have been made in anticipation of the new will.

INCORPORATIONS. L. A. Auton, Auto Works, incorporates Thomas H. Mitchell, John Stintin and C. O. Sauer, capital stock $10,000; the National Auto Parts Company, incorporators C. Fred Marlow, Ed R. Mair, F. Colletta, James J. Jeffries and W. L. Wilson, capital stock $100,000, subscribed $80; Universal Body and Fender Company, incorporators F. P. Green, F. H. Little, W. Johnson, A. F. Le Gaya, L. P. Green and Cal F. Hunter, capital stock $100,000, subscribed $70; Photo-Play amusement Company, incorporators F. P. Bierbaum, H. A. Bierbaum and L. Green, capital stock $10,000, subscribed $900.

MYSTERIOUSNESS COSTS SOMETHING.

NINETY DAYS' LARGEST ITEM ON BOOKS OF MAN WITH MANY ALIASES.

If cost William H. Sparklin's time and money yesterday to be mysterious, he had three names, several occupations, a bundle of mysterious things, and always gave new names to a question.

As department manager in a New York store, Sparklin, alias Goldie, alias McCormick, had a salary of $1000 a month for a higher salary.

He became mysterious over about his salary and called his employer over to a question. His employer asked him the advisability of increasing his pay, and Sparklin agreed. Later he quit.

Yesterday he went into the department store where he had been employed and secured a bundle of mysterious things, it is alleged. Now he has a mystery of the bundle is an interesting name.

The mystery of the bundle was when he appeared under Mr. Sparklin's name as he was entering the street from the department store.

Children's clothing was a mystery to the man of all names. He didn't know who all was having no children in the world and being a man of mystery.

He called to a newsboy, according to the conviction of police, to give him the bundle and told him to go home to the store, and return with more pronounced articles, and secure cash for the newsboy thought he was nervous, as he flung his hand over his cap and informed him of his strange commerce. The police took the mystery of the bundle, and arrested the man.

He was arrested from the police station now going to the police station which was built a year ago at San Gabriel at the corner of Rose and Nina streets. The police said he was a man of mystery.

The police said he had been in the vicinity of Lamanda Park, and many confusing things had been said.

The judge sat back in his chair and yawned.

"This is no day for economy," said "ninety days' for you," the judge said that, and then he was out.

Mr. Sparklin agreed there was no camp closed.

into Truck Brings Back Some mountains the Last Group to copy the Summer Quarter.

The big auto truck that has

V.C.A. building every Saturday

the summer with a crew

Bernardino Mountains, camp

young women for the camp

Mines and Mining in the Great Southwest.

California.

BIG INTEREST IN GOLD MINES.

War Directs Attention to Yellow Metal.

Great Activity in Mother Lode Region.

English Still Investing in the Field.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

JACKSON (Cal.) Aug. 28.—Temporarily driven from the copper-mining districts by the demoralized market, capitalists are eagerly turning their attention to the gold mines of California. Numerous deals of marked importance have been transacted since the outbreak of the European war, and along the Mother Lode and adjacent districts the greatest activity of years is manifest.

Old mines are being reopened, prospects are receiving the consideration denied them for years, and everywhere throughout the great zone the search for gold proceeds with vigor intensified. English companies are taking over work, and the mainland financial world, and British people are keenly interested in some of the recent dredge-mining deals in the vicinity of Oroville, Marysville and Auburn.

Mother Lode property which is attracting much attention is held by the Keystone at Amador City. Late work on the 2800-foot, or bottom, level has developed a large deposit of excellent ore, which has been successfully demonstrated to tend upward to the 1400-foot level. The work has established an immense tonnage of fair-grade milling quartz in a new section of the mine, and the management is making considerable progress in maintaining a heavy output for an extended period. The mill is running steadily on good ore from the upper workings.

At the Plymouth Consolidated mine the English owners are concentrating their efforts on ore extraction, preferring to delay further developments until the war is over. A vast tonnage of excellent ore is blocked out in the lower levels and the management confidently expects to have a capacity of over $20,000 per month for more than two years from reserves actually blocked out. The first cleanup of the mill was made last week with satisfactory results. An unexpected development has caused a policy of rigid economy is pursued.

Fayette C. Lamb, C. E. Rives and other Los Angeles men have commenced extensive work at the Schindler property on Bear Mountain, near San Joaquin. A portable stamping mill and other equipment have been purchased, and the shaft will be sent deeper and extensive lateral developments inaugurated. Some good ore has been found near the surface and the outcrop is considered highly favorable for the making of a good producer.

GUGGENHEIM DEAL.

The Guggenheims have closed a deal for 300 acres of placer ground near Hammond, on the Yuba River, the consideration being $200,000. The initial investment of $100,000 has been paid. Prospecting on the land has been under way for several months and arrangements are being made for building a large dredger.

It is officially stated that Nascentia Mines of Canada is negotiating for 400 acres in the same field. The land lies between Marysville and Smartsville, partly along the Yuba and Bear Rivers.

Reports that the Tightner and other gold mines in the Allegheny-Forest district were closed, because of the financial depression are without foundation. Activities at all the leading gold mines are proceeding with full force, and operations at the Tightner are along more vigorous lines than heretofore.

It is officially stated the Tightner is producing $25,000 to $45,000 per month, of which an excellent proportion is from the new interior shaft. The mill is running at top capacity. Sinking the new interior shaft continues, and development of the promising Red Star ground is about to start, the long-circuited vein. The Tightner main vein having entered Bear Star property. Arrangements have been made for the immediate delivery of 60,000 feet of timber for underground operations.

J. R. Gardner and associates of Los Angeles are preparing to resume operations at their group of quartz claims along Kanaka Creek, near Allegheny. The holdings contain several promising veins, many of which have yielded rich ore, but developments have been restricted by narrow limits. It is now proposed to start vigorous work at several points, and a large force will soon be placed at work.

BONDED TO BRITISH.

The Arcadia gold-quartz mine, near Greenville, Plumas county, has been taken under bond by English capitalists for $60,000. It is understood the terms are most equitable, affording the bonders opportunities for extensive development before substantial cash payments are required.

The Arcadia, a well-known producer, has yielded rich ore in past years. It is estimated the veins worth $20,000 are available for immediate extraction. A shaft will be sunk on the vein and additional machinery provided. Work will be under the direction of August Gerber, a South African mining engineer.

It is stated on good authority that the North Star and Brunswick mines at Grass Valley will disburse their regular quarterly dividends in September. The North Star is yielding approximately $10,000 per month, and the Champion mine, in the same city district are commencing to turn profits into the North Star treasury.

Over 400 men are working in the various mines controlled by the Golden State Company, and about 120 stampers are operating in three mills. Developments along the $5000 level of the North Star mine continue satisfactory.

The Brunswick Consolidated is running its twenty-stamp mill steadily, and about 100 men are on the pay roll. In the vicinity of the 1250-foot level a splendid ore-body is being mined.

IN GRASS VALLEY.

Operations at the Golden Center mine, in the heart of the residence section of Grass Valley, continue active although recent developments have not been as pleasing as anticipated.

It is evident the shaft must be sent deeper to open the veins, and work along this line will soon be prosecuted aggressively. Good quartz continues to come from the upper levels, and the property is stated to be partly defraying operating expenses. The sum of $25,000 was recently set aside to finance further mine work and provide additional equipment.

The Balaklala mine has shipped shipments to the Mason Valley smelter, and mine developments have been good. The present output will be continued until demand for copper and silver shows a stronger tone. The Mammoth Copper Company is arranging to handle a large amount of custom gold-bearing ores, at several points in California. Nevada and Oregon are soon to start regular shipments to the Kennett plant.

The Metal Recovery Company of Los Angeles has completed its new 200-ton stamp mill at Dayton, Nev., for treatment of tailings from the old Comstock mills. An original process is employed for recovery of gold and silver from the tailings, and preliminary tests indicate that the plant will yield excellent profits. Andrew J. Trumbo is manager.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY.

INQUIRIES FROM AND ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

High-Grade Minerals.

WILLIAMS (Ariz.) Aug. 10.—Q: While prospecting in a southern part of State, near Oracle, I struck some ore of which I enclose sample. Would you please analyze sample and tell me if it is commercial value? H. L. A.

A: Glad to hear from you, and your personal message is appreciated. "Struck some ore" eh! The sample is rich in cerusite (lead carbonate) and Wulfite (lead molybdate) is in the sample. Vanadium present. Mimetite (ironomorphous with pyromorphite) present.

There will be no trouble in selling material represented by the sample, and at profitable prices. The only question is: how much of it have you for sale?

Lime Carbonate.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 18.—Q: Kindly advise me under the columns of Mineralogy what the rocks contain. These rocks are from the Coast Range of this country.

A: The sample is a mixture of calcite and lime, and partly in radiated forms. Trace of iron oxide in the samples, with aluminum silicate, and trace of phosphoric acid.

Pyrite.

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 18.—Q: Sample taken from a wide ledge east of Indio. Will you please analyze it for tungsten, and if not tungsten tell me what it consists of. F. E.

A: The sample is named at the sub-heading, and it is also known as graphic granite. It is a coarse-grained rock, and the mineral characters appearing throughout the mass, resembling certain hieroglyphics of the ancient Egyptians places the sample in the front ranks of typical pegmatite, as it were. Tungsten not present.

Tungsten.

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 18.—Q: Sample taken from a wide ledge east of Indio. Will you please analyze it for tungsten, and if not tungsten tell me what it consists of. F. E.

A: The sample is named at the sub-heading, and it is also known as graphic granite. It is a coarse-grained rock, and the mineral characters appearing throughout the mass, resembling certain hieroglyphics of the ancient Egyptians places the sample in the front ranks of typical pegmatite, as it were. Tungsten not present.

Uranium.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

SNOW CREEK (Cal.) Aug. 11.—Q: I am sending you under separate cover three samples of rock. All from near Snow Creek. Please classify, and if any are of commercial value.

A: No. 1, the white, is said to be borax mineral, though I think it probably contains some lime. No. 2, the white, is borate (siderite) but probably an impure lime.

Please answer an old subscriber, through the regular column. G. W. T.

C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

SNOW CREEK (Cal.) Aug. 11.—Q: I am sending you under separate cover three samples of rock. All from near Snow Creek. Please classify, and if any are of commercial value.

A: No. 1, the white, is said to be borax mineral, though I think it probably contains some lime. No. 2, the white, is borate (siderite) but probably an impure lime.

Please answer an old subscriber, through the regular column. G. W. T.

C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

Lime and Hornblende.

Q: Please test for uranium. Locality where obtained is about twenty-five miles from Daggett, Cal. J. H. F.

A: The sample is a variety of Chrysotile; epidote present with trace of C. (M.D.)

A: Glad to hear from you. The element Boron is not present in the sample.

FREE WORKERS' PAGE—Our Unceasing Fight for Industrial Liberty.

Built!
ns Sold!
ubled!

Legislative.
AUSTRALIA PLAN
ALARMS UNIONS.

Industrialists Are Opposed to Combines of Crafts.

Constitution of Wages Board Is Cause of Protest.

Committee of Organizations Takes Up Question.

GENERAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE]

SYDNEY (Australia) July 23.—New industrial unions of the State have been formed for the purpose of rejecting the proposal of the Sydney Labor Council for the constitution of new boards on purely craft lines. The council's action has created alarm among the large labor organizations.

A recent conference representative from organizations comprising approximately 80,000 unionists were present. Those present were: E. G. Tyrell (A.W.U.), 30,000 members; New South Wales; Claude Thompson, 12,000 members; E. Lawless and E. G. Tyrell (Australian Railway and Tramway Workers Association), 12,000 members; Tyrell and George Ashton (Municipal and Shire Employees), 7000; Mrs. R. Rawlin and J. Farrell (Gas Workers), 4000; and V. Maclean (Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Board Employees), 2000.

The conference was the outcome of a satisfactory result of a deputation which recently waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry (Mr. Thompson) in reference to the proposal to the Industrial Arbitration Act to be introduced into Parliament.

Delegates were unanimous in deciding that if the proposal of the Industrial Arbitration Act was carried, it would result in the dismantlement of all unions organized on industrial lines and result in stagnation. "The unions would have to fight," declared Claude Thompson, "unless we are given the right to distribute our membership among a dozen or more craft unions."

E. G. Tyrell said that he was in possession of information that the proposed Arbitration Act Amendment would cause havoc among industrial unions. He said: "I have shown the Premier, Mr. Holman, did not know the full purport of the reactionary provisions of the bill as introduced. He suggested that the matter should be brought under the Premier's notice by deputation. He then a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some evening. A. Campbell seconded the motion. It was agreed that the formation of a national council of industrial unions be formed to protect industrial unions.

It was moved by Mr. Grayndler that a committee be formed of Messrs. W. Maclean, Claude Thompson, E. G. Rawlin, and Mr. Grayndler to be appointed to draw up a circular to members of Parliament. It was agreed that Claude Thompson should be convenor and an secretary pro tem.

The argument seems to be that the unions, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some evening, a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some evening.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had obtained a promise that the Premier would receive deputation of the unions representative at Parliament House some even-

ing.

That a letter was written to the Premier, setting out that a deputation had already waited upon the Minister of Labor and Industry, and had ob-

Once

SILKS & DRESS GOODS

10 Pieces $1.25 All-Wool Broadcloth 75c

N EVER was this material more in demand than it will be this coming season. For suits, dresses, tunics or coats it will be the favorite of all dress fabrics. Monday we are placing on sale just ten from an early shipment at 75c. Every piece 54 inches wide. All wool, pure black broadcloth, all wool Monday only 75c.

$1 and $2.25 Cream Saiting $1.49

Waves are represented such as cheviots, twills, diagonal stripes, granite and basket weaves in a deep rich color of cream. All wool, good weight materials suitable for suits and skirts.

$1.50 Black & White Boucle $1

10 inches wide, pure wool material. New black and white stripe patterns. One of the most popular for fall wear. Much in demand for jackets or coat and tailored skirts.

$1, $1.25 Yd.-Wide Taffeta & Messaline 79c

BEAUTIFUL soft chiffon taffeta and all silk messaline 36 inches wide. Every piece guaranteed to give good satisfaction. Shown in all the popular shades for street or evening wear. Also black and white. Fine lustrous finish and all pure silk. Best $1 and $1.25 quality for 79c.

$1 Yard Wide Silk Poplin 69c

1000 yards of beautiful soft chiffon silk poplins. One of the most popular weaves we have ever handled. New shades of green, olive, open, light gray, duckwing blue, and others.

$1.50 & $2 Yd. Wide Silks $1

1000 yards of fine satin, duchesse, soft chiffon taffeta and pure de soie. Every piece a full yard wide. All white. Excellent wearing materials. Only one will be sold to a customer.

$2 Silk Crepe de Chine $1.25

All 40 inches wide, pure silk crepe de chine. In popular shades of baby blue, old rose, sky blue, turquoise, pink, purple, golden blue, nile, leather, lavender, light gray, tango, wine and taupe.

$1 to $1.50 Marquisette—1 Hr.—39c

All silk marquisette in plain shades of golden brown, champagne, baby blue, silver gray, emerald green, nile, pink, Nell rose, bottle green and other shades. 40 inches wide. 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. only. 39c.

$1, $1.50 Crepe Kimonos

THIS is a very remarkable value for the 2nd floor, Monday. Long crepe kimono worth $1 and $1.50 for 75c. Cut Empire style with shirred yokes. Neatly trimmed garments of blue, lavender and other pretty colors. Flowered and figured patterns. Monday at.....

75c

THE REAL BARGAIN CENTER OF LOS ANGELES
The 5th Store
BROADWAY AT FIFTH ST.
MUSE, FARIS, WALKER CO.

Greatest Corset Sale in a Decade

Over 1000 Doz. American Beauty Corsets at 1/2 Price—2nd Floor—All Sizes

SUCH a corset sale has not been attempted by this house in years. This is a special purchase from the American Beauty Corset Co. of Kalamazoo, Mich., and bought at a price that makes these wonderful values possible.

50c Models 25c

These are strongly made, well fitting corsets of an excellent quality batiste and contil. There are a number of good styles in the lot, all lace and embroidery trimmed. And the price is 25c.

$1.00 Corsets 50c

There are dozens of the most popular models in this lot. Both medium and low bust styles and medium and long hip effects; 4 & 6 supporters. All trimmed with lace and embroidery.

$1.50 Styles 75c

There are plain contil and batiste corsets as well as fancy striped materials and a few fancy brocaded models in the lot. Front lacing style as well as the new tango and dancing models. Tomorrow at 75c.

1000 House Dresses, Monday, 77c Shop 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. No Phone or Mail Orders.

Dozens of Styles, $1.50 and $2 Garments at One Price

HERE is a special shipment of house dresses that we are placing on sale at a price that is seldom equalled in Los Angeles. Every dress is well made and well fitted and is far superior to any we have ever offered at this price. We are showing five styles on left picked at random from this vast assortment. These will give you some idea of the many attractive styles you may expect.

Gingham, Percales, Madras, Linene

There are stripes and checked patterns and solid colors. There are dress of blue, pink, navy and lavender, as well as black and white predominating in color. Garments that are prettily trimmed with piping, embroidery, buttons and materials. Every size is included. Your choice at.....

77c

50c Bungalow Aprons 25c

LIGHT and dark percales in neat figured and striped patterns. Cut full long, well finished. Limit one hour at 25c.

$2.50 & $3.50 Sweaters 98c

Choice of cardinal, white, oxford and a few fancy patterns. Ruff neck and coat styles. "Seconds" and slightly damaged.

10c Cotton Socks 4c

—Men's and heavy cotton socks in black, tan and colors. "Seconds" of regular 10c and 10c lace—8:30 to 9:30 a.m.

10c, 15c Canvas Gloves 5c

—Women's 10c Vests 4c

—Fine Swiss rib vests in low neck and sleeveless style. Yoke and trim edges well taped. 1 hour. 4c.

Women's $2.50 Shoes 50c

25c Underwear 15c

ENGLISH Baldrige shirts and drawers. Long or short sleeves, knee and ankle length. All sizes. 8:30 to 9:30, 15c.

Children's Hose 5c

10c and 15c heavy rib cotton and mercerized lace hose. In black, white, pink and blue. Sizes 4 to 8.

Women's 10c Vests 4c

—Fine Swiss rib vests in low neck and sleeveless style. Yoke and trim edges well taped. 1 hour. 4c.

Women's $2.50 Shoes 50c

7½-10c Ginghams 5c

HORN lengths from 1 to 6 yards, including ginghams, percales and striped sweruckles. 8:30 to 9:30, 5c.

15c Beach Suiting 6½c

23 inches wide, in natural linen color. Both sides alike. Rare value. 8:30 to 9:30, at 6½c.

15c Drapery Remts. 5c

—Drapery, figured Swiss and a number of other patterns. Length in several colors and patterns. 8:30 to 9:30, 5c per yard.

5c Embroidery Silk 1c

Linens and Domestics Monday Wash Goods Sale New Undermuslins 50c

$1 Pure Linen Damask 79c

THIS is an unusual value. All linen table damask, 76 inches wide. Either bleached or silver bleached. Good range of pretty floral and conventional patterns.

He Crash 10c

Heavy unbleached sheets, 64x90-inch size. Made of standard grade muslin. Quality for 55c.

75c Sheets 55c

Heavy unbleached sheets, 64x90-inch size. Made of standard grade muslin. Quality for 55c.

15c & 20c Voile 9c

Yard wide, white voile. Soft, fine sheer finish. 15c and 20c.

20c Persian Lawn 12½c

These popular fabrics are 22 inches wide. Soft, sheer lawn suitable for women's waists and dresses. 20c Persian lawn 12½c.

25c & 30c Wash Fabrics 12½c

EVERAL hundred yards new summer wash materials, including ratines in solid colors, flake crepe in plain shades, pique and fancy colored poplins.

25c Ginghams 8 1-3c

10 to 20-yard pieces standard Red Seal Ginghams in solid colors.

10c Ginghams 7½c

12½c & 15c Perc. 8 1-3c

Yard wide. French percales in light grounds, dots and figures. At 8½c.

15c Dimity Plisse 9c

12½c & 15c Perc. 8 1-3c

Yard wide. French percales in light grounds, dots and figures. At 8½c.

15c Dimity Plisse 9c

12½c & 15c Perc. 8 1-3c

Yard wide. French percales in light grounds, dots and figures. At 8½c.

15c Hose 8 1-3c

School stockings for boys and girls. Fine one and one rib lace and cotton hose. At 8½c.

20c Dimity 12½c

Extra fine quality baby dimity in striped and broken checked patterns.

India Linon 12½c

Regular 20c quality grass bleached India Linon, 30 inches wide. At 12½c.

25c & 35c Wash Fabrics 12½c

EVERAL hundred yards new summer wash materials, including ratines in solid colors, flake crepe in plain shades, pique and fancy colored poplins.

25c Ginghams 8 1-3c

10 to 20-yard pieces standard Red Seal Ginghams in solid colors.

10c Ginghams 7½c

12½c & 15c Perc. 8 1-3c

Yard wide. French percales in light grounds, dots and figures. At 8½c.

15c Hose 8 1-3c

School stockings for boys and girls. Fine one and one rib lace and cotton hose. At 8½c.

20c Dimity 12½c

Extra fine quality baby dimity in striped and broken checked patterns.

India Linon 12½c

Regular 20c quality grass bleached India Linon, 30 inches wide. At 12½c.

25c Ginghams 8 1-3c

10 to 20-yard pieces standard Red Seal Ginghams in solid colors.

15c Hose 8 1-3c

School stockings for boys and girls. Fine one and one rib lace and cotton hose. At 8½c.

20c Dimity 12½c

Extra fine quality baby dimity in striped and broken checked patterns.

India Linon 12½c

Regular 20c quality grass bleached India Linon, 30 inches wide. At 12½c.

25c Ginghams 8 1-3c

10 to 20-yard pieces standard Red Seal Ginghams in solid colors.

15c Hose 8 1-3c

School stockings for boys and girls. Fine one and one rib lace and cotton hose. At 8½c.

20c Dimity 12½c

Extra fine quality baby dimity in striped and broken checked patterns.

India Linon 12½c

Regular 20c quality grass bleached India Linon, 30 inches wide. At 12½c.

25c Ginghams 8 1-3c

10 to 20-yard pieces standard Red Seal Ginghams in solid colors.

15c Hose 8 1-3c

School stockings for boys and girls. Fine one and one rib lace and cotton hose. At 8½c.

20c Dimity 12½c

Extra fine quality baby dimity in striped and broken checked patterns.

India Linon 12½c

Regular 20c quality grass bleached India Linon, 30 inches wide. At 12½c.

25c Ginghams 8 1-3c

10 to 20-yard pieces standard Red Seal Ginghams in solid colors.

15c Hose 8 1-3c

School stockings for boys and girls. Fine one and one rib lace and cotton hose. At 8½c.

20c Dimity 12½c

Extra fine quality baby dimity in striped and broken checked patterns.

India Linon 12½c

Regular 20c quality grass bleached India Linon, 30 inches wide. At 12½c.

25c Ginghams 8 1-3c

10 to 20-yard pieces standard Red Seal Ginghams in solid colors.

15c Hose 8 1-3c

School stockings for boys and girls. Fine one and one rib lace and cotton hose. At 8½c.

20c Dimity 12½c

Extra fine quality baby dimity in striped and broken checked patterns.

India Linon 12½c

Regular 20c quality grass bleached India Linon, 30 inches wide. At 12½c.

25c Ginghams 8 1-3c

10 to 20-yard pieces standard Red Seal Ginghams in solid colors.

15c Hose 8 1-3c

School stockings for boys and girls. Fine one and one rib lace and cotton hose. At 8½c.

20c Dimity

PUBLISHERS:
THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY
OFFICERS:
H. G. OTIS, President and General Manager.
HARRY CHANDLER, Asst. Gen. Mgr. and Trustee.
HARRY R. ANDREWS, Managing Editor.
F. X. PFAFFINGER, Assistant Treasurer.
MAGNUS OTIS-CHANDLER, Vice-Pres., Secretary

Los Angeles Times

EVERY MORNING IN THE YEAR.
Daily, Sunday, Illustrated Weekly and Semi-Monthly Magazine. Daily Founded Dec. 4, 1851—254 Years.
Member, Class A, of the Associated Press. Telegrams: Los Angeles (L.A. 1-254); Night 52,000; words transmitted, 50,000.

OFFICE:
New Times Building, First and Broadway.
LOS ANGELES (L.A. 1-254)

Entered at the Postoffice as mail matter of Class II.

SPARE YOUR PITY.

Weep not for the poor artist. He does the work that he likes the best and he gets to keep a good part of it after he has done it.

JUSTICE TO MINORITIES.

Lord Bryce compacted a great deal of truth into a sentence when he said that the test of freedom is justice to minorities—the equal protection of the law to all citizens. Without it there is no liberty.

NOT WHAT, BUT WHO.

It is worth everything to get something on some people and nothing on others. You can't put a man down whose pinnacle is at the bottom. Even Toopious cannot lose what he never possessed.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

It is quite interesting to go down Spring street and Broadway and note a good many political headquarters signs by their absence. In case the disappointed candidates do not realize that something has happened, the city promptly serves them with a notice to move on.

A WASTE OF SILVER.

Every time a ship does its duty and gets paid for it somebody gives it a silver service or a loving cup. Ships can't eat or drink, although those aboard sometimes do too much of both. In the end there is a lot of silver junk which belongs to nobody. Well, as long as somebody has the silver to spare the plan is all right and it does express a lot of good will.

THE CHILDREN PAY.

That is the trouble with this war. It leaves Europe peopled with orphans who will get no education and whose children and grandchildren must slave bitterly and in savage ignorance in order to pay the debts incurred by these prodigal nations. The war turns the culture of Europe back for a hundred years. Who will pay indemnity for that?

THE OTHER WAY.

It has been announced in the House of Commons that the British government will employ Indian troops for the war on the continent. On the contrary, they are more likely to use British troops in India when the natives over there feel like an engagement. India will probably try at this time and not succeed. It is too soon by fifty years for India to strike for freedom, but some day it will come.

COST KEEPING.

If you keep costs you will be much more likely to find yourself keeping some profits. The people who are making money know that they are doing so and they know how it is done. They pay the most for labor and get the best quality. Management instead of leaks is what most business needs. The man of profits must know to the fraction of a cent what his delivery costs him and he must be sure that it could not be made for a fraction of a cent less.

A MILITARY TIP.

Why doesn't the Grand Duke of Russia cut loose about half a million men from the Russian base of supplies for a week or so and let them do things to Germany instead of putting all the work on little Belgium and courageous yet limited France? Of course, the big countries will pay the little ones heavy war claims and indemnity. If they win, but who will pay the wives for their husbands and the mothers for their sons?

THE PRICE.

The Germans threaten to confiscate the art treasures of Brussels because the war indemnity has not been paid. The process seems to be to smash the daylights out of a city and then make the inhabitants pay the victor for his trouble. Really, it seems to have been an oversight on the part of the Germans not to have collected war indemnities in advance of the war. It would be much more modern and business-like to say to a city: "Please send us 40,000,000 crowns and we will then destroy you."

JUST FOR A CHANGE.

A colony of American artists have left Paris to make their home in England on account of the war. They might try their native land for a change. The climate would do their health and morals no end of good, and it is possible that they could find a few feeble landscapes in this country that have not yet been overdone. It is perfectly true that American cities have rather too much sanitation for a successful Quarter Latin and that our fields cannot offer much in the line of peasant girls, but if our painter friends can stand for a little fresh air and some bright faces this country ought to satisfy them as a war resort.

COMPULSORY CONCILIATION.

The sixteen "commissioners of conciliation" appointed by Secretary of Labor Wilson to "mediate" in labor disputes and advance the opportunities of workers to obtain profitable employment, and so "promote the interests of industrial peace," are not paid regular salaries. All they receive is a boggart honorarium of $10 per day, for which they are expected to take testimony, and keep taking it, and then always to decide against predatory capital and in favor of labor, provided it is organized labor. Non-union workers who attempt to infest the committee-rooms and occupy the time of the "commissioners of conciliation" are to be promptly kicked downstairs.

SEE CALIFORNIA NEXT.
Over 100,000 American citizens found themselves stranded in Europe at the outbreak of the present war. The majority of these were well-to-do, some of them simply "out for a good time," some for the broadening effect of travel, some in pursuit of knowledge and experience and instruction. These were willing to spend money freely, sanguine that they would get value received for themselves and families for the expenditure of this money.

To what desperate straits they were reduced when the war broke out, their credits cut off, all travel blocked, communications curtailed, often far away from an American consulship, the stories filtering into the daily papers from some of the more prominent of the sufferers are bearing lurid testimony. We may safely say that America has never looked so good to those who have returned and that the longing for a sight of their native country again was never so strong in the hearts of those who are left behind.

The desire for European travel is likely to receive a severe setback among the Americans in the past who have had the time and the desire and the opportunity to indulge their taste for foreign excitements.

"See America first" is advice that too many have neglected to profit by. The sound wisdom of that advice is admitted now on many west-bound steamships as the chickens come home to roost. America is broad enough and big enough and full enough of instruction and novelty and entertainment to crowd any one life to overflowing.

Why, California itself can never be compassed in its entirety by one single human being in his ordinary three score years and ten, though he were endowed with the wisdom of Solomon. The most confirmed and observant globe trotter can check his onward course at the Pacific Coast—and still learn far more about this earth and its wonders and its infinite variety than his brother adventures marooned on the shores of the Caspian Sea or isolated on the peak of Mount Blanc.

See California next will be the appeal, at the advent of the year 1915, to reach all Americans, especially our horror-sated compatriots, lately returned from the over-strenuous excitement of the last month spent in Europe. Those who have already seen California in a limited way will certainly be with us again to visit our two expositions, celebrating a victory complete and without tarnish, a victory of peace and industry.

For San Francisco and San Diego will be crammed with the riches of historical research, the fruits of science and commerce, the works of art, objects of beauty and means of amusement, the garnered treasures of the past, the achievements of the present and the promised wonders of the future. Even under normal conditions California could have nothing finer to offer.

It is a safe prediction that travel will turn Pacificward next year in volumes and numbers to exceed anything known before on this continent. The graphic stories of the horrors in Europe will bring the whole of last year's foreign travel to the Coast. Here there will be no "commandeering" of private motor cars for war purposes, no women offering diamonds for a few gallons of gasoline, no traveling in malodorous steerages on first-class tickets, no cashing good notes at an outrageous discount, no treading a perilous way through frenzied hostile mobs.

It will be America, not Europe, next year: a railroad ticket for Los Angeles or San Francisco, not a steamer birth for Liverpool or Havre, or Bremen. Every dollar spent in California will bring a full dollar's worth of delight. No foreign travel can broaden the views like the vast landscapes of California; no enlightenment compares with the sunshine of the Southwest; no exaltation of soul surpasses the peaks of the Sierra Nevadas. Our expositions will be open to all. You who have seen Europe first, come and see California next. You have witnessed war at its worst; come and behold peace at its best.

SHIPBUILDERS AND SHIPOWNERS.
Liberal, not restrictive, legislation is the basis of a nation's prosperity. An attempt to encourage one branch of industry by laws that hamper another is bound to tell against both. This has been well illustrated in the case of restrictive American laws framed to favor shipbuilders at the expense of shipowners. What has been the result? Our American mercantile marine has almost disappeared from the four oceans.

The present tying up of American commerce, brought about by the general European war, is bringing home to the American people the folly of a policy that permitted foreign nations to almost monopolize our ocean-carrying trade.

A wonderful opportunity presents itself, and if we are wise we will hurry to take full advantage of it. We will cease from academic discussion and get a practical grip of the situation. We will buy ships, first from foreign nations, now anxious to sell us them, and so start to go after the ocean traffic that, as extensive exporters and importers, is ours by every argument of right and expediency.

Great Britain has become to all intents and purposes the ocean-carrier of the world. We have been told that we cannot compete with her on account of her system of government subsidies. But are we aware that 75 per cent. of Great Britain's ocean traffic is carried on by tramp steamers that receive no government subsidy? With these, barring the difference in the wages paid to British and American seamen, we could compete on equal terms. Moreover, in trading with South American ports we have advantages to offset this difference in wages. As carriers from Pacific ports to the Orient and the South Sea Islands American tramp steamers ought to be able to compete against those of any European nation.

There is enough capital in California to buy and equip such a fleet, to see that on the Pacific at least the Stars and Stripes shall be the leading and not the rarest flag among the merchantmen in every port from Seattle to San Diego, from California to China.

Prosperity for American shipowners can be assured by liberal laws. American shipbuilders will eventually share in this prosperity. After we have bought enough foreign-built vessels to firmly establish our trade routes, the necessary additions to our mercantile marine can be supplied by our home shipyards. The whole Pacific is now

Reward of Merit.

HOW TO FEEL LIKE A MERE MAN.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

This war has just come in time to enable masculinity to reassert itself. Masculinity was pernicious in the wane. Feminism was beginning to find it out.

The more closely woman investigated the average man, the more she wondered how the dickens he maintained his position of lord of creation. (Present company always excepted.)

He was sking out on tradition. He was living on his capital of past accomplishments, resting on the laurels of dead heroes. The modern descendant of brave, strong, forceful, dominating masculinity had taken to armchairs, theater stalls, baseball pavilions, colored silk socks, tartan hand-bands, silk pajamas, manicured nails, turquoise dinners, and was evincing an unholly reverence for home runs, long drives and twenty-foot putts, sustained volleys and back-hand lobs, grand slams on no trumps, and designated duck-shooting and rabbit-potting as "hunting!"

Many of him had concentrated their lordly intellects on reform legislation, the length of hotel sheets, the trapping of automobiles, and spying on flirtatious couples.

Another large contingent of him was busy assaulting microbes and defaming germs. Most of him had developed stomach trouble (which lacks romance), livers, and nervous indigestion.

And all the rest were busy decrying feminine fashions and explaining how awkward it made them feel to see a female leg. They whined that legs (female) and necks (female) were undermining their temptation-resisting powers, that they could no longer protect woman from her protectors if she did not instantly increase the volume of her petticoats and wear a collar.

And feminism read, marked, learned—and wondered.

Mankind fascinated us. There was something so subtle, so wonderful about the ability of man to maintain his superior position in the world, his critical, patronizing attitude on such attributes as we could discover. We felt very much like the bishop's wife who interviewed the famous actress who had ensnared him, not to reproach her, but to learn what on earth she saw in him to love him.

When he fondly, graciously, called us "Darling, darling," and heroically assisted us across the road, clutching the back of our necks with dreadful pressure as we went, we were conscious of something wrong somewhere—the mountain in labor to produce a mouse! We had a sensation of wishing to relieve him of the awful responsibility of guiding us safely across that road, of telling him we were not afraid, of reassuring him tenderly—or present company still excepted.

In the meantime we had gradually been entering the exclusively masculine provinces. Not only the professions, but manial labor, too. It was very enlightening.

When I personally elected to dig my garden and mow my own lawn my masculine friends were shocked beyond words. I couldn't possibly do it, and me only weighing a shade over 100 pounds, too. I felt that I was undertaking a Herculean task, besides being dreadfully unmanly.

But I made a rattling good job of it, and without any undue exertion, and found I could still take a throbbing interest in the fall fastidious.

Then I came to the improper conclusion that I would rather dig and mow incessantly for six hours than do laundry work for two. Which was very disturbing.

Since then I have done carpentering, house-painting, fence-building, put in new window panes, and all sorts of unwomanly things only to find that they are not difficult and call for less exertion than sweeping and dish-washing.

And lately I have shocked the neighborhood by taking to overalls. Men's overalls, sister, trousers and seven pocketts. The psychological effect of trousers is wonderful. Do you know, I verily believe that the whole prestige of the male of the species has rested upon trousers (supported by check books) for many a long day.

There are two sensations that no woman should miss if she wants a new experience. She must have a bank account and sign her own checks, and she must don trousers. The whole world looks different after that. One feels a decided sense of independence. One can be gained in no other way.

Buggy Turkish trousers won't do. They must be straight, plain masculine trousers that one can dig in without getting any pleats in the way that one can walk through the flower beds without breaking off the leaves and bending the branches, trousers with pockets for your trowel, your seeds, your string, your nails. Then indeed, do you realize for the first time the wonderful psychological support man has gained from his trousers—one enjoys a sense of untrammeled superiority, a joyousness of movement, a feeling of debonair patronage, oh, all sorts of delicious sensations and call for less exertion than sweeping and dish-washing.

And lately I have shocked the neighborhood by taking to overalls. Men's overalls, sister, trousers and seven pocketts. The psychological effect of trousers is wonderful. Do you know, I verily believe that the whole world looks different after that. One feels a decided sense of independence. One can be gained in no other way.

Gen. Carranza has demanded that American troops be removed from the United States. We understand that the President has made quite a name for himself.

The story comes from Kansas that pillars stopped a railway train in the United States. It was probably an accommodation.

Taking the situation as it comes, would any sane man exchange his United States for the European countries?

Hereafter, an itinerary in Europe will include not only how to cover the continent but how to get out in case of war. Information may be handy.

With wheat above the dollar and men say, on a bigger and better scale than ever, wheat is probably the European war continues.

It will be a supreme test, if the dates can get up very much sooner, to determine whether or not the European war continues.

We think we can assure the overseas heads who brought on the war as to the audience and the Chanticleer that they will come over and tell us what they did it.

We have it from excellent authority that there will be no postponement of war on account of the stirring events overseas. But Santa Claus will be slow to do it if it does not come.

It is the opinion of the people of the European war continues.

The agricultural products which used to be known as the "Cruz" will amount to over $100,000. And that is the cost of the European war.

The primary returns throughout the country indicate that the voting was heavy that it was not a general election. Part of this condition was due to the fact that there were hundreds of men in the ballot—hence the name Cruz.

President Wilson has selected Howe for Commissioner of Immigration for the port of New York. For years he was one of the most rabid supporters of the League of Nations. In 1908 he was a member of the Cuyahoga county delegation to the Senate. He is a dreamer, and his rich wife, who can indulge in his dreams, is a means of local capital in the deathbed.

The agricultural products which used to be known as the "Cruz" will amount to over $100,000. And that is the cost of the European war.

Never cross the tracks by night or day. Without stopping to listen and wait.

Never hop a freight, for nothing can be done. The wound received under ground.

Never leave on a hot or sunny day. Sit beneath a box car to rest or sleep.

Never crawl under a car of freight. When the crossing's blocked—wait.

Never board or alight from a train moving. Accidents daily.

Never play games 'round the station.

There are much safer places in the country.

Never leave on the rail any time. Because in this way you may be exposed to the importers who will lead to the importers of American products to be imported where they will be equal to ours.

Never ride a railroad bridge abroad. A train may come and result in a collision.

Never pick up coal round the station. Never leave on the rail any time. Because in this way you may be exposed to the importers who will lead to the importers of American products to be imported where they will be equal to ours.

Never leave on the rail any time. Because in this way you may be exposed to the importers who will lead to the importers of American products to be imported where they will be equal to ours.

Never leave on the rail any time. Because in this way you may be exposed to the importers who will lead to the importers of American products to be imported where they will be equal to ours.

Never leave on the rail any time. Because in this way you may be exposed to the importers who will lead to the importers of American products to be imported where they will be equal to ours.

</div

Men Points: By the Staff

The blue pencil of the press censor is sharper than the sword.

Auto tires have jumped in price. They were made of porterhouse meat.

What has become of our old friend "Eduard vivendi" in these parous times?

We should judge that some of the towns in Belgium were easier to take than to see.

"Ten Nights in a Bar-room" is soon to be in the movies. Wonder how many?

Peace of Paris threatened: a diet of love among the possibilities! Remember man!

Another good thing growing out of the—Secretary Bryan is not saying a word about it.

The California grape harvest is on. You should worry about the supply of grapes.

The string heard on the Oregon coast may be caused by a few chauffeurs home in a tire inland.

Naturalist note: Up in Canada they caught a Bull Moose that makes a like an elephant.

There may be peace in Mexico, but we distinctly hear Villa strapping his boots on his bootleg.

The story of the Germans is "On to Paris" of the Russians "On to Berlin." What dreams be realized?

We understand that the French master, Paul Marie Caesar Gerald Pas, is giving quite a name for himself.

The story comes from Kansas that cables stopped a railway train in that state, as probably an accommodation train.

Looking the situation as it exists today, any sane man exchange his home in the United States for a home in any one of European countries?

Weather, an itinerary in Europe will be not only how to cover the country, how to get out in case of war. The situation may be handy.

With wheat above the dollar mark, it is to have no wheat to eat—just like the player felt when it was proposed to the army of the foreign country.

It will be a supreme test, if the country can get up very much excitement, or anywhere else, this fall, in case of European war continues.

We think we can assure the crowds who brought on the war an apprehension on the Chautauqua circuit will come over and tell us why they have it from excellent authority that will be no postponement of Christmas due to the stirring events across the ocean.

But Santa Claus will be absent from the lands of bereaved homes over there.

Census Bureau at Washington has found out that if the present rate of increase continues, the second generation from now on will see more divorces than marriages. Some folks do not believe that statement sometimes lie.

Mr. Carranza has demanded that the American troops be removed from Veracruz. What did you say? Speak louder.

Uncle Sam is a bit hard on the count of the incessant cannonading.

Agricultural products in Colorado used to be known as the "Silver" will amount this year to over $100,000,000. And that is the common wealth for years known for nothing but Silver and Populists.

Primary returns throughout the state indicate that the voting was heavy and that it was not a general election, but of this condition was no doubt due to the fact that there were hundreds of thousands of ballot—hence the heat.

"Never" for Children.

Crosses the tracks by night or day, not stopping to listen and look.

Walk along the railroad tie—

Don't always trust your ears and eyes.

Shop a freight, for nothing quite round received under grinding wheel.

On a hot and sunny day,

Death a box car to rest or play.

Crawl under a car of freight

At the crossing's blocked—play with it.

Board or alight from a train that is moving.

Each day its dangers are proved.

Play games 'round the tracks of destruction.

There are much safer places to seek now.

Leave on the rail any spikes or in this way you may want to ride.

A railroad bridge should you may come and result in your pick up coal 'round the railroad.

May catch you off your guard.

—Edward L. Tinker, in Los Angeles.

There is no real danger of dangerous

Lessons of Value.DRUG PRICES SOAR HERE AS WAR STOPS SUPPLY.

Cathartic Acid and Other Important Chemicals Advance Hundreds of Per Cent. in a Few Days—The Temporary Loss to Be Followed by Industrial Expansion and New Factories.

The prices of drugs suddenly increased from $5 to $75 per cent, and some chemicals going into war are helping to pay for the war. But Los Angeles is going to get it all back and more with it.

W. F. Hale, president of the West American Drug Company, says American manufacturers of certain lines will accomplish in establishing their products in twenty years than they ordinarily are.

The California grape harvest is on. You should worry about the supply of grapes.

The string heard on the Oregon coast may be caused by a few chauffeurs home in a tire inland.

Naturalist note: Up in Canada they caught a Bull Moose that makes a like an elephant.

There may be peace in Mexico, but we distinctly hear Villa strapping his boots on his bootleg.

The story of the Germans is "On to Paris" of the Russians "On to Berlin." What dreams be realized?

We understand that the French master, Paul Marie Caesar Gerald Pas, is giving quite a name for himself.

The story comes from Kansas that cables stopped a railway train in that state, as probably an accommodation train.

Looking the situation as it exists today, any sane man exchange his home in the United States for a home in any one of European countries?

Weather, an itinerary in Europe will be not only how to cover the country, how to get out in case of war. The situation may be handy.

In the popular advantages of Los Angeles and otherwise, will be wiped out by the destruction of the men who control the United States must enter into manufacturing and business on a bigger and broader basis than was ever before attempted by any nation. They predict that the city is being presented to shopmen.

D. A. Hamburger said yesterday that war conditions had had little effect on ordinary grades of wear apparel, because most of the materials are manufactured in this country. Ultra-high-priced garments, imported or made of imported goods, have increased, but home products are not.

In this city retail prices are low. A better dress can be purchased for $10 or $15 than last year. Women can buy better hats for $5 than last year. The goods are new and up-to-date, and the prices are lower. The city is taking advantage of the situation. Most of the big Los Angeles merchants bought heavily for 1914 summer and fall, and the summer has also proved a record year.

Retrenchment, following war prices has tended to cut down to some extent, but the trade is phenomenal.

"Soaps and Powder Up."

Castile soap has advanced 100 per cent and perfume, foreign-made toilet soaps, face powder and cream have advanced 10 to 25 per cent. These, it is predicted, will be specially popular by American products which are equal or superior.

"Quinine is made here, he says, and while the immediate stock of bark is low, more should be available promptly from Peru. The price of menthol oil has also increased, and the price of camphor is up.

"The whole country will participate in the benefit of stimulated trade and the situation of business in Los Angeles and particularly Los Angeles will be in a superior position industrially alone, broad and important lines."

"The story of the Germans is "On to Paris" of the Russians "On to Berlin." What dreams be realized?

We understand that the French master, Paul Marie Caesar Gerald Pas, is giving quite a name for himself.

The story comes from Kansas that cables stopped a railway train in that state, as probably an accommodation train.

Looking the situation as it exists today, any sane man exchange his home in the United States for a home in any one of European countries?

Weather, an itinerary in Europe will be not only how to cover the country, how to get out in case of war. The situation may be handy.

In the popular advantages of Los Angeles and otherwise, will be wiped out by the destruction of the men who control the United States must enter into manufacturing and business on a bigger and broader basis than was ever before attempted by any nation. They predict that the city is being presented to shopmen.

D. A. Hamburger said yesterday that war conditions had had little effect on ordinary grades of wear apparel, because most of the materials are manufactured in this country. Ultra-high-priced garments, imported or made of imported goods, have increased, but home products are not.

In this city retail prices are low. A better dress can be purchased for $10 or $15 than last year. Women can buy better hats for $5 than last year. The goods are new and up-to-date, and the prices are lower. The city is taking advantage of the situation. Most of the big Los Angeles merchants bought heavily for 1914 summer and fall, and the summer has also proved a record year.

Retrenchment, following war prices has tended to cut down to some extent, but the trade is phenomenal.

"Soaps and Powder Up."

Castile soap has advanced 100 per cent and perfume, foreign-made toilet soaps, face powder and cream have advanced 10 to 25 per cent. These, it is predicted, will be specially popular by American products which are equal or superior.

"Quinine is made here, he says, and while the immediate stock of bark is low, more should be available promptly from Peru. The price of menthol oil has also increased, and the price of camphor is up.

"The whole country will participate in the benefit of stimulated trade and the situation of business in Los Angeles and particularly Los Angeles will be in a superior position industrially alone, broad and important lines."

"The story of the Germans is "On to Paris" of the Russians "On to Berlin." What dreams be realized?

We understand that the French master, Paul Marie Caesar Gerald Pas, is giving quite a name for himself.

The story comes from Kansas that cables stopped a railway train in that state, as probably an accommodation train.

Looking the situation as it exists today, any sane man exchange his home in the United States for a home in any one of European countries?

Weather, an itinerary in Europe will be not only how to cover the country, how to get out in case of war. The situation may be handy.

In the popular advantages of Los Angeles and otherwise, will be wiped out by the destruction of the men who control the United States must enter into manufacturing and business on a bigger and broader basis than was ever before attempted by any nation. They predict that the city is being presented to shopmen.

D. A. Hamburger said yesterday that war conditions had had little effect on ordinary grades of wear apparel, because most of the materials are manufactured in this country. Ultra-high-priced garments, imported or made of imported goods, have increased, but home products are not.

In this city retail prices are low. A better dress can be purchased for $10 or $15 than last year. Women can buy better hats for $5 than last year. The goods are new and up-to-date, and the prices are lower. The city is taking advantage of the situation. Most of the big Los Angeles merchants bought heavily for 1914 summer and fall, and the summer has also proved a record year.

Retrenchment, following war prices has tended to cut down to some extent, but the trade is phenomenal.

"Soaps and Powder Up."

Castile soap has advanced 100 per cent and perfume, foreign-made toilet soaps, face powder and cream have advanced 10 to 25 per cent. These, it is predicted, will be specially popular by American products which are equal or superior.

"Quinine is made here, he says, and while the immediate stock of bark is low, more should be available promptly from Peru. The price of menthol oil has also increased, and the price of camphor is up.

"The whole country will participate in the benefit of stimulated trade and the situation of business in Los Angeles and particularly Los Angeles will be in a superior position industrially alone, broad and important lines."

"The story of the Germans is "On to Paris" of the Russians "On to Berlin." What dreams be realized?

We understand that the French master, Paul Marie Caesar Gerald Pas, is giving quite a name for himself.

The story comes from Kansas that cables stopped a railway train in that state, as probably an accommodation train.

Looking the situation as it exists today, any sane man exchange his home in the United States for a home in any one of European countries?

Weather, an itinerary in Europe will be not only how to cover the country, how to get out in case of war. The situation may be handy.

In the popular advantages of Los Angeles and otherwise, will be wiped out by the destruction of the men who control the United States must enter into manufacturing and business on a bigger and broader basis than was ever before attempted by any nation. They predict that the city is being presented to shopmen.

D. A. Hamburger said yesterday that war conditions had had little effect on ordinary grades of wear apparel, because most of the materials are manufactured in this country. Ultra-high-priced garments, imported or made of imported goods, have increased, but home products are not.

In this city retail prices are low. A better dress can be purchased for $10 or $15 than last year. Women can buy better hats for $5 than last year. The goods are new and up-to-date, and the prices are lower. The city is taking advantage of the situation. Most of the big Los Angeles merchants bought heavily for 1914 summer and fall, and the summer has also proved a record year.

Retrenchment, following war prices has tended to cut down to some extent, but the trade is phenomenal.

"Soaps and Powder Up."

Castile soap has advanced 100 per cent and perfume, foreign-made toilet soaps, face powder and cream have advanced 10 to 25 per cent. These, it is predicted, will be specially popular by American products which are equal or superior.

"Quinine is made here, he says, and while the immediate stock of bark is low, more should be available promptly from Peru. The price of menthol oil has also increased, and the price of camphor is up.

"The whole country will participate in the benefit of stimulated trade and the situation of business in Los Angeles and particularly Los Angeles will be in a superior position industrially alone, broad and important lines."

"The story of the Germans is "On to Paris" of the Russians "On to Berlin." What dreams be realized?

We understand that the French master, Paul Marie Caesar Gerald Pas, is giving quite a name for himself.

The story comes from Kansas that cables stopped a railway train in that state, as probably an accommodation train.

Looking the situation as it exists today, any sane man exchange his home in the United States for a home in any one of European countries?

Weather, an itinerary in Europe will be not only how to cover the country, how to get out in case of war. The situation may be handy.

In the popular advantages of Los Angeles and otherwise, will be wiped out by the destruction of the men who control the United States must enter into manufacturing and business on a bigger and broader basis than was ever before attempted by any nation. They predict that the city is being presented to shopmen.

D. A. Hamburger said yesterday that war conditions had had little effect on ordinary grades of wear apparel, because most of the materials are manufactured in this country. Ultra-high-priced garments, imported or made of imported goods, have increased, but home products are not.

In this city retail prices are low. A better dress can be purchased for $10 or $15 than last year. Women can buy better hats for $5 than last year. The goods are new and up-to-date, and the prices are lower. The city is taking advantage of the situation. Most of the big Los Angeles merchants bought heavily for 1914 summer and fall, and the summer has also proved a record year.

Retrenchment, following war prices has tended to cut down to some extent, but the trade is phenomenal.

"Soaps and Powder Up."

Castile soap has advanced 100 per cent and perfume, foreign-made toilet soaps, face powder and cream have advanced 10 to 25 per cent. These, it is predicted, will be specially popular by American products which are equal or superior.

"Quinine is made here, he says, and while the immediate stock of bark is low, more should be available promptly from Peru. The price of menthol oil has also increased, and the price of camphor is up.

"The whole country will participate in the benefit of stimulated trade and the situation of business in Los Angeles and particularly Los Angeles will be in a superior position industrially alone, broad and important lines."

"The story of the Germans is "On to Paris" of the Russians "On to Berlin." What dreams be realized?

We understand that the French master, Paul Marie Caesar Gerald Pas, is giving quite a name for himself.

The story comes from Kansas that cables stopped a railway train in that state, as probably an accommodation train.

</div

Scientific Features.

MAKES HISTORY
IN A TUNNEL.Engineer Putting New Belt
in Sagging Bore.Faulty Work and Poor Bricks Cause Weakness.Repair Job Duplicated and Colors Parts of Once in World.The Third-street tunnel is made a new belt. The taller who is making it is Michael F. Doland, superintendent of tunnel construction for the city. To do it, Mr. Doland is making history in tunnel work.Once in Spain some construction engineers did the same thing. Another time in Russia they understood it and failed, until they got the Spanish engineers to come and direct them.Several weeks ago the tunnel became its belt. This was due to the fact construction of the concrete was done by the original contractors. Mr. Doland had to start from scratch. After the bricks used about the center of the tunnel were rotted. Mr. Doland has found that water did not make them rot, as bricks in other parts of the tunnel will carry panels of exquisite work. One panel depicts Youth, the tunnel where much more water appears to be affected. The Industry and Art, in medallions on the side, a Roman marriage announces that defective brick will be used in the tunnel. Whether or not the contractor will be held responsible for the condition is a matter of further investigation.

VAULT SACR.

The first intimation that the needed skilled attention because the condition of its birth, came several months ago. The stomach of the tunnel began to sag. When probed for by the city engineer, the city, was so intended that the tunnel should lose its form. And it did, even by human comparison, show no excess of paunch effect.But in that identical part where the tunnel gave way, the construction and killed several men falling debris, the weakness of its physical appearance became apparent. Above it are many sands of tons of earth that Mr. Doland dares not move, as the pressure of the tunnel roof.At that point, the tunnel began to lose the rotundity of its figure, the top it became flat and broad.
When the arches that it retained began to sag under the weight of the tunnel center did not welcome the arrival of those bricks that have remained directly in the tunnel center.The struggle that ensued was brutal and disastrous. They were broken into fine pieces. And the concrete surface of the tunnel, able to support such a battle as the bricks, cracked. Then that could not find a foothold dropped

CONDITION DANGEROUS.

"It was fortunate," said Mr. Doland yesterday, "that the warning came time, for from the faulty condition that I find, and the rotten hills that are all about here, the tunnel might have been buried."For the weak part of the tunnel might have had the ultimate strain and dropped the brick and dirt upon any person in the tunnel at the time."Mr. Doland was called to reconstruct the tunnel's belt. The involved original and remarkable engineering. The top of the tunnel shoved up with the aid of a few 12x12 timbers laid by hand.
A platform had been sufficiently close to the tunnel to admit the men to detach the existing construction.The problem of supporting this rific weight of the earth, and in unique construction work of engineers have called inspect the work of Engineers.It will be at least two months Doland said yesterday, before work is completed. The steel will then be fastened out, and the tunnel belt that it will be entirely new brick will be placed that of the contractors.EFFORT TO SAVE OUR WILD LIFE.SUBJECT BEFORE VOTERS FAIR—LOCAL MAN UPON ADVISORY BOARD.A strong effort to save from extermination the birds and animals of the forests. Some work is being made by the California Associated Societies for the conservation of Wild Life. The Society in the California Museum of Vertebrate Zoology, University of California, Berkeley. The organization is the first vice-president, John Woodley, who was born in the hospital of the little adobe structure which in turn gave the famous Mission in the place had the name of the place.

CONCERTS IN AUDITORIUM.CONCERTS REORGANIZED OF SEASON TICKETS MOVED STEADILY."Non-resident of game. Act and Penal Code, section 626, makes it a felony by referendum.
buying, selling, shipping, or exposing for sale, trade or barter of any wild game, bird or animal (except rabbits and wild turkey) in the dead or living form, or any part thereof, a fine describes punishment therefor.
Section does not prohibit wild duck from November December 1 to the same year.The legislation is under throughout the entire state.
Yesterday it was Vineyard, nature lover and advisory council and local representative. Among other
the advisory council and Dr.
Hornaday, director of the Zoological Park. Prof. Henry
Baldwin, Pietro
Baldwin, director of the People's Year, announces that its name, Los Angeles, has been described as such at the general election.No candidate who was defeated for a seat at the primary may be a candidate by petition at the general election.Any persons filing a petition as an independent candidate must have the required number of signatures from persons who did not vote at the primary. The same petition requirements for the primary govern after the primary.No person may run as an independent candidate for non-partisan offices, except in the case of a candidate for chief justice of the Supreme Court, short term. (This is made possible by the death of Chief Justice Beatty. His success to take the seat will not take place until January 1.)The election is to be held throughout the entire state.
Yesterday it was Vineyard, nature lover and advisory council and local representative. Among other
the advisory council and Dr.
Hornaday, director of the Zoological Park. Prof. Henry
Baldwin, Pietro
Baldwin, director of the People's Year, announces that its name, Los Angeles, has been described as such at the general election.An effort will be made by the orchestra declared for 1915.

Artist Disi and His Riverside Work.

The outdoor panel, imperishable, is in the patio of the Fountain, a portion of the addition to the Glenwood Mission Inn, where the famous Italian painter is employing a unique decorative process.

Good morning, Mr. Johnson, how do you like your "Progressive" candidate for United States Senator? Your choice of Mr. Lowell seems to have had a reverse English indorsement. Whether the majority of your party put their name on the ballot for the Progressive candidate, including yourself, and we hope to see you and the Wild West of the Desert unmasking your molar and frothing at the mouth all over the State between now and November.

As by the way, Mr. Johnson, is Chet Rowell going to write the State platform again this year, or will you get some one else to perform that pleasurable task?

Since last Tuesday when the primary election was held, everybody has been laughing at the ridiculous spectacle E. Toopious made of himself. His brand of indorsement defeated nearly every candidate he picked. His pet candidate for District Attorney was so badly trounced that E. Toopious had to withdraw from the race. The majority of your party put their name on the ballot for the Progressive candidate, including yourself, and we hope to see you and the Wild West of the Desert unmasking your molar and frothing at the mouth all over the State between now and November.

As by the way, Mr. Johnson, is Chet Rowell going to write the State platform again this year, or will you get some one else to perform that pleasurable task?

In the Sixty-sixth Assembly District R. B. Benton became the Republican nominee for Assembly by reason of the fact that he is a good Republican and is known as the Boyle Boyle man.

He is a collector for an ice company and is said to know every man, woman, child and dog by their first names in the whole district.

Voters went to the polls in droves for him and many women from the election boards who the "les-man candidates" were.

The popular and man is real.

By nominating a candidate for Governor from Southern California, the Republicans went on record as in favor of establishing the political capital of the State in Los Angeles.

The fact that here in the south is more than one-fourth of the vote of the State is an additional reason why the nomination should radiate from the headwaters of the party organization here.

There is a movement within the Republican party to name the next State Chairman from Los Angeles. There is an abundance of political brains here.

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Earl's candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Jones, was also beaten to a fare-yewell. So was his candidate for Supervisor in the Third District. If the blight that Earl placed upon Mr. Dow was not sufficient to damn him, it only need to be added that Mr. Norton could not complete the job and eliminate him as a factor.

Not content with picking a non-partisan ticket for Sheriff, District Attorney and Third District Supervisor, Earl and Norton stopped out and First District Supervisor.

Earl placed upon the election of the

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others

have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Earl's candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Jones, was also beaten to a fare-yewell. So was his candidate for Supervisor in the Third District. If the blight that Earl placed upon Mr. Dow was not sufficient to damn him, it only need to be added that Mr. Norton could not complete the job and eliminate him as a factor.

Not content with picking a non-partisan ticket for Sheriff, District Attorney and Third District Supervisor, Earl and Norton stopped out and First District Supervisor.

Earl placed upon the election of the

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the

Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others

have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Earl's candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Jones, was also beaten to a fare-yewell. So was his candidate for Supervisor in the Third District. If the blight that Earl placed upon Mr. Dow was not sufficient to damn him, it only need to be added that Mr. Norton could not complete the job and eliminate him as a factor.

Not content with picking a non-partisan ticket for Sheriff, District Attorney and Third District Supervisor, Earl and Norton stopped out and First District Supervisor.

Earl placed upon the election of the

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the

Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others

have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Earl's candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Jones, was also beaten to a fare-yewell. So was his candidate for Supervisor in the Third District. If the blight that Earl placed upon Mr. Dow was not sufficient to damn him, it only need to be added that Mr. Norton could not complete the job and eliminate him as a factor.

Not content with picking a non-partisan ticket for Sheriff, District Attorney and Third District Supervisor, Earl and Norton stopped out and First District Supervisor.

Earl placed upon the election of the

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the

Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others

have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Earl's candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Jones, was also beaten to a fare-yewell. So was his candidate for Supervisor in the Third District. If the blight that Earl placed upon Mr. Dow was not sufficient to damn him, it only need to be added that Mr. Norton could not complete the job and eliminate him as a factor.

Not content with picking a non-partisan ticket for Sheriff, District Attorney and Third District Supervisor, Earl and Norton stopped out and First District Supervisor.

Earl placed upon the election of the

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the

Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others

have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Earl's candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Jones, was also beaten to a fare-yewell. So was his candidate for Supervisor in the Third District. If the blight that Earl placed upon Mr. Dow was not sufficient to damn him, it only need to be added that Mr. Norton could not complete the job and eliminate him as a factor.

Not content with picking a non-partisan ticket for Sheriff, District Attorney and Third District Supervisor, Earl and Norton stopped out and First District Supervisor.

Earl placed upon the election of the

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the

Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others

have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Earl's candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Jones, was also beaten to a fare-yewell. So was his candidate for Supervisor in the Third District. If the blight that Earl placed upon Mr. Dow was not sufficient to damn him, it only need to be added that Mr. Norton could not complete the job and eliminate him as a factor.

Not content with picking a non-partisan ticket for Sheriff, District Attorney and Third District Supervisor, Earl and Norton stopped out and First District Supervisor.

Earl placed upon the election of the

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the

Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others

have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Earl's candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Jones, was also beaten to a fare-yewell. So was his candidate for Supervisor in the Third District. If the blight that Earl placed upon Mr. Dow was not sufficient to damn him, it only need to be added that Mr. Norton could not complete the job and eliminate him as a factor.

Not content with picking a non-partisan ticket for Sheriff, District Attorney and Third District Supervisor, Earl and Norton stopped out and First District Supervisor.

Earl placed upon the election of the

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the

Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others

have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Earl's candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Jones, was also beaten to a fare-yewell. So was his candidate for Supervisor in the Third District. If the blight that Earl placed upon Mr. Dow was not sufficient to damn him, it only need to be added that Mr. Norton could not complete the job and eliminate him as a factor.

Not content with picking a non-partisan ticket for Sheriff, District Attorney and Third District Supervisor, Earl and Norton stopped out and First District Supervisor.

Earl placed upon the election of the

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the

Republican State Committee, mentioned as a possibility; is W. M. Garland, while W. M. Bowen, Fred Fairbanks, C. J. Sullivan and others

have been spoken of in this connection.

The woods are full of good material.

Want Some?
WHALE BEEF AS A NEW EDIBLE.Salmon Packers a Means of Utilizing It.Sea Captain Alleges Food Is Very Good.New Conditions Enter Into Whaling Business.

Whale beef! With the cost of living going higher and higher, especially since the commencement of European hostilities, housewives may learn what this kind of food really is. It has been regarded by sailors for generations as an edible, but has never been used much. At present whale beef is not looked on by whale-hunters as much of an asset, though the suggestion has often been made that some use be put to what is generally regarded by them as refuse.

Capt. Hans Nelson, a Norwegian whaler from the Puget Sound region, has been expounding his theory among some of the capitalists of Los Angeles since his arrival here a week or so ago from the North. In his belief the packing of whale beef can be made a profitable industry and one that will do much good for housewives across the country in helping to keep the wolf away from the door.

The whale can be packed in whale beef by the salmon canneries, which remain idle for the greater part of the year, the salmon pack lasting for but a short time.

Capt. Hans Nelson says whale beef is very good, nutritious and healthy. At the present time whales are generally taken for the oil and the bone, the meat going to waste, some ninety tons of it on each mammal. The reduction of the price of whale oil, which is now $1.50 a gallon, to about 55 cents, renders all the more important the question of utilizing the meat for food purposes.

Every spring a number of whaling ships go out from British Columbian ports to engage in hunting the whale, and can be found in fairly large numbers along the Pacific Coast to the north of Puget Sound. The changed conditions in the whale-hunting business and the style and equipment of draft employees in the industry, as compared with those of a few generations ago, are of much interest to those who have a hankering for the briny deep.

Speaking of the industry as it is today, Capt. Nelson says:

Some of the whale-carrying boats were overhauled recently in the Vancouver docks for the season's run, which I have every reason to believe, will be a good one. The bottoms of these craft are painted green instead of red, which formerly was custom. This is to prevent the whale from seeing so plainly the approach of the ship.

In general appearance, the whaler of today is a naked, ugly craft. The bows have high, wide room for a gun platform, and the stem is cut away so that it rides low, giving the screw a deep drive. The house work is iron, with a narrow navigating platform and a little steering box on the top of the forecastle.

The whale is the most interesting thing on the boat. It is a short-tubed cannon on swivel bearings, pointed with a wooden hand stock and discharged with a Krupp firing screw. The platform has a ring with grips for the gunner's feet in his harness.

The gun is loaded with an iron cross pointed with a thin shaped time shell, and with four hinged bars fastened to the shaft with rope yarn. When the harpoon is fired into the whale, the fastenings are released, the harpoon opens, and the shell explodes; the shaft of the harpoon is slotted and a ring runs in the slot; from the ring a wire line is coiled in a case on the platform and extends to a winch under the forecastle. The wire which is used to pay out and reef in the line when the whale has been harpooned and it is fighting for its life.

When the mammal is dead it is drawn alongside the ship by reeling in the line. Air is then pumped into the animal through a hole with a hollow lance nozzle, which is attached to the engine of the ship. The air causes the whale to float high out of the water and renders it easy to tow.

The blubber is then cut off in strips and the oil secured. The bone is also taken out and then the carcass is allowed to drift away, some ninety tons of good food going to the sharks and fish that should be placed on tables across the country.

DON'T BE HOG; BE REDUCTION PLANT.PIG IN PIG NO LONGER SINCE GARbage TROUBLES START HERE.

When is a hog not a hog? This is the riddle now bandied about the City Hall as a result of the troubles over the disposal of the garbage. The answer is—When it is a reduction plant.

That hogs are the machinery, which is at present reducing the city's garbage supply, is a matter of public record. But the hogs are an object to being confused with cows and wheels; they do not offer any objection so long as they get their meal.

Now, however, that they are threatening with the loss of their municipal meals as a result of arrangements better made to dispose of the garbage elsewhere, the hogs are beginning to get up a squeal, just to prove that a hog, whether he is a whole hog, or a half, or just plain pig, may be something else than pork—that he may be a reduction plant.

Twenty thousand odd reduction plants may be seen in action almost any day at Gravel Pit Station, handling the city's garbage in most primitive fashion, and then grant and squeal in approved fashion as they work.

Ergo: Hog may not always be hog, but sometimes reduction plant.

Those Who Wish to read war reports that are to be depended upon will find them in The Times day by day—full, graphic and world-circling.Chinchilla Coats Hold 1st Place for Fall
White Coats With Stripes and Checks of Black and Colors
Others of Plain Green Chinchilla

Values Up to $18.00

For whatever purpose you want a coat—for general wear, for autoing, and for evening, there is nothing smarter than the Chinchilla coats. Coats that are manly and rather swaggy in appearance, with belts and without. Made of a handsome quality cream Chinchilla striped and cross barred in black, brown, Copenhagen blue, emerald green or tango.

987

Values Up to $18.00

There are also a number of the plain emerald green Chinchilla coats that have come into so great a demand and are so hard to find. All are right up to the minute in style, and the quality you could not duplicate under $15.00 or $18.00. There are sizes for misses and small women—14 and 16; and sizes for women from 34 to 42 bust measure. The price—$9.87.

50 New Autumn Suits for $10
Actual $15.00 and $18.00 Values
Best Colors; Sizes for Misses and Women

Our suit buyer, who is in the Eastern market, shipped us by express a small lot of about fifty new Autumn Suits with instructions to feature them in a sale at $10.00. It seems a shame at the very commencement of the season to offer such thoroughly good and absolutely stylish suits at such a small price, but the advertising office is obeying orders. Our buyer says they are $15.00 and $18.00 values, but comparing them to other suits of this season's vintage they look worth $20.00. The coats are long in the back and cut high in front, caught at the waist line with velvet buttons, finished with high Medici collar, and tailored sleeves. Skirts with long Russian tunics. Made from good wool materials in such popular colors as wistaria and navy; also plain colors with pencil stripes; and some fancy checks and mixtures. Sizes 16 to 18 misses', and from 36 to 42 for women.

Basque Dresses $12.50

Every style indicates points to the Basque in dresses and you'll be surprised to see in what a variety of ways it can be treated. There are scarcely any two alike among those we are showing at $12.50. In some the basque is detached in front; some have sashes that cross in front and tie in a bow at the back—and there are numberless other little variations that mark each one as distinctive. These dresses are made of charmeuse, crepe de chine and serge in wistaria, navy, Copenhagen blue, terra cotta, Russian green and black; set off with lace, Roman striped trimmings, etc. Dresses smart or more graceful it would be hard to imagine. At a price so low as this they will be sold quickly so don't delay.

Silk Hand Bags

At Half Price Monday

Beautiful silk moire hand bags—fashionable shaped. Just a few that we have left from our higher priced lines. To clean them out quickly we offer them, Monday, at just half their regular price.

$7.50 Bags.....$3.75
$6.50 Bags.....$3.25
$5.50 Bags.....$2.75

American Embroidered Underwear

At One-Quarter to One-Third Reduction

Monday we offer at special sale a complete sample line of American embroidered underwear, made from fine soft muslin. Exquisite designs in corset covers, chemise, Princess slips, combinations, skirts and gowns. It will be a long time before there is any more French embroidered underwear brought into this country. These American embroidered goods are equal in every particular to the French and they cost considerably less. We offer this sample line at one-quarter to one-third under the regular prices. Quantities are limited so an early response is advisable.

Emb. Petticoats Emb. Gowns

Embroidered petticoats of sateen, pique, linen and muslin; fitted styles. Many of them with double panel front, and all of them prettily embroidered, yokes, high class embroidery, etc. All the following reductions for this sale:

$1.00 PETTICOATS 75c

$1.50 PETTICOATS 95c

$1.75 PETTICOATS $1.25

$2.50 PETTICOATS $1.50

$3.00 PETTICOATS $1.95

$4.00 PETTICOATS $2.25

$5.00 GOWNS FOR $95

$2.00 GOWNS FOR $1.25

$2.25 GOWNS FOR $1.50

$2.75 GOWNS FOR $1.75

$4.00 GOWNS FOR $2.25

$5.00 GOWNS FOR $2.25

Combinations

Combinations made from fine, soft muslin in a great variety of styles. All of them richly embroidered and many of them set off with French Valenciennes lace. There are also Princess slips in this lot.

$1.50 COMBINATIONS 95c

$2.00 COMBINATIONS $1.50

$2.75 COMBINATIONS $1.75

$5.00 COMBINATIONS $2.95

Gowns of fine, soft muslin in high neck, short or long sleeves. Richly embroidered, yokes, high class Valenciennes lace. There are also Princess slips in this lot.

$1.50 GOWNS FOR $95

$2.00 GOWNS FOR $1.25

$2.25 GOWNS FOR $1.50

$2.75 GOWNS FOR $1.75

$4.00 GOWNS FOR $2.25

$5.00 GOWNS FOR $2.25

Misses' Swiss ribbed cotton vests, sizes 28 to 34. High neck and long sleeves, for early Fall. 25c vests on sale Monday at just 17c each.

Misses' 25c Vests 17c

Misses' Swiss ribbed cotton vests, sizes 28 to 34. High neck and long sleeves, for early Fall. 25c vests on sale Monday at just 17c each.

Child's H'dk'fs. 10c dz.

Splendid little school handkerchiefs for the children. Neat borders in fast colors. Special Monday—10c a dozen.

Silver Vanities 79c

Worth $1.00. Special

Pretty engraved German silver vanity cases fitted with mirror, coin holder and powder compartments. Regular $1.00 values for 75c.

Plush and Velvet Shapes $1.95

Styles That Are Being Shown at $3.95

The Chic Little Turban Pictured Is $1.45

It is now and remarkably fetching. It fits the head closely, is particularly effective with the present mode of dressing the hair. Made of black velvet. You will find them generally shown at $3.50. Our special price—$1.45.

Supports for Tango Collars 31c

6 on a card, sell regularly at 31c. Ready to wear.

Shoe Laces, 3 Pairs for 1c

Tubular linen shoe laces that are 21c a pair regular. 4-4 to 6-6 lengths. 3 pairs for 1c.

New Silks and Dress Goods Surprise Low Price

Recent shipments have brought in a remarkably fine array of the new plumes, velvet and velvets for fall. Authorities predict as quite "the thing" for Fall and Winter. The handsome qualities that will be shown in capes and cloaks, 54 inches wide, we have marked $5.00—and you'll agree that the price is very reasonable for fabrics as luxurious as these.

Roman Stripes 50c

Roman stripes so much used for trimmings. Also shepherd checked suiting. Special—50c yard.

Black Serge 50c

Guaranteed all wool and 44 inches wide. A very popular style, on special sale Monday.

$1.00 Tub Silks

Striped tub silks popular. Fast colors, 36 inches wide. $1.00. Special—60c.

Monday's Offerings in Wash Goods

Surprise Low Price

25c Galatea 12½c

White galates used for middy blouses, women's and children's dresses and skirts. Regular 18c fabrics on special sale Monday at 10c a yard.

19c Rice Cloth 12½c

Imported rice cloths in figured patterns, 40 inches wide; also crepes and voiles—35c qualities specially priced at 19c a yard.

35c Rice Cloth 19c

Scotch zephyr shinghams in new plaid, checks, stripes and plain colors. 32 inches wide. 19c regularly. Sale price—12½c.

Silk Mixtures 25c

Jacquards, brocades and tussahs, also silk corded and figured patterns. Values up to 65c, on sale Monday at 25c a yard.

15c Percales 12½c

Finest quality genuine Manchester percales in light and dark colors, including black and white. 36 inches wide. 15c quality—12½c a yard.

18c Fairy Cloth 12½c

Jacquard, brocades and tussahs, also dress and women's dresses. 36 inches wide. 18c quality—12½c a yard.

Sample Lengths 10c

25c to 50c nets. 9 to 10 A.M. Monday

Huck Towels $1.25 Value. Doz. 7½c

Regulation hotel huck towels with imperfections in the border, and 18x26-inch sizes. $1.25 a dozen. 7½c a dozen. 9 to 10 a.m. 10c apiece.

12½c Galatea 7½c

Extra fine unbleached muslin, 36 inches wide; 12½c grade, 9 to 10 a.m. 7½c a yard.

10 Yds. Crepe for 50c

Crinkle crepe in plain colors and patterns for kimonos, hats, dresses, comfort coverings, 39 inches wide. 10 yards for 50c.

50c Damask 29c Yd.

Imported mercerized satin damask, full bleached. 68 and 72 inches wide. 65c and 75c grades for 39c.

Real Hair Switches Away Below Their Worth

Fifteen beautiful new designs in double satin damask—finest quality and extra heavy weight. 72 inches wide. Large size dinner napkins to match sell for $3.39 a dozen.

65c and 75c Damask 39c $1.25 Satin Damask 85c

Irish and German linen satin damask, smooth satin finish. 68 and 72 inches wide. $1.25 grade for 85c.

50c Damask 29c Yd.

Mercerized table damask, heavy weight and full bleached. 60 inches wide. 50c grade, 9 to 10 a.m. 29c a yard.

50c Damask 29c Yd.

Mercerized table damask, heavy weight and full bleached. 60 inches wide. 50c grade, 9 to 10 a.m. 29c a yard.

50c Damask 29c Yd.

Mercerized table damask, heavy weight and full bleached. 60 inches wide. 50c grade, 9 to 10 a.m. 29c a yard.

50c Damask 29c Yd.

Mercerized table damask, heavy weight and full bleached. 6

Weller
GOOD COFFEE11-343-345 BROADWAY
HEART OF THE SHOPPING DISTRICT.Pounds $1.00
Coffee $1.00
The housewives of Los Angeles have to buy three pounds of our 40¢ coffee. A very superior grade of coffee that is delicious—try it at the demonstration on the main floor. With each purchase we include 50 AMERICAN TRADE POUNDS.Notion Specials many small wares of the Notion Counter MUST HAVE that add so much to the living. The economical woman will take advantage of the savings quoted here. A very superior grade of coffee that is delicious—try it at the demonstration on the main floor. With each purchase we include 50 AMERICAN TRADE POUNDS.

Thread at 2½¢ a Spool soda regularly at 5¢. Black, white, special—2½¢ Monday.

Cards of Hooks & Eyes 2½¢

soda regularly at 5¢. Black and white. Two doz.

Papers of Common Pins 5¢ to the paper. Pins with good points. Monday, 4 papers for 5¢.

on Dress Fasteners 5¢ Cd.

prefer them to the ordinary ones or bronze. 10c for 5¢.

ols Coat's Darning Cotton 5¢

soda regularly at 5¢. Black, white, Monday, 1 spool, 5¢.

osalind Shirtwaist Belts 10¢ belt and skirt supporters, very satisfactory to any size. 10c.

for Tango Collars 3 1/2¢

soda regularly at 5¢. Black and white. Two doz.

hoe Laces, 3 Pairs for 5¢

in shoe laces that are 2½¢ a pair regular.

3 pairs for 5¢.

Pictured Is $1.40

in, in par-

the hair. Made Our

$2.50.

$1.95

at $3.95

most compre-

narrow brim:

soda and velvete

e asking $1.95

er $1.00

the price usually asked—if you want that are very popular for general wear

Goods Surprisingly

Low Prices

plushes, velvet and velveteen that Fab house qualities that will be demonstrated that the price is very reasonable

Black Serge 50¢

Guaranteed all wool black serge

44 inches wide. A very good quality.

a special sale Monday—

$1.00 Tub Silk 69¢

Striped tub silk popular for wear.

Fast colors. 36 inches wide. $1.00.

Special—69¢.

Wash Goods

25 Kiddie Cloth 11¢

Devonshire cloth and cloth, ideal for children's wear.

It is absolutely sun and rain

30 inches wide. 15c yard.

18c Galatea 12½¢

Splendid wear-resisting material

the Hercules brand, to checks and plain colors.

Regular. Sale price—12½¢ per yard.

18c Fairy Cloth 12½¢

Fairy cloth—desirable for men's wear and women's dresses. Absolutely inden-value for 12½¢ a yard.

sample Lengths 10½¢ to 50c Nets . . .

50c to 10 A.M. Monday

Hundreds of sample pieces of fine nets, measure about 30 inches in a yard. 10c apiece.

10 Yds. Crepe for 55¢

Splendid crepe in plain colors and for kimono, house dresses and comfort coverings. 30 inches wide.

9 to 10 a.m., 10c apiece.

12½c Muslin 7½c Yd.

Fine unbleached muslin. 25 inches wide; 12½c grade, 9 to 10 a.m. Muslin value for 7½c a yard.

7½c Galatea 7½c Yd.

Muslin in striped, checks and plain colors. Good weight. Regular 18c per yard. 9 to 10 a.m. The sale from 9 to 10 a.m. The

$1.50 Parasols 69¢

Regular $1.00 and $1.50 from in combination colors. 9 to 10 a.m. 69¢.

Weller's Majestic

The Most Thrilling Scenes Ever Caught by the Camera.

Shown for the First Time Now in

NEW SERIES 1914 PAUL J. RAINY'S

AFRICAN HUNT PICTURES

DAILY—MATINEES AT 1 P.M. AND 2 P.M. 15 AND 25 CENTS.

AT 8:30 P.M. ALL SEATS RESERVED. 15c, 25c and 35c. ENGAGE-

THE RAINY HUNT PICTURES CLOSER THURSDAY NIGHT, SEPT. 5.

Weller
GOOD COFFEE

345-343-345

11-343-345

BROADWAY, NEAR

NINTH STREET.

Main Street, Near Sixth St.

Mat. Today, Thursday, Sat.

Mat. This Afternoon—One of the Funniest Plays Ever Written.

The Burbank Company Offers the Laugh-Producing Farce

"Your Neighbor's Wife"

A Farce Comedy in Three Acts by Elmer Harris.

BURLINBURG PRICES: Nights, 15, 25 and 35 cents. Matinees, 15c and 25c.

SUNDAY MORNING.

Dramatic Reviews.

(Continued from First Page.)

Number 7, providing Manager can make the necessary arrangements.

Players are at present acting at the Columbia Theatre, in San Francisco. The reporter does not give the company name, but it is to be announced next week.

"The House Next Door," is scheduled to open on September 7, provided the stage is made ready for production at that time.

"Your Neighbor's Wife," by Elmer

Shattuck, is the offering billed at the Orpheum for the coming week, beginning on the 10th.

The play is one of the funniest pieces, more laugh-producing situations than any play that has been on the local stage for several years.

The action takes place at Fruit-valle, an suburb of San Francisco.

Twin houses with gardens and lawns are located by the author.

One husband leads a simple life, the other hank-ers the night life, and each man is opposite from those of his husband.

The husbands enter into an agreement to exchange wives, and the husbands

have a happy tale.

Stanley will play one of the husbands, and Walter Catlett will play the other.

Selma Pealey will take the part of Gertrude, who loves the wife of her husband.

Selma Pealey will act for "Your Neighbor's Wife."

James Corrigan, William

George Rand, Vivian Bryson

John Coker, all of whom, it is believed, are well suited to their roles.

Bertha Kalich, noted eminent actress, will head the bill at Orpheum during the coming week.

The artist on the American stage has a higher place than in particular countries.

Bertha Kalich will appear in

"Marie's Millions,"

in which it is said she has an admirable vehicle for her brilliant talents.

The play depicts Spanish and German scenes, and is a picture of life.

The fire

is the story of a Spanish wooing,

and the students turn to hatred and hatred are said to be admirably portrayed in the drama, and admirably por-

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY TALKS HEART TOPICS

Summer Fibers.
She who trifles with all
Is less likely to fall
Than she who trifles with one,
Never wedding, ever weeding.
Still a love-lorn heart pursuing,
Know you not the wrong you're doing?

In my cheeks' pale hue,
All my life with sorrow stricken
Woe—or cease to woe?

It is strange how frivilous we are—where the boy flirts with the flowers and the gentle breeze, the leaves and the young green grass—has its effect upon human beings.

The kindly old gentleman wife and daughters are off pleasure looks admiringly on the pretty girls on, train or boat who sit by, looking pityingly at him in his black suit and mourning tie, which betoken the loss of his aged mother. He has a son of them, a young widow, who is in constant trouble, money being a worry. His heart is filled with sympathy.
He notices that, although very young, she wears widow's weeds.

The staid old gentleman sits aloof and professes his grief, and tries to find another date.

As there are some others in the one beside him, he is obliged to take that one. It never occurs to him that, dear, no! But when the pretty young creature asks for information of interest, he is pinned to the spot of his knowledge.

He is known to a good many people whom he does not know. There are a few more really about him who are connected with his business. When his better half receives a letter from her old papa, instead of plodding away to make money for them in his business, is taking walks without them over the river, drinking with pretty girls in the city in a fifty and a half.
It takes many a solemn oath on his part to swear himself clear of her picture that even the best of men are apt to fall when wily girls go to the country.

When she persists in accosting him of sitting, across old papa is soon into retorting: "You tell me of the man who wears the chalk road better. I do, when I am not the one beside him. I am not able to get along as best I can, and I'll tell you of those who don't act so strictly." Jealous wives should take hubby along with them on summer excursions. If he cannot have the time off, then let him go to the barber's side, and make the hair days comfortable for him. Men throw upon their own resources for contentment in summer time, but while under her and the sun, to go to the beach hours are best of course, it is useless to point out to young girls the folly of making chance acquaintance.
Nice girls wouldn't lend themselves anything of the sort.

MISS LIBBEY'S REPLIES TO YOUR LETTERS.

Address your letters to Miss Libby,
No. 214 President street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Correct name and address must be given to insure attention—out in print.

A Family of Girls.

Dear Miss Libby: Do you think it is a hardship to have a family of six single daughters, every one of them refusing to work to help the expenses? I would like to know if we women are of much use to the world. My husband has a small income, and it is very hard to meet our bills. I am writing all to suggest to you that you are a good subject for me to write about.
My girls are all very well and contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of the work without the expenses. I am sure they should be eager for the time
when they can put their hands to work. I am sure they are of much
use to the world. My girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

This mother's letter needs
to be in to convince the
doubters of the value of
the work without the expenses. I am sure
they should be eager for the time
when they can put their
hands to work. I am sure
they are of much
use to the world. My
girls are all very well and
contented, since there is something
to think? MRS. HANNAH.

500-505 Fifth Ave.
New York.No. 7 Rue Bergere, Paris."The House of Authentic Styles"

ANNOUNCES

Direct Importations and Adaptations thereof—Indicating the True Trend of Fashion for the Ensuing Season.

Suits Gowns Wraps
Frocks Blouses

Unquestionably the cleverest ideas from the entire ensemble of styles created by the famous couturiers of Paris

We are one of the very few fortunate houses in America to receive direct, foreign importations for the Fall Season 1914-15. Practically all of the selections made abroad were received on the S. S. Vat-erland, sailing July 29, and the S. S. Olympia, August 5. Of these beautiful creations none will be reserved for a formal opening.

In view of the probable prevention of further importations, immediate selection is advisable.

Our regular stocks of popular priced garments are already replete with unmatchable values.

the Unique 725
Broadway
ESTABLISHED 1892
Cloak and Suit House

Paris
6 Cite Rougement

TERRELL IMPORTER

749 South Broadway 751

We Are Now Showing a Distinctive Line of Dresses

for

Early Fall Wear

in

Serges, Combinations of Serge and Satin and Gabardines

Prices Ranging From

$2750 to $4750

ART AND ARTISTS.

ANTONY ANDERSON.

On the Elgin Marbles.
My spirit is too weak; mortality Weighs heavily on me like unwilling sleep.
And each imagined pinnacle and steep Or gaudy hardship tells me I must die.
Like a sick eagle looking at the sky.
Let's a gentle luxury to weep,
That I have not the cloudy winds to let loose.
Fresh for the opening of the morn-ing's eye.
Such dim-concealed glories of the brain
Bring round the heart an indescribable feud:
So do these wonders a most dizzy pain,
That mingles Grecian grandeur with the rude Wasting of old Time—with a hollow main.
A sun, a shadow of a magnitude.
—[John Keats.]

Thumb-box Sketches.

An exhibition of one hundred and fifty thumb-box sketches was the original intention at Royar's gallery. No. 744 South Hill Street. But about fifty sketches came streaming in after the catalogue was printed, so that now the walls hold no less than two hundred sketches "by famous local artists."

These last phrase is not mine. It appears on the outside of the catalogue. I myself do not believe that the eighty painters represented in the exhibition are all famous—yet. What the future has in store for them I dare say is of little consequence. The possibility that some of those not already famous may become so—some of them, not all. Meanwhile, let us rejoice that there really are a few famous artists in Los Angeles, and women with solid, genuine reputations as artists. I will not declare because the near-famous ones might not like it.

Royer's call for thumb-box sketches was received with unanimity and an enthusiasm little short of astonishing. What a crew of painters there must be in Los Angeles. Another astonishingly gratifying thing was the high quality of painting shown in the sketches submitted. Undoubtedly our painters are fast learning how to paint. This is not saying that there are no bad things in the collection, poor taste, poor execution, for they are sufficiently numerous to taint our self-satisfaction with a becoming modesty. Let us forget them, merely admiring their perpetrators to take thought and sin no more. Let the painter who has been experimenting with the art of painting.

Now there are two hundred canvases all thumb-box sketches. By no means. Many of them are pictures, "haltered" to the very limit of endurance, and not a few of them are far too big for any thumb-box that a human thumb could carry. 'Twas ever thus, and ever will be, I suppose, that it appears that the average thumb-box can't be warped. It is an art dealer called a vase a tessup, you would consider him non compos mentis—why shouldn't the same harsh law apply to the art of thumb-box sketching? We are. Favorites of the gods on high Olympus, the artist may call anything he paints anything he likes, and we must grit and bear it. Therefore—which was to be proved—there are pictures, studies, sketches, etc., in this collection of thumb-box sketches.

I must trust artists of all classes with the same black brush. The famous as well as the unfamiliar are drawn with all vigor's side, on the side of the picture. The fact is, some painters don't know how to make a sketch, while many sketchers don't know how to make a picture. Both classes are to be found, and the art of the professional sketcher is positively deplorable—until it comes to an exhibition of thumb-box sketches, when he may perk up and be happy.

This is the art of Royar's, then, in very interesting, for various reasons, some of which I have dwelt upon, some of which you will discover for yourselves. Extremely good things have check-by-judge with horrible bad ones, and the whole is a mixed mess. There are far more numerous than the bad.

Here is an opportunity for lovers of art to obtain at small cost excellent sketches by their favorite painters, and opportunity for the modish art purist should not let pass by. After all, the true sketch is the first inspiration of the artist, the first impression that came to him when a scene "got him," and for this reason it is art's specialty, a window of a and a charm that may be lacking in the more deliberate easel picture.

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both he and I were in a serious illness when we accidentally met on Broadway. However, I managed to get him from me some little account of what he and some of his talented pupils have been doing on the Southern California buildings of the Pacific Coast. Encouraging through the past few months, McBurney requested me to run down to San Diego and "see for myself," and as any other country in the world. In

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both he and I were

in a serious illness when we accidentally met on Broadway. However, I managed to get him from me some little account of what he and some of his talented pupils have been doing

on the Southern California buildings of the Pacific Coast. Encouraging through the past few months,

McBurney requested me to run down

to San Diego and "see for myself,"

and as any other country in the world. In

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both he and I were

in a serious illness when we accidentally met on Broadway. However, I managed to get him from me some

little account of what he and some of his talented pupils have been doing

on the Southern California build-

ings of the Pacific Coast. Encouraging through the past few months,

McBurney requested me to run down

to San Diego and "see for myself,"

and as any other country in the world. In

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both he and I were

in a serious illness when we accidentally met on Broadway. However, I managed to get him from me some

little account of what he and some of his talented pupils have been doing

on the Southern California build-

ings of the Pacific Coast. Encouraging through the past few months,

McBurney requested me to run down

to San Diego and "see for myself,"

and as any other country in the world. In

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both he and I were

in a serious illness when we accidentally met on Broadway. However, I managed to get him from me some

little account of what he and some of his talented pupils have been doing

on the Southern California build-

ings of the Pacific Coast. Encouraging through the past few months,

McBurney requested me to run down

to San Diego and "see for myself,"

and as any other country in the world. In

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both he and I were

in a serious illness when we accidentally met on Broadway. However, I managed to get him from me some

little account of what he and some of his talented pupils have been doing

on the Southern California build-

ings of the Pacific Coast. Encouraging through the past few months,

McBurney requested me to run down

to San Diego and "see for myself,"

and as any other country in the world. In

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both he and I were

in a serious illness when we accidentally met on Broadway. However, I managed to get him from me some

little account of what he and some of his talented pupils have been doing

on the Southern California build-

ings of the Pacific Coast. Encouraging through the past few months,

McBurney requested me to run down

to San Diego and "see for myself,"

and as any other country in the world. In

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both he and I were

in a serious illness when we accidentally met on Broadway. However, I managed to get him from me some

little account of what he and some of his talented pupils have been doing

on the Southern California build-

ings of the Pacific Coast. Encouraging through the past few months,

McBurney requested me to run down

to San Diego and "see for myself,"

and as any other country in the world. In

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both he and I were

in a serious illness when we accidentally met on Broadway. However, I managed to get him from me some

little account of what he and some of his talented pupils have been doing

on the Southern California build-

ings of the Pacific Coast. Encouraging through the past few months,

McBurney requested me to run down

to San Diego and "see for myself,"

and as any other country in the world. In

McBurney's Work in San Diego.

James E. McBurney was in town a few days ago, but both

The Unusual Offering of All Our High Grade Furniture at Special Reductions Will Be Continued This Week

—So many lovers of fine homes have been away upon summer vacations that we have decided to continue for a time longer this exceptional sale of fine furniture, that these returning vacationists might also have an opportunity to participate in its advantages. Therefore, these, and all others who have not yet availed themselves of this opportunity should do so while assortments are at their best. In this unusual event we offer

All High Class Dining Room Furniture
All High Class Bed Room Furniture
All High Class Mission Furniture
All Fine Upholstered and High Class English Living Room Furniture

Specially Reduced!

The Element of Comfort: the Charm of Beauty;

—these are the essentials to successful home-furnishing!

—This Special Offering of Fine and Beautiful Furniture Will Help You to Put Comfort and Beauty In YOUR Home

Your Furniture Influences Your State of Mind Surround Yourself With Good Influences in the Way of GOOD FURNITURE!

Make your home a personal home, alive with your own individuality. No need for costly furniture; you will find, at Barker Bros. furniture which is extremely beautiful and is yet moderately priced.

—Take Advantage of This Opportunity to Buy GOOD Furniture at Lessened Cost!

Extraordinary Offering of Our Entire Line—65 Patterns—of Seamless Tapestry Brussels Rugs 8 ft. 3 in. by 10 ft. 6 in., and 9x12 ft.
For One Day—Mon. Only

—The $13.50 and $16.50 Qualities at $11.75 —The $16.50 and $18.50 Qualities at $13.75

Barker Bros. Convenient Terms —Inviting —Liberal —Satisfactory

—Our convenient Credit System offers great advantages to those who prefer to avail themselves of extended payments. Our plan includes both open charge and contract accounts. The conveniences of our Credit System are extended to those who take advantage of this week's special offering of fine furniture.

To Demonstrate that Barker Bros. Not Only Sell the Best Iron Beds, But Also Offer Best Values as Well!

—This splendid, finest quality Vernis Martin Finish Iron Bed in full size—a very beautiful and pleasing pattern; posts of continuous tubing, beautifully shaped over head and foot; very refined and artistic bed, both as to design and finish; we consider these beds excellent values at $8.50, but as an evidence of Barker Bros. leadership in the iron bed line, we shall offer, as long as they last

100 of these fine beds—Limit $5.85 two to a customer, at

—Exceptional Values in Fumed Oak Rockers and Chairs—a variety of styles, specially priced—a timely and fortunate offering combining merit and economy.

Genuine Cedar Rocker—as shown at right. A popular rustic porch rocker; arm and back have padded, curved, curved arm supports of rustic cedar; a special value. $3.95
Cane Seat and Back Rocker—as shown above on left. Ideal for bungalow use; choices of fumed oak or mahogany; solid; seat and back of straight, solid cane; exceptionally well braced and strongly made; an especially good value. $4.75
Fumed Oak Arm Rocker—shown above in center. Spring seat, upholstered with genuine Spanish leather; comfortable curved back; regular $11.95; special $7.75
Arm Chair to match, at same price, nothing to match above please; regular $11.95; special $7.75
Fumed Oak Arm Chair—shown above; choices of fumed oak or mahogany; solid; seat and back of straight, solid cane; exceptionally well braced and strongly made; an especially good value. $14.00
Fumed Oak Arm Chair—Auto seat; upholstered in genuine Spanish leather; comfortable curved back; regular $11.95; special $7.75
Fumed Oak Arm Chair—Auto seat; upholstered in genuine Spanish leather; choices of fumed oak or mahogany; solid; seat and back of straight, solid cane; exceptionally well braced and strongly made; an especially good value. $28.50

Also a Number of Pieces of Chinese Grass Furniture at 20% Reduction

We Recommend the Famous Vulcan and Acorn Ranges —Famous for High Quality
—a Little Ahead of Others in Improvement and Efficiency Undisputed Fuel Economizers
—and Withal, as Low, or Lower in Price, than any other Reliable Make!

Vulcan Gas Range—three burner style; cast iron top; set high from floor; good size oven; a gasoline connected; regular $11.50
Vulcan Hot Plates—large and roomy; well finished; entirely nickelated; adjustable air mixer; three burner style; regular $5.75, at $4.30; two burner style; regular $4.00, at $3.00; one burner style; regular $2.40, at $1.80
Gas Range—cabinet style with elevated oven; regular $11.95; but includes a large white enamel lined fire and broiler pan, making surface and door panels also of white enamel; special burner in oven; regular $35.00; special connected, at $31.50

Leading Piano and Phonograph Dealers.
Largest Western Dealers in Furniture for Office Use, Filing Devices, Supplies, Etc.

716 to 738 S. BROADWAY

Vacuum Cleaner Is One of

Most Important Helps in Any Household—a Modern Blessing!
Modern Necessity! Best kinds will be Found at Barker Bros.

There Are Also Other Fine Cleaners and Polishes, for Floors and Woodwork Necessary as the Vacuum Cleaner!
75¢

Luxurious Carriages for the Babies!
—the Famous Sturgis and Other Popular Makes—and this Week Some Special Offerings

You Live Out-of-Town
85¢

Complete Home Outfitters
the House of Home-Furnishing Helpful—the Store of Efficient Service.
16 to 738 S. BROADWAY

A Refrigerator Opportunity!
—the Best Refrigerators in the World

THE FAMOUS

—Leonard Polar King
—Leonard One-Piece Porcelain Lined

These refrigerators—a make known from coast to coast and Canada to Mexico—are generally recognized as the most scientific, most sanitary, most economical refrigerators sold in America today. During the special sale this week every refrigerator in our extensive line will be specially reduced—more than twenty patterns and sizes of the famous Leonard Cleanable styles with the one-piece-porcelain lined provision chambers, ranging from $17.50 to $170.00—also more than a score of patterns and sizes in the popular Leonard Polar King refrigerators with white enamel and galvanized steel linings, and priced regularly from $8.00 to $30.00—every style, every size without exception SPECIALLY REDUCED!

This sale of good refrigerators will prove of interest to a good many homes.

One of the important offerings in this sale is the refrigerator illustrated here; hardwood case; round corners; golden oak finish; six walls; water-proof insulation; solid brass locks and hinges; galvanized steel lining; ice capacity 40 pounds. Regular price $10.00; in this sale

$5.95

Visit Barker Bros. Special Bargain Department—6th Floor

Those who wish to increase the buying power of their home-furnishing funds should not fail to visit this recently opened Bargain Furniture Section. We devote one entire floor in our Main North Building to this department, and have assembled hundreds of special bargains in worthy and handsome furniture—for living-room, dining-room, bedroom, etc.

Nearly 1000 Articles—Every One a Bargain!

Take Advantage of the Splendid Values in Chinaware, Glassware and Household Wares at Barker Bros.

Dinnerware—American Semi-Porcelain—a particularly attractive oriental design. Service for 12, regular $26.15, special at $20.00. Service for 6, regular $14.45, special at $11.25. $11.25

Dinnerware—English Semi-Porcelain—fine quality; pretty conventional designs; cottage set; regular $12.00; special at $7.75. $7.75

Dinnerware—Haviland China; good green conventional design, with gold band edge; 55-piece set, regular $46.00; special at $34.50. $34.50

Gray Enamelware—good quality; the best wearing kind; specially priced as follows:

Tea and Coffee Pots regular 50c, special, each 25c
Sauce Pots, regular 35c, special, each 25c
Sauce Pans, regular 25c, special, each 15c
Frying Pans, regular 30c, special, each 20c
Jelly Cake Pans, regular 15c, special, each 10c
16-qt. Preserving Kettles, reg. $1.25, spec. each 75c Covered Buckets, regular 25c, special, each 15c

Grass Sheets; best quality steel; regular $1.15; special 95c Woolen Paper; good quality; four pieces, regular 25c, special 25c
Self-Wringing Mop; no need to put hands in water; regular 50c; special 75c

Gas Range—cabinet style with elevated oven; regular $11.95; but includes a large white enamel lined fire and broiler pan, making surface and door panels also of white enamel; special burner in oven; regular $35.00; special connected, at $31.50

Hamburger's
BROADWAY EIGHTH AND HILL STREETS
SUNSET BDWY. 1168 — HOME 10063

Sale of Rose Bushes 7½c

—Another of those great underprice sales of rose bushes for which Hamburger's is famous. All the bushes are of best varieties and are in splendid growing condition.

—Included are such celebrated kinds as Standard, Prima Donna, Radiance, Adrienne, Grasse au Tapis, My Maryland, Lady Ursula, Richmond, Natalie Boettner, Lady Alice Stanley, American Beauty, Clara Watson, Mona, P. Anvedo, Mrs. Herbert Stephen, Mad. Melaine Soupert and others.

(Hamburger's—Main Floor)

Redingote SUITS at $35.00

—Broadcloth wool poplin, gaberdine, serge and novelty materials in fashionable shades and black.

100 New Fall Suits at Only $25

—In the 12 styles to be included the very best fashions are represented. Hand-some models of chiffon broadcloth, poplin and serge in all colors. Wonder values, which will convince you that to buy your suit now will be an economy as well as an early delight.

Coats, $25.00

—A special showing of models in bengaline, broadcloth and suiting—all just received. Very smart they are—and wonderfully low priced at $25.00. Other Coats up to $125.00.

Imported Coats, $15

—Only $15.00. German-made coats of heavy, double-faced minkwool. Motor styles with raglan sleeves, deep square back, etc. Colors, good book—just $15.00.

Basque Dresses, $25.00

—Of silk and serge, charmeuse and poplin.

—Only the art of a Parisian designer could put into a model the combined lines of the Victoria Basque, the Roman tunic and the plain slip undershirt and make it the successful creation from which these charming dresses are copied. $25.00 seems an incomparably low price for them you will say!

110 Dresses, Special $19.75

—One models of serge and later satin in the new basque and long waist styles. A special group secured for Monday—and low priced as an advance autumn feature.

(Hamburger's—Apparel Sales—Second Floor)

Basement Store

Silk Dresses, $5.95

—Even though the fall season is not yet opened the one feminine thought is for something new, different-and-dainty to wear—and leading around, Hamburger's has secured some of the prettiest silk poplin-and-mesoline silk dresses in advance fall models.

—As to style—the illustrations speak for themselves. As to value—think of getting newest silk frocks for $5.95! Colors—navy blue, light blue, black and white—sizes 16 to 44.

Newest Fall Dresses $13.75

—Of silk or serge, every one new from its wrappings; every one adapted to any informal occasion that late Summer or early Fall brings to the woman at seashore, mountains, or city home.

—Each dress with the newest style touches such as you would expect on much higher-priced frocks. The colors are navy blue and black; the sizes 16 to 44.

3 Pairs Silk-Boot Stockings $1.00

American 7c Prints 5c

—"Economies" of the lines with well-made, imperceptible lines; newest shades; reinforced at all wearing points.

48c Satin 19c 19 Inches Wide

—A "chain-up" of a few attractive patterns of figured satin; in brown, tan, navy or light blue.

Printed Voiles 12c 1000 Yds. 18c Lines

—One thousand yards of a fine sheer quality in dainty figured designs on white grounds.

(Basement Store)

$18.50 Rugs 9x11 Feet $13.50

—Serviceable velvet rugs in artistic Oriental or floral designs. A clearance of 24 rugs underpriced for Monday. Order early.

Corduroy Hats 79c Brown, Navy, White

—Jaunty, comfortable, soft corduroy hats with stitched brim that can be adjusted most becomingly.

"Anita" Pure Toilet Preparations

—If I could only look presentable once more! That's what every cosmetician is thinking—for freckles and tan and sunburn are certainly shocks to one's vanity. "Anita" preparations will remove them all—easily, quickly.

Anita Cream, 40c—will positively remove tan, sunburn, freckles and other skin discolorations.

Anita Face Powder, 45c—is made from the purest and best ingredients—all shades.

Majestic Massage Cream, 50c—is delightful and refreshing. Men also like it after shaving.

May Blossom Cream, 25c—a non-greasy vanishing cream which makes the skin soft, white and beautiful.

Anita Rose Tint Rouge, 25c—will give to the complexion Nature's natural tint.

Anita Peroxide Tooth Paste, 25c—a large tube containing a most beneficial dentifrice for the mouth, teeth and gums.

(Hamburger's—Second Floor)

The "Anita" System of Beauty Culture!

—Back from vacation—tan and freckles a-plenty, perhaps some blotches and a rough skin. Have we guessed it? The "Anita" Pure Facial washage at $1.00 will put you in condition to smile and be happy again over the possession of a good complexion.

(Hamburger's—Second Floor)

Trunks, $15.95

—A clearance of just 24 trunks—superior as to style, quality and durability—at $15.95 each instead of a higher price that you'd naturally expect to pay.

—Included are famous makes of dress trunks, steamer trunks, men's three-quarter trunks and steamer wardrobe trunks, in various practical sizes.

—Just the kinds for traveling or for the boy or girl going away to school or college.

(Hamburger's—Second Floor)

Initial Stationery, 25c

—It seems as if we can not get enough of this handsome new stationery, it sells so rapidly.

—White embossed on gray in any initial desired. Your choice of box containing paper and envelopes, or box of correspondence cards and envelopes—25c.

Writing Paper, 12½c—the 100 sheets—our special Linen Fabric.

Playing Cards, 10c—a fine enameled pack.

(Stationery Dept.—Main Floor)

Home Sewing

—In planning this home sewing week, the Great White Store has had the co-operation of the very best manufacturers of Europe and America—for we've planned it months ahead. In every item of the advertisement is shown an expert knowledge of women's needs. Everything necessary is listed—and at prices which spell economy.

—Beginning with the little must-haves for the workbasket, the patterns, materials, trimmings—even the machine with which to make the garments desired—all are here! Read!

Materials & Trimmings for Fall Undermuslins

—Prices were never more enticing! Buy now for the garments you must make for yourself and children—the savings will be well worth while.

35c White Crepe, 19c

—Plain white crepe—also fancy effects in patterns especially pretty for dainty undermuslins; 25 to 36-inch widths tomorrow at 19c instead of 35c the yard.

$1.25 Nainsook and Longcloth $1.00

—Just 100 bolts, 10 and 12-yard lengths, to sell at $1.00 in this sale—fine quality; 36 inches wide.

(Hamburger's—Main Floor)

Embroideries at 75c

—Embroideries of organdie and Swiss in 27-inch widths, dainty bandings and pretty edges which you'd expect to find marked $1.00.

—At 35c and 50c—real Spanish embroideries noted for the delicate screen-like, filigree effect in their patterns; 4 to 13-inch widths.

Embroidery Edges at 15c

—Dozens of pretty patterns for trimming children's school clothes and undermuslins; 4 to 18-inch widths, which sell usually for 25c and 35c the yard.

Lingerie Laces at 5c yard

—Valenciennes edges, insertions, beading and beading edges in ½ to 1½-inch widths—many matched patterns for the yard—think of it.

Val. Laces at 59c a bolt

—You'll use bolt after bolt before the Autumn sewing is finished—save on what you need from this special lot of 15-yard bolts of French and German vala, in ½ to 1½-inch widths, at 59c a bolt.

Shadow Lace Edges, 25c

—Now! and very pretty. Large floral designs in many choice patterns; full 15 inches wide—25c the yard.

(Hamburger's—Main Floor)

Silk, Wool, Cottonrics for

Pretty, Practical Fabrics for School Dresses

15c to 25c Ratynette 12½c to 15c Gingham 10½c

—Ratines also, odds and ends from broken lines—but in a color range that is complete. In gingham, the latest plaid, stripes, checks and colors. Something saved on every yard at 10½c tomorrow.

35c Empress Crepes, 25c

—While this is a clearaway price, it's on a sensible quality that will make dainty school and summer-end dresses. Pretty patterns, too, on light and dark tinted grounds—yard wide.

Imported French Chiffon, 25c—in six delicate patterns; 33 inches wide and exceptional at this price!

25c White Pique, 18c

—The weave ideal for suits or skirts. This is a sensible quality that's used much for smart neckwear and other dress accessories. A wonder economy at 18c the yard.

35c White Ratine; 36 ins.—25c

75c White Ratine; 36 ins.—50c

"Hydegrade" Galates, 18c—the fabric which is unequalled for hard service; many patterns.

15c Shepherd Ch'ks, 12½c

—A new shipment in three different size checks; the quality which wears so well!

Zephyr Gingham, 18c—it's unusually fine

—this 25c weave, and the patterns are especially attractive.

(Hamburger's—Aisle of Cottons)—Main Floor)

$1 Wool Storm Serge, 85c

—"Storm serge"—it stands for quality, for good appearance, for long service. This at 85c is in the 46-inch width and comprises a good color line for school dresses and suits as well as staple shades for women's tailored suits. Wonderful at 85c yard.

65c Wool Challies at 49c

—The all-wool weave that will wash like linens. Pretty figured and floral designs—27-inch width.

Novelty Plaids at $1.00 yard

—Without exactly knowing why, one invariably turns for a second to look at the girl who wears a plaid dress—it's so cheery and so pretty. This quality is unusual, too—and in the 40-inch width.

Shepherd Checks, $1.00—if it's to be a suit or dress of black-and-white this 85c quality will be most satisfactory. It will wear like iron—and is always fashionable—54-inch width.

(Hamburger's—Dress Goods Dept.—Main Floor)

$1.25 Poplins Only 89c

—Silk-and-wool; rich and durable. Selling in our Dress Goods Department regularly for $1.25—a wonder value at 89c—a variety of colors; 45-inch width.

$1.00 Crepes at $1.00 yd.

—In silk-and-wool or all-wool; rich Canvass and ripple crepes reprinted for Home Sewing Week to $1.00 the yard.

Chiffon Broadcloth, $1.50—All-wool with lustrous finish; sponged and shrunk. All wanted colors. Other grades at $2.00 and $2.50—54-inch width.

(Hamburger's—Dress Goods Dept.—Main Floor)

75c Linen $1.00

—Linen for the home, for the garden, for the lawn. Many shirt or suit of

—Very inexpensive.

50c Linen $1.00

—Linen for the home, for the garden, for the lawn. Many shirt or suit of

—Very inexpensive.

50c Linen $1.00

—Linen for the home, for the garden, for the lawn. Many shirt or suit of

—Very inexpensive.

50c Linen $1.00

—Linen for the home, for the garden, for the lawn. Many shirt or suit of

—Very inexpensive.

50c Linen $1.00

—Linen for the home, for the garden, for the lawn. Many shirt or suit of

—Very inexpensive.

50c Linen $1.00

ing WR!

A New Event!

School Shoes!

"Just-rite" Dress Forms at $2.95

The "Angeline" — an aristocrat among the full length dress forms—correct in proportion, covered with black jersey cloth and complete with wire skirt and extension rod. A full range of sizes, from 1 to 12, the price $2.95.

Regal Sewing Machines, $22.50

—Worth $45.00 by the usual agency standards, only $22.50 by the Hamburger low-price standards. And purchasable, to our easy Club. Plan Way—first payment $2.00, then $1.00 monthly.

—includes dress form, style, pattern book, oak cabinet and full set of attachments.

Notions and Needs

Dresses have to be made—all sorts and sizes and sewing things have to be had—every woman needs a full range of notions. The Hamburger sale brings all the dependable kinds at world-wide prices.

Silks and Cotton Needles and Pins

—Threads of the better kinds and best kind, including sharps, milliners, embroidery and self-threading needles, and other paper or bulk.

8 spools Hall's Glazed Cotton, in black, white

Cordial or Carlton Clevier Silk

Needles, size 4 and 5, one dozen, lace and bone lace priced at 25c.

250-yard Spools of Congress Sewing Thread, milliners, crewel and embroidery—special.

Kerr's Lesser Twist, 300-yard Spool, two spools tomorrow for 10c.

Uncle John's Linen-finish Thread, 100 yards, a variety of sizes, C. C. and H. C. each at 5c.

sewing on buttons. Spool for 5c.

Tapes, Braids, Bindings

—For joining, binding or finishing—well made and guaranteed dress shields—perfect for trimming they're equally suitable for braid, lace and satin.

15c Fancy Washable Trimming

Braids, braid

Hemstitched Seaming, a dainty braid, a full yard in the sale.

4-yard Bolt Best English Taffeta, 1/4 to 1 inch width, bolt for 10c.

Dress Shields

—A perfect-looking garment—garment with a pair for 10c.

Black and White Lawn Hemstitch

Tape, a yard underprice at 10c.

Weighted Tape in Black and White

Notion Sale special, yard

Hooks and Eyes and Fastenings and Pleatings

—Non-rustable; suitable for the heaviest fall suit and coat.

—The best in the market's made to order 15 different fastenings, box pleatings, knife and so on, pleating, hemstitching, placketing and Non-invisible Hooks and Eyes, with invisible eyes, 2 for

Fedoras, Loafers, Fasteners, Domes

—Domes

Hooks and Eyes on Tape, 10c

white as you prefer, a yard for

Dress Fasteners on Tape, 10c

white, a yard in the sale, dozen

Kehinor Dress Fasteners, 10c

in department of shades. Dozen

(Hamburger's Main Floor)

10c

25c

50c

35c

10c

Beautiful Suits and Dresses $18.75

Splendid Values Especially Bought as an Early Fall Season Feature

Dresses

A really wonderful assortment of new fall dresses at this price. The artist has sketched one, in the latest Basque style, made of very heavy satin, with organdie collar, and buttons and sash of self-material. $18.75
Priced

Other New Dresses

Our assortment is now complete, with every bright new idea represented. Combinations of satin and serge, in the long tunic effect, with box or accordian pleats.

$12.50, $15, $19.50, up to $50

Suits

One of the remarkable suits in this assortment is shown at the left. This is a very fine grade of navy blue broadcloth, lined with heavy peau de cygne. Detachable collar, with hand embroidery on velvet. Skirt has new tunic $18.75

Priced

New Coats

Just in! Mixtures and novelty weaves—the clever Balmacaan style and others.

$15 to $35

Harris & Frank
437-443 South Spring St.

Other New Suits

New fall suits arrive daily, in poplins, serges, broadcloths, gabardines. Long and short coats, Basque, and Redingote styles. Polonaise skirts, and tunics, long or short are seen among them.

$18.75, $22.50, $25 and up to $75

Harris & Frank
437-443 SOUTH SPRING ST.

DOES HER PART AS TRUE WOMAN.

Wife of Lawmaker Exponent of Home Virtues.

Takes Honey Philosophy to Washington.

Apple Jelly Great Triumph of Her Life.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—What do the faithful wives of national legislators do during the long summer days while Congress sits, while official Washington is presumably enjoying sea or mountain breezes? To the credit of American womanhood be it said that a large proportion of the wives of lawmakers who have not either young or delicate children or who are not fragile in health themselves are serving at their post of duty. Those who reside in hotels in winter have found summer quarters in the suburbs and many have been fortunate enough to get homes where every convenience for warm weather is provided. One of the most representative is John Lawson Burnett of Gadaden, Ala., who secured for his family a pleasant furnished cottage in the picturesque village of the town of Brookland, three miles from Washington, and adjoining the famous park of the Soldiers' Home. Here Mr. Burnett finds seclusion from the carking care of state sprinkling his lawn and weeding the vegetable patch, while Mrs. Burnett is happier than any kitchen jarman preserves and pickle against the demands of such good things in the winter. Mr. Burnett and his wife would like to spend the summer at home. But they have that good gift of content and they are making use of the waiting period, filling the days with care and with a care that will make for strength and endurance during the trying days of the winter season.

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their property and are making our part of the country a model community. Time was when nothing but cotton was at templed in Alabama. Latterly cotton clubs have been organized with enthusiasm and among the boys especially. One such club, which I recollect, received a few years ago and received high encomium from the Agricultural Department. He produced more than 200 bushels of corn, gold corn, too, on an acre of ground. Now there is cotton, cotton, cotton, and cotton is no longer a menace. Vegetable fruits, all are produced in our community and find a splendid market. Our hay is one of the most remunerative crops we have, not a local one, every hay is shipped, and so many crops are raised a season that our farmers are among the money-makers, and solid men of the county, even those with but few acres.

Mrs. John Lawson Burnett
Of Alabama.

John Lawson Burnett and receive some of the activity from that growing industrial city, Huntsville is in the extreme north and not seven miles due north we cross the border into Tennessee. My old home pride in our preserves, cloots and generally tasting parties which I have very much when I am about home in the preserving season. All the details of hope keeping are to be found in the old house through the days of my life. I am making home in Gadaden, I feel I have accomplished much. We attach much importance to the house and through Tennessee as well. So I am enjoying this bit of home life and dipping into the arts of preparing for the winter while the fruit and vegetables are plentiful. The social intercourses are our main concern in life and they fill our days very pleasantly. We have time to read and to visit our friends, to make genuine visits and not just a handkerchief or a card, or a note for visits here. But my chief delight outside the home is to travel. I count as one of the most repayable episodes of my life, a trip throughout Europe several summers ago. I have a strong and faithful husband on an immigration inspection tour. We landed at Naples and I cannot go contrary to the praise of all the aged and of all people about the beauty of Italy. Now do not go to follow so many and enter into a comparison about whether this or that point of the United States is not more glorious. We have lovely sea and land views in the South, but the views I have looked into the blue depths of Mobile Bay under a rising or a setting sun or those who know anything about the splendor of the lake district of Louisiana and all about the Gulf of Mexico in Florida, may see something to remember even in the face of the Bay of Naples. But I could not enjoy the glories of nature seeing so much want among the people, so appallingly poor and the social ills which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge of ridges, filled with wild ginseng, and all that makes the romantic in a landscape. But we have not the problem of the mountain whites. In fact, nearly all the section is peopled by small independent farmers, forcing ahead farmer. He bought his acres principally from the government at the time when much public land was disposed in Northeast Alabama. These small holdings are well worked and the owners are becoming prosperous, gradually adding to their

"I have lived for sixteen years,"

said Mrs. Burnett, "in the National Capital and I have always tried to feel much at home. But I think of a real home always with keen regret, as I realize that the time we can spend there is getting shorter every year. Short sessions seem to count as much as many other things. So I have been accustomed to pitch my tent and getting things arranged to feel comfortable and homelike. Home in the broad sense is where your dear ones are and we who through unavoidable duty must spend so much of our lives on the way to apply this lesson practically if we will find comfort. In Alabama, we live in a comfortable community and thinking things over. I cannot find a problem which should worry us. We have a large garden and a viney arbor which is a continuation of the Blue Ridge and the picturesque plateau of the Cumberland. That renowned scene of history, literature and drama, the Lookout Mountains, extend six miles to the confines of Alabama and end in a sharp ridge many patriotic societies though she is eligible to many. Her health was robust for some years and she did her home duties and those of her social position a great deal on her own. Mr. Burnett took a new position in Vanderbilt Nashville and in some years of practice in the Legislatorate at Montgomery. He died when his marriage contract to Jessie Beeder, whom he had met during his college days in Texas. He was later elected to the state of his birth and in 1881 a member of Congress, where he served continuously ever since. Burnett is one of the number to the comfort of many publicists, who are constantly increasing numbers who had the natural abilities of all the mission, all the sub-all the inspiration which is needed for a happy useful life. To care for home and for her son, to make her husband and to her son, she sought and what she accomplished in the fullest degree. She was able to add materially to her comfort and enjoyment of

What I regard as one of the events of my life, I record. "Burnett" was that when I was a young housewife, I had the honor of taking the first prize for the best and most perfect apple jelly at our State fair, and that is a wide competition, which I might mention, I won the first place. How I strained that jelly and sliced it. It was clear as pure water being made of pure June apples and to be sure I sliced it as fine as possible. It was a glory and just delicate in flavor as it was in appearance, but as firm as good as it could be. I took the unbounded pleasure in taking the first prize in my jelly come up to me, and it is to enjoy one of the minor actions of life. We take vast in our preserves closets and we inspect every jar parties which I much enjoy when I am absent from the preserving season. All the hope keeping appeal to me, I never feel so well as when I am making just what it is for every member of it. I not found time for clubs nor round of pleasures which appeal to so many in the full of summer. Riding up into the library to look at what is happening in the world is an accomplishment, when I have added to the library and the books of the British Museum to Sydney, Australia by regular steamship, and now a part of their library. Thus another chapter in the history that had its origin in the mutiny of part of the crew of the British man-of-war "Bounty" a few years ago has been written.

From then until now the descendants of the crew of the "Bounty" have been scattered by the British people above all other subjects of that country. Ships were sent out carrying large stores of beautiful gifts to the half-caste islanders, and in many other ways did the home government and the sympathetic people of the foreign lands show their interest in the new colonists.

It was decided by the British government to provide another island home for the descendants of the Bounty mutineers, the population having increased so much on Pitcairn that it was no longer suitable for the colony. At that time and for many years previous Norfolk Island was used as a penal colony of England. It was to that island that the most desperate criminals were sent in exile. Horrible cruelties were practiced upon these ex-convicts.

Many of the convicts are said to have died under the most terrible conditions, and to this day, there is to be seen the graveyard near Kingston, where the bodies of many of the men who lost their lives here through the cruel hands of the British government. The natural beauty of Norfolk Island, however, was so appealing and nature had done so much to make it of all places in the Southern seas the most ideal in the matter of climate and other aspects that the British government determined to abandon it as a place for its criminals and to convert it into a paradise for the Pitcairn colonists. The old barracks and prison were converted into schools, churches and public buildings. The Bounty descendants were moved in a body in 1856 to Norfolk Island. They numbered, at that time, 194 people.

Queen Victoria showed a deep personal interest in the welfare of these remarkable subjects of the empire and sent them many gifts.

For late years the once pure-minded people have begun to show the effects of their contact with the so-called higher civilization that surrounds them. The morals are not of the irreproachable character that they were during the time of Adams and Nobbs. They are still, however, the most remarkable of the island romance of their forefathers. The most remarkable women are great lovers of music. The men are of fine physique and are noted especially for their prowess in handling of boats. Many of them are expert in the use of firearms, and the conduct on the comparative plan is conducted on the comparative plan.

The population is divided into what is known as "companions," each company being made up of a certain number of families. The proceeds derived from the sale of oil are divided equally among the different families.

One of the regulations that is rigidly observed is that the death of a husband or his incapacity to labor shall not deprive his widow of the privilege of continuing to receive the family share of the money from the whaling industry.

The land of the island is divided equally among the people. Around each home is a garden of sweet potatoes, fruit and other vegetables which are the main articles of sustenance. No social lines are drawn here. Every inhabitant of the island is on the same social footing. They live like one big family and it is this that is what the population really amounts to. The intermarriage that has been going on for more than 100 years makes every one of the 300 descendants of the original Bounty crew of blood brothers to each other. But, strange to say, this fact does not seem to have caused any noticeable deterioration of the half-caste, either intellectually or physically. In this there is something for the world to ponder over.

The land of the island is divided equally among the people. Around each home is a garden of sweet potatoes, fruit and other vegetables which are the main articles of sustenance. No social lines are drawn here. Every inhabitant of the island is on the same social footing. They live like one big family and it is this that is what the population really amounts to. The intermarriage that has been going on for more than 100 years makes every one of the 300 descendants of the original Bounty crew of blood brothers to each other. But, strange to say, this fact does not seem to have caused any noticeable deterioration of the half-caste, either intellectually or physically. In this there is something for the world to ponder over.

The natural beauty of the island is almost incomparable. It is all one delightful park, with its graceful pine trees, its fragrant, brilliant colored flowers, in winding roads and shady nooks. Upon the coral shore the ever restless tide ebbs and flows; soft, salt-laden breezes sweep through the trees, tempering the heat of the tropics and bringing the coolness of the ocean to the people of the little, far off dreamland.

(Continued, page 164, by Walter C. Johnson.)

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The little party that had set out for a new location for themselves had a hard time of it, however, as they could not find a place to rent.

But, as the Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital. Within twenty-four hours she had enrolled a hundred members.

The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, who has been in Brussels most of the time since her husband died last year, has accepted the command of the Red Cross Society at the Belgian capital.

In the Realm of California, Where "Sets the Sun."

A DEBUTANTE'S LETTER.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.

Dear Old Skipper:
I am down there at Coronado, don't know to look up the Kastings. Virginia is to marry Bruce McCraig, the interesting young man of Mexico City, and the event is to come off at San Francisco at the end of the month. Marion will play her part, of course, but that is a whisper to the effect that that is but a preliminary canter before she herself plays the leading role in a similar affair. Find out the truth good joke against poor Billie Collins. The Baldwin boy, you know, had a decided case recently and after the maiden returned to town he wrote frequently, desecrating himself. "Hill" is doubtful, however, whether he knew he was corresponding so fervently with August's maid. That young person has been the center of romance for all met with an accident shortly afterward and the automobilists responsible for the catastrophe were all contrite repentance and did her proud at the hospital. When August's maid was brought to the hospital surrounded by American Beauties and expensive luxuries, with a very proper appreciation of her own magnificence. Later she "took service" with the hempenly motorists, and the world heard she had eloped with one of them.

That name Rosel reminds me of the pretty Weiszorek girl, the artist's eldest daughter, you know. She is growing up rapidly, now, though only 15 years of age, she is so tall and graceful that she seems much older.

Of course we are all permeated with war excitement here, and so many of our best young men are volunteering. Any one who seems to have the remotest drop of blood in them that can be traced to any of the nations involved, seems bent upon fighting on the side of his ancestry.

Of course, the nice English girls are going—ugh! We are going to be dreadfully short of men this coming winter, dear—the tango will die a natural death for want of partners.

But really it is to be pitied they are running this patriotic business. One poor young Scotman who returned from Europe last week is being almost ostracized by his set. They seem to consider that he ought to have remained to fight, and that his home-coming after war was declared as positively traitorous. He evidently feels a bit uncomfortable about it himself, as he has taken to expatiating that he is ready to board his passage before he leaves. Poor wretch, from the acidulated remarks I have heard about him, it is going to take him years to live it down. Of course he's a bachelor, otherwise domestic ties would have been a sufficient excuse.

Had such a wonderful letter from Louise in London. She declares she has never lived through such stirring, emotional times. But it appears that she is doing a certain amount of duty of helpers that Red Cross and relief organizations are springing up on every street and that so many willing but hopeless, innocent young women are offering their services that they have had to start an other organization for the purpose of "sitting" and directing enthusiasm into useful channels. You see, dear, there are many, many thousands of well-to-do middle class families wherein the daughters live an absolutely aimless existence, because there isn't anything for them to do. And there is a tremendous number of women over them, even matrimony is a little remote. Consequently, as Louise says, they look upon this as their possible Great Adventure.

They are rushing to other countries, and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months' training insisted upon. They naturally have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one realizes poignantly the state of mind of that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Louise says it is tremendously inspiring to see all the great houses down here beyond wedding announcements, but Mrs. Hugh McNeil for Hartley Ramsey, who leaves for Cornell today. She had the Ramsey girls, Dr. and Mrs. Smith, of course, Eileen Bullis and Sammie Campbell are to be married October 10; they announced it last week. And Marguerite Brown has also fixed the date for her wedding to Ermen Dunt, September 22, a week after Lucy Lantz and McKinley.

You knew about Dolly Foster's wedding to Howard Dudley, didn't you? It is such a charming affair.

They are rushing to other countries, doses of our set are down at the Virginiacs—the Wilkes, the Whitneys, the Powers, the Palethrons, the Sterns and the Callis. The Lipincott's are at Balboa, and the Brails, the Jeunes, the Hennebergers, the Griffiths, the Stewarts, the Armstrongs, et al. are up at Del Monte for the tournament.

By the way, the pater has decided to take us to Del Monte after all—golf is a serious enough business, my dear, and does not necessarily savor of frivolity. The women, however, remain. There are many, many thousands of well-to-do middle class families wherein the daughters live an absolutely aimless existence, because there isn't anything for them to do.

And there is a tremendous number of women over them, even matrimony is a little remote. Consequently, as Louise says, they look upon this as their possible Great Adventure.

They are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally

have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

realizes poignantly the state of mind of

that poor soldier in the Boer war who scrawled a legend inscribed in over

his heart, "Please, I am much too ill to be nursed."

Others are rushing to other countries,

and the Red Cross nurses are very similarly undergoing the two months'

training insisted upon. They naturally have visions of themselves in becoming Red Cross nurses, smothering fevered pillows of some handsome, aristocratic, of course. And one

</div

The "California's" Hand-Wrought Reed Furniture Is Indispensable All Year Round

MONEY spent for the "California's" hand-wrought reed furniture is money well invested. This comfortable, artistic furniture will be just as necessary in your living room, breakfast room, bedroom, sun parlor, or on your porch, next January as it is right now—with the real summer weather about to set in.

The "California's" reed furniture is made from selected German reed—which assures a durability absolutely in keeping with our high quality standards.

It is offered in single pieces or complete sets, stained or enameled any color. The seating pieces may be cushioned or covered in any material desired. The tables have tops of maple, oak, mahogany, or plate glass.

Reed furniture—as well as "Crex," for which we are sole representatives—is priced on the "California's" close-margin profit system, which means the very best value possible for the price. Welcome to call and compare values whether you buy or not.

Our Window Contains an Interesting Display of This Beautiful Reed Furniture

California Furniture Co.
BROADWAY MARKET 644-646

ON SALE TODAY

FIRST NUMBER OF THE NEW SUNSET THE PACIFIC MONTHLY

NEW OWNERS-NEW POLICY
See Page 504a
September

We Are Painless Dentists

And yet there are people who go to their dentist with a sense of apprehension. For them it is a relief to know that in justified fear and trembling while he probes and pierces, the dentist's sound and honest hands, HIGH-TECH simply because they have not been made to appreciate to the full how easily and painlessly they can pain. Yale Dentists, 144 South Broadway, Third Floor, Parmalee-Dohrmann Building.

YARD WIDE Factory to you by post. Send for sample length. If you want to purchase, send for samples of what you want.
TRUNKDOM TRUNK CO.
Sample cases made to order. Main 5265; P. 5012.

Silk Factory to you by post. Send for sample length. If you want to purchase, send for samples of what you want.
FERN & ROPENS & SON, Prop.
37 Great Jones Street
NEW YORK

OUT-OF-TOWN-SOCIETY.

Pasadena.

FOR what little social gaiety Pasadena society folk have enjoyed during the week past they are largely indebted to Altadena friends for almost every affair of note has been given in Pasadena's fashionable suburb. The most important of these was the dinner party given at the Altadena Country Club Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gartz, celebrating the birthday of one of their son, Fred Gartz, who attained to his majority on that day. Crane Gartz, a second son, arrived Tuesday from Chicago for the event, and covered the first twenty-four young friends of the young man. A large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gartz came in to offer congratulations and music and dancing afforded entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of New York, sister of Alexander Duer, has been the guest of honor at a number of small informal functions during the past week in Altadena. Wednesday

Mr. A. R. Shepard of Mendicino street entertained in his home with an auction bridge party. Guests were Mmes. Alexander Duer, Charles S. Gilbert, F. C. Melton, H. C. Bolton, Grimes, Theodore Barber, Jerome Trask, Thomas B. Wright, Mme. Stella Noble, Margaret Gilber, Valentine Trask. The winners were Mmes. Trask, Gilbert and Barber. Saturday Mrs. F. C. Melton entertained for Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Bolton, with three tables of bridge, and Mrs. A. T. Welles of Altadena also entertained with bridge the same group of women earlier in the week.

Miss Christine Battelle of Palm avenue, Altadena, was the hostess Friday at a small musical, which was put on by Pasadena and Altadena friends.

Mr. Frank Ogilvy Wood of Alhambra entertained a number of friends Monday with auction bridge at the Valley Hunt Club on the regular tea day after the guests were gone. But with friends of Mrs. H. H. Camman, Calvin C. Hamlin, Bradley, Misses Trask, and Ross and Ruggs of Pasadena. There were several other club members present with friends in for tea.

Mr. Alfred Harold Sellers of West California street is entertaining distinguished guests from her old home, Chicago, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Lane Hancock and their daughter, Miss Margaret Hancock.

Miss Irene Seery, who has been the recipient of much social attention since the announcement of her engagement to Dr. Jackson, was the guest of honor at a card party given Tuesday by Miss Ethel Harper of North Hills. The theme, a white and gold bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and a shower of dainty gifts added to the afternoon's pleasure. Five Hundred was the game and refreshments were served at the card party. Guests were Mmes. C. F. Stone, Wallace Davis, Marie Black, Arthur Heineken, Warner Hollister, John Twyman, Roy Kalloge, Misses Sarah Lamore, Helen Sutliff, Dorothy Traphagen, Ada Gormley, Lou McCoy, Mrs. Bubbers, Mrs. Sherwood, Marjorie Williams, Florence Neer, Clara Weiss, Virginia Phillips, Katherine Chaffield, Marilla Bradson, Marie Miller, Nellie Brokaw, Wilma Sill, Helen McConnell, and Elizabeth Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Jagger of Summit avenue celebrated the first anniversary of their wedding day Tuesday evening with a party at their home when the guests, most of whom were present the wedding, were entertained with refreshments and music. Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. B. B. Jacques, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCaa, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monty, Mr. and Mrs. John Wimberly, Miss Louise Wier, Ethel Shutt, Fern Anderson, Oliver Ambler, Marjorie Wells, Gladys Jackson, Margaret Tuttle, Agnes Reeme, Annie Langley, Florence Capwell, Pearl Pinkham, Ethel H. H. Grace Zoller, Mrs. Marion H. H. Howard, Mrs. Phillip Wells, Douglas McKeith, Paul Hill, Harry Langley, Clarence Wells, Ferdinand Foster and Prof. George Evans.

Miss Margaret Gilbert of Altadena entertained a number of friends at the Altadena Country Club Tuesday, the regular tea day, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Mount, a house guest of Mrs. J. B. Coulson. Others present were Misses Louise Hawkins, Gladys Booth, Louise Mangar, Katherine Chaffield and Wilma Sill.

Miss Lucy Chamberlain of North Los Robles avenue entertained Tuesday with a luncheon given in honor of Mrs. A. J. Neimayer of San Jose, a guest. Rose ornamented the table, where covers were laid also for Mmes. Charles Montford, J. A. Chamberlain, Robert Kennan, F. G. Sears, MacD. Snowball, Robert Ford, F. E. Chamberlain, Charles E. Blodell, Mrs. James and Sybil Jones, Mrs. Neimayer was formerly Miss Jessie Montford of Pasadena.

Society was very well represented both Friday and Saturday evenings at the home of Mrs. Samuel Culver

Foy when the Ellen Galpin Players gave delightful impersonations of childhood's favorite heroes and heroines, as known in the German fairy tales, and stories of the nursery. The performers are members of the Junior Drama League and the plays "Hansel and Gretel" and "Golden Locks and the Three Bears" were charmingly followed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. H. Gartz, who recently returned from an extensive eastern and Canadian trip, was the honoree at a luncheon on six covers. The table was aglow with long-stemmed American beauty roses, in crystal vases and dainty fancy work employed the afternoon following luncheon.

Alhambra.

OUT-OF-TOWN-SOCIETY.

Pasadena.

FOR what little social gaiety Pasadena society folk have enjoyed during the week past they are largely indebted to Altadena friends for almost every affair of note has been given in Pasadena's fashionable suburb. The most important of these was the dinner party given at the Altadena Country Club Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gartz, celebrating the birthday of one of their son, Fred Gartz, who attained to his majority on that day. Crane Gartz, a second son, arrived Tuesday from Chicago for the event, and covered the first twenty-four young friends of the young man. A large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gartz came in to offer congratulations and music and dancing afforded entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of New York, sister of Alexander Duer, has been the guest of honor at a number of small informal functions during the past week in Altadena. Wednesday

Mr. A. R. Shepard of Mendicino street entertained in his home with an auction bridge party. Guests were Mmes. Alexander Duer, Charles S. Gilbert, F. C. Melton, H. C. Bolton, Grimes, Theodore Barber, Jerome Trask, Thomas B. Wright, Mme. Stella Noble, Margaret Gilber, Valentine Trask. The winners were Mmes. Trask, Gilbert and Barber. Saturday Mrs. F. C. Melton entertained for Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Bolton, with three tables of bridge, and Mrs. A. T. Welles of Altadena also entertained with bridge the same group of women earlier in the week.

Miss Christine Battelle of Palm avenue, Altadena, was the hostess Friday at a small musical, which was put on by Pasadena and Altadena friends.

Mr. Frank Ogilvy Wood of Alhambra entertained a number of friends Monday with auction bridge at the Valley Hunt Club on the regular tea day after the guests were gone. But with friends of Mrs. H. H. Camman, Calvin C. Hamlin, Bradley, Misses Trask, and Ross and Ruggs of Pasadena. There were several other club members present with friends in for tea.

Mr. Alfred Harold Sellers of West California street is entertaining distinguished guests from her old home, Chicago, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Lane Hancock and their daughter, Miss Margaret Hancock.

Miss Irene Seery, who has been the recipient of much social attention since the announcement of her engagement to Dr. Jackson, was the guest of honor at a card party given Tuesday by Miss Ethel Harper of North Hills. The theme, a white and gold bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and a shower of dainty gifts added to the afternoon's pleasure. Five Hundred was the game and refreshments were served at the card party. Guests were Mmes. C. F. Stone, Wallace Davis, Marie Black, Arthur Heineken, Warner Hollister, John Twyman, Roy Kalloge, Misses Sarah Lamore, Helen Sutliff, Dorothy Traphagen, Ada Gormley, Lou McCoy, Mrs. Bubbers, Mrs. Sherwood, Marjorie Williams, Florence Neer, Clara Weiss, Virginia Phillips, Katherine Chaffield, Marilla Bradson, Marie Miller, Nellie Brokaw, Wilma Sill, Helen McConnell, and Elizabeth Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Jagger of Summit avenue celebrated the first anniversary of their wedding day Tuesday evening with a party at their home when the guests, most of whom were present the wedding, were entertained with refreshments and music. Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. B. B. Jacques, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCaa, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monty, Mr. and Mrs. John Wimberly, Miss Louise Wier, Ethel Shutt, Fern Anderson, Oliver Ambler, Marjorie Wells, Gladys Jackson, Margaret Tuttle, Agnes Reeme, Annie Langley, Florence Capwell, Pearl Pinkham, Ethel H. H. Grace Zoller, Mrs. Marion H. H. Howard, Mrs. Phillip Wells, Douglas McKeith, Paul Hill, Harry Langley, Clarence Wells, Ferdinand Foster and Prof. George Evans.

Miss Margaret Gilbert of Altadena entertained a number of friends at the Altadena Country Club Tuesday, the regular tea day, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Mount, a house guest of Mrs. J. B. Coulson. Others present were Misses Louise Hawkins, Gladys Booth, Louise Mangar, Katherine Chaffield and Wilma Sill.

Miss Lucy Chamberlain of North Los Robles avenue entertained Tuesday with a luncheon given in honor of Mrs. A. J. Neimayer of San Jose, a guest. Rose ornamented the table, where covers were laid also for Mmes. Charles Montford, J. A. Chamberlain, Robert Kennan, F. G. Sears, MacD. Snowball, Robert Ford, F. E. Chamberlain, Charles E. Blodell, Mrs. James and Sybil Jones, Mrs. Neimayer was formerly Miss Jessie Montford of Pasadena.

Society was very well represented both Friday and Saturday evenings

at the home of Mrs. Samuel Culver Foy when the Ellen Galpin Players gave delightful impersonations of childhood's favorite heroes and heroines, as known in the German fairy tales, and stories of the nursery. The performers are members of the Junior Drama League and the plays "Hansel and Gretel" and "Golden Locks and the Three Bears" were charmingly followed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. H. Gartz, who recently returned from an extensive eastern and Canadian trip, was the honoree at a luncheon on six covers. The table was aglow with long-stemmed American beauty roses, in crystal vases and dainty fancy work employed the afternoon following luncheon.

Alhambra.

OUT-OF-TOWN-SOCIETY.

Pasadena.

FOR what little social gaiety Pasadena society folk have enjoyed during the week past they are largely indebted to Altadena friends for almost every affair of note has been given in Pasadena's fashionable suburb. The most important of these was the dinner party given at the Altadena Country Club Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gartz, celebrating the birthday of one of their son, Fred Gartz, who attained to his majority on that day. Crane Gartz, a second son, arrived Tuesday from Chicago for the event, and covered the first twenty-four young friends of the young man. A large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gartz came in to offer congratulations and music and dancing afforded entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of New York, sister of Alexander Duer, has been the guest of honor at a number of small informal functions during the past week in Altadena. Wednesday

Mr. A. R. Shepard of Mendicino street entertained in his home with an auction bridge party. Guests were Mmes. Alexander Duer, Charles S. Gilbert, F. C. Melton, H. C. Bolton, Grimes, Theodore Barber, Jerome Trask, Thomas B. Wright, Mme. Stella Noble, Margaret Gilber, Valentine Trask. The winners were Mmes. Trask, Gilbert and Barber. Saturday Mrs. F. C. Melton entertained for Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Bolton, with three tables of bridge, and Mrs. A. T. Welles of Altadena also entertained with bridge the same group of women earlier in the week.

Miss Christine Battelle of Palm avenue, Altadena, was the hostess Friday at a small musical, which was put on by Pasadena and Altadena friends.

Mr. Frank Ogilvy Wood of Alhambra entertained a number of friends Monday with auction bridge at the Valley Hunt Club on the regular tea day after the guests were gone. But with friends of Mrs. H. H. Camman, Calvin C. Hamlin, Bradley, Misses Trask, and Ross and Ruggs of Pasadena. There were several other club members present with friends in for tea.

Mr. Alfred Harold Sellers of West California street is entertaining distinguished guests from her old home, Chicago, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Lane Hancock and their daughter, Miss Margaret Hancock.

Miss Irene Seery, who has been the recipient of much social attention since the announcement of her engagement to Dr. Jackson, was the guest of honor at a card party given Tuesday by Miss Ethel Harper of North Hills. The theme, a white and gold bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and a shower of dainty gifts added to the afternoon's pleasure. Five Hundred was the game and refreshments were served at the card party. Guests were Mmes. C. F. Stone, Wallace Davis, Marie Black, Arthur Heineken, Warner Hollister, John Twyman, Roy Kalloge, Misses Sarah Lamore, Helen Sutliff, Dorothy Traphagen, Ada Gormley, Lou McCoy, Mrs. Bubbers, Mrs. Sherwood, Marjorie Williams, Florence Neer, Clara Weiss, Virginia Phillips, Katherine Chaffield, Marilla Bradson, Marie Miller, Nellie Brokaw, Wilma Sill, Helen McConnell, and Elizabeth Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Jagger of Summit avenue celebrated the first anniversary of their wedding day Tuesday evening with a party at their home when the guests, most of whom were present the wedding, were entertained with refreshments and music. Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. B. B. Jacques, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCaa, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monty, Mr. and Mrs. John Wimberly, Miss Louise Wier, Ethel Shutt, Fern Anderson, Oliver Ambler, Marjorie Wells, Gladys Jackson, Margaret Tuttle, Agnes Reeme, Annie Langley, Florence Capwell, Pearl Pinkham, Ethel H. H. Grace Zoller, Mrs. Marion H. H. Howard, Mrs. Phillip Wells, Douglas McKeith, Paul Hill, Harry Langley, Clarence Wells, Ferdinand Foster and Prof. George Evans.

Miss Margaret Gilbert of Altadena entertained a number of friends at the Altadena Country Club Tuesday, the regular tea day, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Mount, a house guest of Mrs. J. B. Coulson. Others present were Misses Louise Hawkins, Gladys Booth, Louise Mangar, Katherine Chaffield and Wilma Sill.

Miss Lucy Chamberlain of North Los Robles avenue entertained Tuesday with a luncheon given in honor of Mrs. A. J. Neimayer of San Jose, a guest. Rose ornamented the table, where covers were laid also for Mmes. Charles Montford, J. A. Chamberlain, Robert Kennan, F. G. Sears, MacD. Snowball, Robert Ford, F. E. Chamberlain, Charles E. Blodell, Mrs. James and Sybil Jones, Mrs. Neimayer was formerly Miss Jessie Montford of Pasadena.

Society was very well represented both Friday and Saturday evenings

at the home of Mrs. Samuel Culver Foy when the Ellen Galpin Players gave delightful impersonations of childhood's favorite heroes and heroines, as known in the German fairy tales, and stories of the nursery. The performers are members of the Junior Drama League and the plays "Hansel and Gretel" and "Golden Locks and the Three Bears" were charmingly followed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. H. Gartz, who recently returned from an extensive eastern and Canadian trip, was the honoree at a luncheon on six covers. The table was aglow with long-stemmed American beauty roses, in crystal vases and dainty fancy work employed the afternoon following luncheon.

Alhambra.

OUT-OF-TOWN-SOCIETY.

Pasadena.

FOR what little social gaiety Pasadena society folk have enjoyed during the week past they are largely indebted to Altadena friends for almost every affair of note has been given in Pasadena's fashionable suburb. The most important of these was the dinner party given at the Altadena Country Club Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gartz, celebrating the birthday of one of their son, Fred Gartz, who attained to his majority on that day. Crane Gartz, a second son, arrived Tuesday from Chicago for the event, and covered the first twenty-four young friends of the young man. A large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gartz came in to offer congratulations and music and dancing afforded entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of New York, sister of Alexander Duer, has been the guest of honor at a number of small informal functions during the past week in Altadena. Wednesday

Mr. A. R. Shepard of Mendicino street entertained in his home with an auction bridge party. Guests were Mmes. Alexander Duer, Charles S. Gilbert, F. C. Melton, H. C. Bolton, Grimes, Theodore Barber, Jerome Trask, Thomas B. Wright, Mme. Stella Noble, Margaret Gilber, Valentine Trask. The winners were Mmes. Trask, Gilbert and Barber. Saturday Mrs. F. C. Melton entertained for Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Bolton, with three tables of bridge, and Mrs. A. T. Welles of Altadena also entertained with bridge the same group of women earlier in the week.

Miss Christine Battelle of Palm avenue, Altadena, was the hostess Friday at a small musical, which was put on by Pasadena and Altadena friends.

Mr. Frank Ogilvy Wood of Alhambra entertained a number of friends Monday with auction bridge at the Valley Hunt Club on the regular tea day after the guests were gone. But with friends of Mrs. H. H. Camman, Calvin C. Hamlin, Bradley, Misses Trask, and Ross and Ruggs of Pasadena. There were several other club members present with friends in for tea.

Mr. Alfred Harold Sellers of West California street is entertaining distinguished guests from her old home, Chicago, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Lane Hancock and their daughter, Miss Margaret Hancock.

Miss Irene Seery, who has been the recipient of much social attention since the announcement of her engagement to Dr. Jackson, was the guest of honor at a card party given Tuesday by Miss Ethel Harper of North Hills. The theme, a white and gold bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and a shower of dainty gifts added to the afternoon's pleasure. Five Hundred was the game and refreshments were served at the card party. Guests were Mmes. C. F. Stone, Wallace Davis, Marie Black, Arthur Heineken, Warner Hollister, John Twyman, Roy Kalloge, Misses Sarah Lamore, Helen Sutliff, Dorothy Traphagen, Ada Gormley, Lou McCoy, Mrs. Bubbers, Mrs. Sherwood, Marjorie Williams, Florence Neer, Clara Weiss, Virginia Phillips, Katherine Chaffield, Marilla Bradson, Marie Miller, Nellie Brokaw, Wilma Sill, Helen McConnell, and Elizabeth Dodge.

We hem all linens and baby flannels without charge. A boon to women.

Jacoby Bros.
331-335 So. Broadway

You may now leave your Auto in front of Jacoby's between the hours of 11 and 12 A.M. and 3 and 4 P.M.

Make use of our 'phone and mail order departments. Expert shoppers will fill your orders as carefully as though you gave them in person.

We prepay all parcel post packages within a radius of 300 miles of Los Angeles.

The new Butterick Winter Quarterly style books are ready. They're priced 25c and with them is given any 15c Butterick pattern absolutely free.

Look for our other advertisements in the other papers today. They hold much that will be of interest to you.

Jacoby Bros.
331-335 So. Broadway

Look at our windows today. They hold much that is good and new.

Now—we are ready for Autumn and you with new suits—new coats and new dresses

The new hats are worthy of our enthusiasm and of yours too!

We want you particularly to see the new hats we are showing at $5.00—at $7.50—at $9.75—at $12.50 and more, and the untrimmed hat shapes at $1.95—$3.95 and up.

We will make absolutely no advance in prices in any of our departments so long as our stocks—which were bought before the war caused European prices to go up—hold out.

And very fortunately ten of our buyers were in New York at the time that war broke out and were able to buy thousands of dollars of merchandise before any advances were made by wholesalers and importers.

We now have in our store—in our warehouses, and in transit more merchandise than we have ever before bought for any one season.

So long as our present stocks—and those which we have purchased before the advances—hold out, we will make no increases whatsoever.

From now on more than ever before it will be to your advantage—and ours—for you to shop around and compare prices.

These are all hats that you'd consider out of the ordinary values even at the end of the season. They're values that have kept our millinery store busy as busy could be these last few days.

The trimmed hats have a dash and a style to them that you would look for only in high priced hats—they're so crisp and fresh and different that they seemed to bring a breath of Autumn with them.

Some are in jaunty sailor models—others are in boat and Russian turban effects and still others are the old, yet ever new, Tricornes. Blacks and whites are the favorites though there's a generous showing of colors included, too. The trimmings are almost conspicuous by their absence—some carry just a feather or a wing—others a saucy little flower or two—but their simplicity is their charm, you'll think. The shapes are of velvet, plush and felt.

New hackle feather hats $12.50

Hats that are all feathers. If you just took a quick glance at them you might think they were beautiful snow white birds. They're made from the tiny soft hackle feathers—some are just plain without any trimmings at all—others have a saucy wing perched on one side or the other, and still others carry mock birds.

Most of them in snowy white—a few though in rich blacks.

You'll think them very modestly priced at $12.50.

Untrimmed shapes $1.95

New velvet, plush and felt shapes—sailors, toques and turbans in black. They need just a wing to make of them a wonderfully pretty street hat. Then there are others at $2.95 that you will enthuse over and think unusually low priced. 2nd floor—Jacoby's.

Suits—and such suits as you have seldom seen at. $1950

Ever and ever so many women are going to buy these suits at $19.50 Monday, that have never before paid so little for their suits. You'll see women buying them who have heretofore thought it was necessary to have their suits made to their order.

There's hardly a suit in the entire lot that you would guess at anywhere near this low price if you were to see them without their price tags attached.

There are exquisite models of wool poplin with 32-in. cutaway jackets and fancy stitched slit tunic skirts—there are new Redingote suits of imported wool serges with broad reveres and cuffs of velvet and trimmings of silk cords. Then there are others of wide wale cheviot with broad panel back jackets and skirts with open front tunics and still others of broadcloth with deep graduated tunic skirts. The color range includes new shades of brown, of green, and navy or new two-toned check effects and plain black. All of the jackets are lined with guaranteed satin or peau de cygne. There's a full range of sizes for misses and women.

New Autumn dresses and coats for girls & juniors

With school opening in a short time now this early Fall showing of girls' coats and dresses will be of exceptional interest to all mothers who have girls to get ready.

The coats are very pretty and girlish—quite different from those of seasons past. They are of zibelines, of fancy velvets, of diagonals, of cheviots, of Boucles, of Chinchillas and of novelties—their prices range from $3.95 on up to $22.50.

The dresses are as becoming and as tasty as though some fond mother had designed them and made them all herself. Some are of sturdy wool serges—others are of fancy plaids and novelties with pipings in contrasting colors and with fancy button trimmings. The sizes range from 6 to 14 years. The prices range from $3.00 to $15.00.

Third Floor—Jacoby's.

There will be some wonderful new silk and wool dresses at. $15

Why! do you know, that if it were possible for us to send some of these dresses, that we're going to $15.00, to your home this morning, we would be assured of the most remarkable garment day, day, that our 3rd floor has ever known. Women who saw them being unpacked last week declared that they were truly wonder values. One of the saleswomen said they were values worth being shouted from the housetops.

Among them are dresses of crepe de chine in new blouse with long accordion plaited tunics, silk girdles and then there are plain crepe meteor with lace trimmings at throat and wrist—and still others wool serge combined with satin in broad belted and suspender models with set-in sleeves.

The colors that are meeting the latest favor are Copenhagen, navy, and white—though there are plenty novelties for those who prefer. There's a full range of sizes for girls and women.

Among the new coats are coats for street wear, for wear, for outing wear and for more coats of tweeds and serges and blues and heather weaves and zibelines and cloths and plumes and velvets and satins.

Coats that will make you look cool, crisp days of winter in order to may enjoy their beauty and their wear.

Their prices range all the way $10.00 up to $50.00.

Third Floor—Jacoby's.

"31"

641 Waists Half Price

Nearly Half price
Less than Half price

Another great group of help in the building of the sales day.

641 beautiful waists from manufacturers of perfect styles a fraction of worth to sell at two very low prices.

$2.95 and $3.

—$7.25—will be marquise open front, sailor collar style with insertion—splendid.

—$7.25—will be blouses of crepe, of organza and crepe—too exquisite and charming—inciting values that we at $5.00. A remarkable range of clever styles.

—$7.25—will be blouses of satin, of crepe marquise, on in a great variety

—$7.25, $8.75 and $11.

—$7.25—will be blouses of crepe, of organza and crepe—too exquisite and charming—inciting values that we at $5.00. A remarkable range of clever styles.

—$7.25—will be blouses of satin, of crepe marquise, on in a great variety

—$7.25, $8.75 and $11.

—Even fancy blouses and novelties—rich in original beauty and originality. A sale of sales.

See Pages 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6.

This great series of advertising is the best in the country.

—$7.25, $8.75 and $11.

Look at our windows today. They hold much that is good and new.

and you dresses

Monday is, we believe, one for even less—and then there hem at $19.50—at $22.50—and even more.

I be wonderfully interested to buy your new Fall gar will give you a splendid idea and what smartly dressed Winter of 1914.

holds many garments to see. There are some of them copies of before the war and American designers. The will cause comment on of coats, suits and dresses will a splendid showing of styles and materials and colors for Fall. Their prices which we wish to call partic that there are coats, suits and women. Understand, women's garments made in signed especially for stout

"31"-Monday-Day of Value Wonders

Bullock's 8th Clearance

Page One of Six Pages--Necessary

to convey a fair portion of the extraordinary news of extraordinary merchandise that has been provided to make this last day of Bullock's 8th Clearance—"The One Sale of the Year"—the greatest day of all. (See 5 following pages.)

(Almost Incredible! Monday, August 31)

Beautiful $29.50 Basque Silk Dresses $15

A great purchase brings them—especially for this great day—Silk Dresses—Dresses of plain and novelty satins—Dresses of wool, in the very best styles of the hour, including basque and semi-basque styles.

—Some with broad hip girdles or wide sashes; some with basque fronts and novelty coats backs; many with modish upstanding collars or the new smartly cut flat collars of white satin or organdie, with cuffs to match.

—The skirts—with long Russian tunics in many novel effects—pleated, pointed, flaring and deep cutaway styles.

—Such shades as seal brown, raisin, amethyst, French blue, navy and black. Many combinations.

—Almost incredible—Indeed they are—but just wait till you see them—including $29.50 values—at $15.00—3rd floor.

At $12.50—Women's Suits Fall Styles—Less Than Half

Tailored, semi-tailored, and novelty models. Among the latest modes that Fashion has approved.

—Coats that are short in front and long in back; Eton fronts with deep postillion backs. Coats with deep flaring plumes.

—Models with vests—models with shoulder capes.

—Models with the newest of upstanding and flat cut collars.

—The skirts are Russian tunic styles in many variations.

—Suits of men's wear serge, gabardine, chiffon broadcloth, diagonal, cheviot and rep. In green, seal, chestnut, Copenhagen, navy, purple, plum, gray and black. A great offering at less than half—$12.50.

Then Coats for $5.00 Many Less Than Half

—Coats that are the most astonishing values.

—They should sell in a flash.

—Sport coats of golfine in the much-wanted colors. Golf and olive green, wistaria, brown, paprika and tan.

—Semi-dress Coats of silk moire and silk poplin, in navy, Copenhagen, tan and paprika.

—Whatever you do, don't miss this wonderful August 31st offering of coats at $5.00. 3rd floor.

Wash Skirts—Sale

Fifty Dozen New Wash Skirts—Sale

—At $1.00, $1.45 and $1.95—Three wonderfully low prices——to make the last day of Clearance a wonderfully big day.

—Over 600 skirts of wide wale pique, poplin, ratine, pebble granite, pebble rep and crash suiting.

—At $1.95—Nobby Sport Skirts—Plain tailored skirts—long and medium length tunics skirts in white and sand shades.

—Some combinations of plaid ratine with white button trimmings.

—At $1.45—White tub skirts of poplin, wide wale pique and novelty ratine—sport and plain tailored styles in tunics and double skirt effects.

—At $1.00—White tub skirts of linene, pique, poplin and pebble crash—a most remarkable purchase provides this most remarkable collection of values—Monday—Third Floor.

—See Pages 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of this great series of advertisements.

Waists

Half Price

—Nearly Half price.

—Less than Half price.

—Another great group of values to be in the building of this wonderful sales day.

—441 beautiful waists from a foremost manufacturer of perfect styles—bought at a fraction of worth to sell the same way—at very low prices—

$2.95 and $3.95

—$2.95 will be marquisette blouses—open front, sailor collar styles rich with lace insertion—splendid $6.75 values.

—$3.95 will be blouses of batiste, of organdie, and crepe marquisette, in exquisite and charming for desert—values that would be fine at $10.00—A remarkable range of very clever styles.

—$3.95 will be blouses of fine marquisette, of crepe marquisette, of colored linens—a great variety —including $7.50, $8.75 and $12.50 values.

—Over fancy blouses and new two-piece sets—rich in original beauty and individuality. A sale of sales—$2.95 and $15

—See Pages 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of this great series of advertisements.

(See the pictures, drawn directly from waists included in this sale)

Note Pictures

(All of the above pictures of dresses at $15; suits at $12.50 and coats at $5.00, have been drawn directly from garments ready to make August 31 such an extraordinary day at Bullock's.)

—There are Economy Reasons why every buyer in Southern California should plan to shop at Bullock's on Monday—August 31—

—See Pages 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of this great series of advertisements.

Kimonos at $2.95

Bath Robes $3.95

—The Silk Kimonos all splendid long styles that are fine $5.00 values.

—Empire effects with kimono sleeves, trimmed with tucks and plating. Pretty as pretty can be. Other styles loose and with raglan sleeves. Less than half price in this sale at $2.95.

—The Bath Robes at $3.95 are good values at $6.75. Yes, even $8.75. Samples in a great many styles—bought at a very low underprice.

—Of figured Terry cloth in a wide range of colors, patterns and effects—for a sale of sales at $3.95.

—No woman who wants a new kimono or bath robe should fail to share these very striking offerings—ready on the 3rd floor for Monday, the 31st—"the greatest day of the month."

"31"-Monday- Day of Value Wonders

The War Stops Lace Shipments

Page Two

—See pages 1, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of this great series of advertisements.

—“Goodbye!” shouts Bullock’s 8th Clearance, “but before I go I’m going to cap the climax with one great, big, wonderful day—that will make buyers open their eyes in astonishment and delight, and that will give 1915’s 9th Clearance a still greater record to break.”

Monday, August 31, Should, because of the values that are ready, the number of them that there are, their character and quality and extraordinary unusualness,

Surpass the Greatest Day of this Extraordinary Sale

—Hundreds of items will be put forward all over the store—that have been reserved especially for August 31. Many bought special. Many reduced especially with the end in view of making the last day of this 8th Clearance even greater than the first. It should prove a revelation to buyers. Shop early on Monday.

20c to 30c Embroideries to be Sold Monday at 10c a Yard

—Just 2000 yards of 2 to 6-in. Crepe and Voile Embroidery Edgings—White and Colors.

—A ridiculously low price. Ever so many women will be eager to share these values—to make collars and cuffs and to use for trimmings on waists and dresses. Remarkable. Monday, 10c yard.

Silk Stockings, 75c Pair

—Just a limited number of pairs for the last day of this 8th Clearance. —If we could show their quality and regular value to you here there would be crowds to share them sharp at 9 o’clock Monday. There probably will be any way.

—They’re so entirely unusual. Full fashioned, pure thread silk, deep hem top with shiny colored top. Sizes 8½ to 10 inclusive. 75c pair.

Special! Silk Lisle Stockings 35c—3 prs. $1.

—Full fashioned, double soles, heels and toes, deep hem lavender top. Black and white. Not one pair worth less than 50c. The greatest silk lisle values we have had. Monday, 3 pairs $1.00.

More "Kumpackt" Forms $2.95 While They Last, at . . .

—Such a wonderfully low price that no woman in the Southwest should fail to own her own dress form for home dress making.

—Only most extraordinary purchasing permits this opportunity—Don’t fail to take advantage of it, Monday—

—The “KUMPACKT” Acme Dress Form is an ingenious patented arrangement, which enables the user to fold up the skirt, thus reducing the figure to one-half its size, making it fit nicely in a box 28 inches high and 14 inches square.

—When not in use, it can be put away in any corner.

—The “KUMPACKT” is so simple and yet so practical, that you will wonder why it was not thought of before.

—The figure is the newest model, graceful in appearance and most substantial in construction. The bust part is made out of superior paper mache and covered with jersey cloth. The skirt is made of fine cotton, very elastic, and with leather cover.

—It will last a lifetime. Iron stand included.

—It will save its cost many times a year.

—The exceptionally low price at which these “KUMPACKT” Forms are to be sold as follows—$2.95.

—The famous “1914” Four Sectional, Collapsible, Adjustable Dress Forms at Bullock’s, Monday at . . .

$4.95 (Second Floor)

Wash Suits—Half Price

—For boys of from 2½ to 9 years. Galatea, duck, linen suits—ranging from $1.25 to $5.00—a variety, including the above sizes—good styles, colors and patterns—A sale of sales at ½ price—Fourth Floor.

Bullock’s Announces One of the Greatest Sales This Store Has Ever Held—85 Cents Per Yard

—1600 yards of Beautiful New Fall Laces have come to make this last day of August and Clearance a wonderful lace day. $1.25 to $4.00 values to sell at 85c yard.

—Despite the stoppage of importations, regardless of the scarcity of new, seasonable laces at any price—Here is this extraordinary opportunity for Southern California women.

—“It’s ridiculous to sell them for so little.”

—“They would be remarkable at regular price.” “Don’t mark them at less than they are worth.”

—Advice and Reason says: “This sale should not be.” Bullock’s ignores them both. Bought for the last day of Clearance they shall sell on that day at 85c yard—to the advantage of Bullock customers.

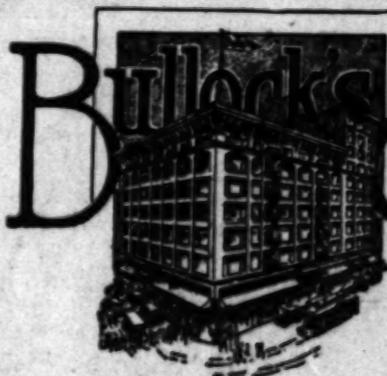

—1600 yards of Oriental and net top lace flouncings—10 to 27 inches wide.

—Some are heavily embroidered. Some are in dainty dot and floral patterns. Some are in soft shadowy, thread-run designs. Some are richly worked in silk.

—Novelty filet laces. Novelty flouncings in gold thread designs—a rare variety of patterns—including open work and cut-out effects.

—Edge finished in round, pointed and square scallops—others with straight edges—white, cream and ecru. A few deeper tones.

—Don’t miss this great lace offering on Monday, August 31—at 85c yard.

Words Cannot Express the Importance of this Sale

100 Dozen Ivy Corsets Regularly $2.00 and $2.50 Values at $1.00

—The strongest Corset Sale of Clearance reserved for the very last day of Clearance. Three different regular models. Bright, new, perfect—$2.00 and $2.50 values. All at $1.00 pair.

—“We’re planning to make the last day of August the grand day of Clearance if it is possible,” said the corset buyer to the manufacturer of The Ivy.

—“Let me think. I’ll go over the stock and wire you,” said their manufacturer.

—The wire came: “100 dozen Ivy Corsets—just as though from regular stock—to sell at $1.00 per pair.

—Think of it! Now they have come for this greatest of all Clearance and to sell at $1.00 on Monday. A wonderful sale and a wonderful advertisement. Listen! There are different models in the lot.

—One model—a $2.50 corset—is made with abdo-strap, medium bust and long skirt. It is intended for the intermediate and large figures, filled with duplex boning and a heavy graduated front steel. It comes with six strong hip supports. Topstitching with lace. Regular $2.50 value, and all sizes from 20 to 36.

—Another style very similar to the one above, not quite so long and lighter material, sizes 20 to 36, is a regular $2.00 value, size $1.00.

—Another style is very low bust and long skirt, straight hip line. A very large model. It is made of strong corset equipped with six strong hip supports and finished with hook and eye at bottom of front closing lace trimmed—sizes 19 to 26. $2.50 value at $1.00 in the Ivy Corset Sale on the 3rd floor, Monday.

—A sensation. “They should all be gone Monday before 6 o’clock,” says the manager. You won’t wonder when you see them.

—Just wait till you see what unusual handbags they are—moire—morocco—cowhide—Persian lamb.

—Silk and leather lined. Metal or covered frames—some with painted frames.

—Some with pannier, others with corner to corner handles. All silk purse, many with mirror in addition. Colors black, blue and tan.

—Bought especially for a great last day of Clearance—Monday $1.45.

$3.75 Silk Parasols at $1.50

—A statement in which there is not the suggestion of expense—for there are many $5.00 parasols included.

—About 200 in all and hardly two alike. Light and dark stripes and plain effects. Even parasols with fancy inserts and borders.

—Many with brass frames and handles that are features in themselves.

—A wonderful group of values for Monday “31.” Last day of Clearance—$1.50. 1st floor.

4800 Linen Handkerchiefs 10c

—Regular 15c, 20c—even some 25c values are included in this great offering.

—Some of them are seconds—the majority are perfect, fresh, and clean as though they were to go into regular prices.

—400 dozen of them. All pure linen—with embroidered patterns. A great variety—all 10c.

—Women will snap them up by half dozens and dozens in greatest Handkerchief offering of Clearance—Planned especially for the wonderful last day—Monday “31.”

Children’s 25c Stockings 12c

—Not an unlimited number of pairs but still enough for a great sale, Monday.

—Children’s fine ribbed black stockings with double heels and toes—black. Sizes 5½ to 9½. Regular 25c quality at 12½c—day of Clearance—4th floor.

“31”

In Defiance Silk Valve

Page See Pages 1, 2, 3 Monday

—For $1.50 to $3.00—About 900 yards, of colors and patterns—Satinings, skirtings, and color that is desireable. A collection of extra stocks and from pure silk—Women will be quick to buy.

“31” Very Books—5

—including Dickens, Scott and many others

—Bound in attractive cloth—opportunity to secure sets of books—Monday

—The price is very much reduced in number—Monday

—Books—Half Price

—An assortment of unusual values—books and collectors—Half Price—Monday “31.”

—Books—Half Price

—An assortment of unusual values—books and collectors—good titles and good conditions—values that ARE very good—prices ranging from $1.00 to $5.00. Don’t fail to take advantage of this opportunity.

—Children’s Books

—Books for the little folks the famous Grace Wiederholt—Never Was and Really Will Want—dresses, Pictures—Priced while they last

Sale Boys

—Included are suits the were $15.00.

—Included are suits the ders

earance

Cannot Express
Importance of this Sales Regularly es at $1.00of Clearance reserved for use. Three different regular values—$2.00 and $2.50 values.ast day of August the greatest " said the corset buyer to the stock and wire you," repliedre came: "100 dozen Nos.
to sell at $1.00. What do you We replied: "Splendid. Rush us." We saw what an op-they would make for Los women. Regular $2.00 and Corsets—just as though from stocks to sell at $1.00 pair.Now they're here and ready test of all Clearance corset even A wonderful sale and a wonderful Listen! There are three in the lot.a $2.50 corset—is made with the up, medium bust and long skirt for the intermediate and heavy filled with duplex boning and has a slanted front steel skirt finished long hose supporters. Top trimmed Regular $2.50 value, sale $1.00.
above, not quite so long and of regular $2.00 value, sale $1.00.skirt, straight hip line. A very good equipped with six strong hose supporters at bottom of front clasp—top $1.50 value at $1.00—in this great day.

gs at $1.45

ll be gone Monday before 12 you won't wonder when you see

ale Boys' Suits at $4.50

Included are suits that were $10.00, $12.50—Yes, some $15.00.—Here is news that is extremely important to parents of boys and to boys who buy their own clothes.—A limited number of suits at less than half price from some of the foremost makers of boys' clothing in the United States.—Of splendid woolens in good patterns—some have mohair linings—double breasted styles—sizes 8 to 16. Remember, school will open September 8—share these values, $4.50.Boys' $1.25 School Pants Priced at 85c—Peg top, belt loops, button-on knee fasteners, fully lined—values that should sell like lightning at 85c—Monday—4th floor.

sols at $1.50

the suggestion of exaggeration is included.slike. Light and dark colors in parasols with fancy ribbons
that are features in themselves.
Monday "31." Last day of Clea-

dkerchiefs 10c

25c values are included in this majority are perfect—now
to go into regular stocks with embroidered patterns inStockings 12½c Stockings and stockings in this line—Planned especially for you

44 Camp Cots $1.95

ers but still enough for a with double heels and toes. For 25c quality at 12½c for the 10 and 12 duck, while they a slight reduction of 20%—
4th floor.

"31"-Monday- Day of Value Wonders

Defiance of All Conditions—Here are Greatest Silk Values of the Month for the Greatest of All

Page Three for Pages 1, 2, 4, 5 and 6

Monday—Pay 95c a Yard

For $1.50 to $4.00 Woolen Dress Goods

About 900 yards, plain and novelty effects in a rare range of colors and patterns—

Suitings, skirtings, coatings in almost every weight and weave and color that is desirable—

A collection of extraordinary values from Bullock's own regular stocks and from purchases made most advantageously—

Women will be quick to share these Dress Goods, at 95c.

1.25 to $3.50 Woolen Goods 75c

—Suits, skirtings, in a wide range of colors and fancy effects—that cannot be described adequately—$1.25 to $3.50 values, at 75c.

"31" Very Special Offering Books—5 Volumes $1.25

Including Dickens, Scott, Kipling, Stevenson, Hugo, Caine and others—

in attractive cloth—printed in excellent readable type—an easy to secure sets of favorite authors that should cause spirited Monday—

price is so very much under worth we wish to emphasize that sets are in number—"31"—5 volumes at 1.25.

—Half Price—

—A collection of unusually worth while collections of books for boys and girls—and in good values—that ARE values—values ranging from 60c to $1.50—Monday, 50c to 75c.

It is to take advantage of this opportunity.

Children's Books 10c Each

Books for the little folks that are wonderful—

In famous Grace Wideroe's illustrations and Margaret Hayes verses—Never Was and Really True books. Entirely new and so attractive you will want dozens. Pictures—both in colors and black and white—Priced while they last—10c.

school, scheduled to open on September 8th—Read this.)

ale Boys' Suits at $4.50

Included are suits that were $10.00, $12.50—Yes, some $15.00.

—Here is news that is extremely important to parents of boys and to boys who buy their own clothes.

—A limited number of suits at less than half price from some of the foremost makers of boys' clothing in the United States.

—Of splendid woolens in good patterns—some have mohair linings—double breasted styles—sizes 8 to 16. Remember, school will open September 8—share these values, $4.50.

Boys' $1.25 School
Pants Priced at 85c

—Peg top, belt loops, button-on knee fasteners, fully lined—values that should sell like lightning at 85c—Monday—4th floor.

sols at $1.50

the suggestion of exaggeration
is included.

slike. Light and dark colors
in parasols with fancy ribbons
that are features in themselves.
Monday "31." Last day of Clea-

dkerchiefs 10c

25c values are included in this majority are perfect—now
to go into regular stocks with embroidered patterns in Stockings 12½c

Stockings and stockings in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Camp Cots $1.95

ers but still enough for a
with double heels and toes. For 25c quality at 12½c for the 10 and 12 duck, while they
a slight reduction of 20%—
4th floor.

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

44 Hammocks, $1.95

—Regular and extra sizes—
dosses and dosses in this
line—Planned especially for you

"31"-Monday- Day of Value Wonders

16-Button White Glace Gloves $1.75

Page Four

See Pages 1, 2, 3, 5 and 6

Sale of Lingerie at $1.00

Gowns including splendid $1.50 to $2.50 values—then there are combinations and chemises also in this great $1.00 Lingerie Event—Monday

Monday, "31," is to be a big day all over the store—the Lingerie Section is to prove one of the busiest of them all—

Dozens of Styles in Gowns—Charmingly trimmed with lace and embroidery and tucks—of splendid material, including $2.50 values have come to sell at the very special price of $1.00.

Two-piece Combinations—Some Princess style with knickers—elaborate with lace, will be $1.00.

Princess Slips—Very daintily made of sheer nainsook—flounces beautifully trimmed—will be $1.00.

You will not be able to appreciate their unusualness until you see the garments themselves.

A Great Group of Corset Covers Will Be 25c

Half price—Made of nainsook—few of pink and blue mull—some cut straight top with ribbon shoulder straps, 25c—Third Floor.

"31"—Buy Hair Goods Monday

—because of the extreme lowness of the prices at which Human Hair Goods of highest quality will be sold at Bullock's—

Come to the Hairdressing and Manicuring Sections—2nd floor—near the Rest Room—for Savings.

24-in. Beautiful Fluffy Switches, Special at $1.95.

28-30 Beautiful Fluffy Switches, Special at $3.95.

20-in. Naturally Wavy Switches, Special at $2.25.

28-30-in. Natural Wavy Switches, Special at $6.50.

TRANSFORMATIONS: All-around head size of fine Texture Hair, $5.00. All-around head size of Natural Wavy Hair, $2.25.

65c to $1.25 Values at 35c

Pillow Tops—Centers and Scarfs.

Including pure linen crash pieces, pieces of repp, antique crash and denim—square and oblong—A great Clearance value at 35c—Second Floor.

1000 pieces of Real Cluny Lace—every piece this importer had—Doylies, Centrepieces, Tea Cloths and Scarfs—from 6-inch to 72-inch pieces—at Half price and at less than Half.

It was a wonderful purchase and now the European situation is simply making it more wonderful yet—for these Cluny pieces were imported from Europe. What with the war curtailing production and impeding shipments it is a serious question if there will be any more Cluny imports for months to come.

Everything points to a continued advance in the market—Yet in the face of this condition Bullock's has marked these Clunies $\frac{1}{2}$ and less than Half the prices they would have been marked if European affairs were normal.

In every way the greatest offering of its kind that this business has been able to make.

—in the face of advances heralded all along the line.

Take the European situation—Analyze it as you will—It is easy to see in the not far distance the possibility not only of a great raise in prices but of a great scarcity in gloves—at any price.

Yet here, in the face of these conditions, are beautiful 16-Button White Glace Gloves to sell on Monday at $1.75 pair—bought for August—to sell on August 31. An opportunity that women will appreciate to its full importance.

Reinforced and strengthened by

2-Clasp P. K. Kid Gloves at $1.15 Pair that are possibly even more unusual—a splendid quality in black with white embroidery, plain black and vice versa. A sale of sales at $1.15 pair.

2000 Yards of $1.00 Silk Mixtures Go Forward, Monday, at 25c yard

The strongest wash weave items of the entire Clearance in the minds of many.

Handsome Silk Mixed Novelty Dress Fabrics—40 inches wide—at $\frac{1}{4}$ of their real worth—It sounds unbelievable—It looks just as unbelievable—A good range of colors. A wonderful offering, Monday at 25c yard—(See the window.)

2500 Yards Striped Crepe Voile, Splendid 35c Value—Rushed Out by Express to Sell Monday, Yard

Beautiful soft, sheer, crepe voile—evenly woven—in the popular black and white stripes—2500 yards 85c quality at 15c yard—

We don't know how it happened—we do know that it is here—along with many other of the strongest items of the entire month for this last day of Clearance—Second Floor.

75c Imported Floral Crepe at 25c Yard

1200 yards of imported French Floral Crepe—a lovely quality, in patterns and colors just as lovely—40 inches wide for a sale of sales at 25c yard.

10 Dozen Splendid Soft Crown Corduroy Hats for Children, Exceptional Dollar Values, at 50c

Because Monday will be August 31, Last day of Clearance. And because we have planned on a great Sale Day in the Millinery Store for Children—4th Floor—black, white, brown, navy "Corduroy Crushers" with stitched roll brims—Ideal School Hats—

Do you know they're so practical that men and women are wearing them? How they will fly away, Monday, "31"—50c—Fourth Floor.

2800 Yards Embroidery at 65c Yd.

Regular $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, and $3.00 embroideries for the last day of Clearance 65c yard—We wish we could show them here—

Such pretty, rich wide flouncings (42 and 44 inch) of voile and crepe—a splendid quality and heavily embroidered—really wonderful floral and conventional designs—even some exquisite Van Dike points and medallion effects.

Embroideries that would be splendid $1.00 to $3.00 values in regular stock if the European situation were not as it is—that may become two and three times these prices, possibly more—2800 yards for Monday, at 65c yard.

—that would be good $5.00 values in a regular way floor, Monday—

Jersey top petticoats with museline flounces and elastic band, $3.75.

Petticoats of crepe de chine with narrow flounces—$2.75 quality. A wide color range includes wistaria, mahogany, tama, pink, cerise, King's blue, emerald, black and white petticoats at $3.75—Third Floor.

—two-inch continuous posts and solid fillers—very neatly trimmed—

Bed Springs $2.95

Iron Beds at $3.75

Brass Beds $17.75

Brass Dressers at $11.95

Or solid maple—finished with French bevel plate mirror

Rockers at $8.45.

Quarter-sawn fumed oak—well

Rockers at $4.25.

Or quarter-sawn fumed

Rockers at $4.25.

ders

clearance

ton Silk Gloves at 65c

s, Pongee and Gray.

day, First Floor, at 65c.

Page Five

See Pages 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6

Furniture

Some of the features for last day of Clearance.

inary Offering

$27.50

edge, has an opportunity to size special De Luxe Indisationally low price. We just 14 of them to Bullock's—concession—and they are to be that should prove even more inclos $27.50

ere is no higher type of wardrobe

in this special De Luxe Con-

with extra heavy army cloth, coved with heavy cold-rolled steel

13 to 18 suits and gowns and other hats, shoes, etc.—Models for both regular selling price—$350.00

re Trunks $9.95

en able to offer at $9.95.

or wood and edges in black with two brass lock and four strap shoul-markable value at $9.95. Since 14,

to $19.95

or new Suit Case, Monday.

elling bags—for final clearance

$3.95—all real cowhide leather and to pay almost as much again for values at $1.50

that should cause many to buy

Bullock's—

with hollow handles—Plain, under-

$1.50—First Floor.

to handled) at 50c.

right at 50c.

0 value) $2.50.

50c.

ches, Sugar Trays, Lemon Dishes

all at 50c.

es at $3.75

values in a regular way continuous posts and 10 one-cane flounces and elastic wanarrow Source—$2.75. Needles in wistaria, mahogany, navy, red, old, black and white.

Bed Springs $2.95

with heavy side tubing and true double fabric wire top—full

8 sizes—$2.95.

Iron Beds at $5.75

50c French bevel plate mirror—size

2x72-inch) at $12.00

(3x6.36-inch) at $8.00

(3x4.54-inch) at $3.50

(19x54-inch) $5.00

(20x54-inch) $7.50

(19x54-inch) $10.00

(19x54 and 20x72-inch) $10.00

(19x54 and 20x72-inch) $10.00

Rockers at $8.45.

Rockers $4.25.

Rockers at $4.25.

"31"-Monday- Day of Value Wonders

$12.50 and $15.00 Silk Dresses for $7.95

Bullock's Basement Store

Page Six

and the values are underestimated, if anything — Late style dresses, Basque and Russian Tunic Dresses made of good quality silk crepe de chine, mescaline and fancy silks — black, blue and white and the wanted colors — good size range — and many different styles —

A Manufacturer's Clean-up — here just in time for this last Monday, the greatest of all Clearance Days — Note the Styles pictured — Then come, Monday — the material, workmanship throughout every detail of the making of these dresses is up to the same high standard as the styles — Monday — Wonder Values at $7.95.

$5.00 Coats at $3.95

— made of serge in plain blue, brown and black and in fancy weaves.

— Good looking coats, correctly cut, fancy collars and cuffs finished with pretty buttons.

— Good values at $5.00, for this Monday of Clearance at $3.95.

$3. $3.50, $4 Footwear at $1

— yes, and some $5.00 footwear at $1.00 — Hundreds of pairs of women's pumps, oxfords and slippers including Colonial, Tango and Ostend Pumps and Satin Evening Slippers in nearly every size.

— In addition to the above a clean-up of all broken lines from our regular stocks — many that have sold earlier, in full lines, at $5.00 pair in the Shoe Section, First Floor, and now — because in small sizes only — transferred to this Basement Shoe Section for this final Monday of Clearance, marked $1 pair — And new merchandise in splendid size range — $1 pair.

— There are bronze pumps, white duck Colonial, button and lace oxfords — Colonial pumps of patent colt and dull leathers — some with silk brocaded quarters — and many other styles — $1 pair, Monday.

Men's 50c Shirts for 25c

— a sale of shirts that should bring hundreds of buyers when the doors open Monday morning — values that vie with those wonderful silk shirts that were on sale last Monday.

— Golf and negligee style shirts of good material, well made and neatly finished, coat styles — some with collars attached, others with detached collars —

— Hundreds of excellent patterns — slightly imperfect but the flaws do not materially damage the wearing quality of the shirt — Special values at 50c, Monday, 25c.

— It will pay men and those who buy for men to lay in a supply for next summer — No garment.

$15, $18, $20, $25 Suits at $7.95

— a new price on certain suits in the Basement Suit Section and one that should take them out before store closing, Monday.

— Good styles that are up to the minute — 3-button sack and Norfolk models in a big assortment of patterns — brown, tan, gray and fancy mixtures —

— A new price for this last Monday of Clearance — 7.95.

Men's $1 Union Suits for 55c

— Athletic styles of cross-barred nainsook, crepe material and madras — cool, comfortable, loose fitting summer underwear at little above — the reason? Imperfect garments of a high price grade, but the flaps are very slight — 55c suit.

Men's $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3 Hats 25c

— A fact — 25c for any straw hat for men in the Basement Store — this season's styles that are made of excellent braid and correctly shaped — $1.50, $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00 values for 25c — Monday.

Boys' Wash Suits, 50c, 75c, $1—1/2 Value

— Formerly marked $1.00 to $2.50 — marked for a final clean-up, Monday — Wash suits of madras, galatea, chambrey, linnen — neatly finished with belts, pockets, embroidered dickeys and some are piped in contrasting colors — straight pants and knicker styles, a good assortment of patterns and colors, all sizes — 50c, 75c, $1.00.

Boys' 50c Woolen Knicker Pants, 25c

— Well made pants of woolen mixtures, cut full and neatly finished with belt straps and strong knee patches, well piped, and a good assortment of patterns and colors — $1.00 for a clean-up, Monday, 25c pair.

Boys' 25c Mesh Union Suits, 12 1/2c

— White union suits of good quality, high neck, short sleeves, knee length styles, sizes 24 to 32 — sizes run a little small — for a final Clearance, Monday, 12 1/2c suit.

Children's Straw Hats at 25c

— the final Clean-up of the sample line of straw hats for boys and girls of all ages — including some hats that were formerly marked $2.00.

— Hats of imported braids — hats for the small toddler as well as for big brother and sister — some trimmed, some convertible shapes — some Rah Rah hats — marked, irrespective of former price, 25c and 50c Monday.

Boys' 50c Shirts for 25c

— just half price for splendid shirts made of excellent materials, full and neatly finished — patterned collars and pocket, coat styles — good line of patterns and full range of sizes, 50c values, 25c.

Boys' Khaki Pants at 50c

— another specially bought item for this Clearance — made of excellent khaki — Knickerbocker pants cut full and neatly finished with belt straps and piped throughout — all sizes, 50c pair.

Boys' 50c Silk Socks 25c

— "Imperfections" as termed — Silk Socks — "imperfections" of the biggest kind — silk stockings — full fashioned assortment of colors — Full fashioned socks in a full size range — 50c values, 25c pair.

$1.00 Pajamas 45c Pair

— made of excellent muslin, imported colors — some are slightly soiled, some have imperfections in the weaving of the material — Pajamas are cut full, neatly finished with V neck and pockets — $1.00 values, Monday, 45c.

Men's 25c 4-in-hand Ties 10c

— ties of pure silk, well made and neatly finished, Baring ends, cut regulation length — a big assortment of splendid patterns — 10c regularly, Monday at 10c.

2 1/4 Lb. Feather Pillows 39c

— Real feather pillows — even better than that 300 lot that went so quickly last Monday —

— Covered with heavy German Ticking with fancy border — a feather-proof ticking, filled with 2 1/2 pounds of good feathers —

— An offering of which all owners of apartment houses, rooming-houses and hotels should take advantage — this last Monday of Clearance, 39c each.

15c Pillow Cases at 10c Each — Made of green, closely woven heavy cotton — pillow cases that usually sell for 15c and 20c — here for this Monday of Clearance at 10c each.

89c and $1 Petticoats, 49c

— Petticoats in plain colored sateen, black, brown, carmine and emerald — made with flounces and there are fancy petticoats in crepe and brocade — some with tops of sateen with silk flounces and in a good variety of colors —

— Especially good values at 89c and $1.00 — marked for this wonder day at 49c.

15c A. F. C. Gingham 5c Yd.

— 2000 yards of the genuine A. F. C. Gingham — perfect in every way — every housewife knows the brand, knows also that the retail price is 15c — Monday, save 10c on every yard you buy, 5c yard.

— No phone nor mail orders. Limit 20 yards to a customer.

18c, 20c, 25c Wash Weaves

— For this last Monday of Clearance — Wash Goods of every description including fancy Ratines that formerly sold for 25c and 35c, 25c Organza, marked for this last day of Clearance, 7 1/2c yard —

— A Clearance in every sense of the word — a clean-up of odd lines of wash weaves — marked at 7 1/2c yard.

15c Shepherd Checks at 10c Yd.

— 1600 yards of 34-inch Shepherd Checks, considered good value at 15c — the small, medium and large size broken checks — Buy Monday, at 10c.

19c, 40-inch Voiles at 10c Yd.

— A new 1600-yard lot of beautiful 40-inch voiles, smooth, close weave, tinted grounds with small floral designs — Monday, 10c yard.

$3 56-inch Cloaking $1.35 Yd.

— less than half price for heavy shadow plaid cloaking — the popular plaid combination of colors — the soft, deep, rich tones that are so popular in winter of 1914 — all wool, every thread — sold in regular stock at 3 1/2c yard. Just 5 pieces, Monday, while they last, $1.35 yard.

$3 56-inch Waffle Weave at 9c Yd.

— A positive fact — beautiful, heavy Waffle Weave, so much in demand — afternoon and evening wraps — the Jolly Good Fellow's dressing-room was gay with the colors of green, blue, red and yellow — a delightful setting for a woman. Over 400 yards were being sold out.

90c All Wool Crepe at 60c Yd.

— Yard wide crepe in the leading shades, soft, clinging crepe that you buy more for — Monday for a final clean-up, at 60c yard.

75c, 85c, $1.00 Silks for 49c Yd.

— 1000 yards of silks, marked for this last day, and marked down of former markings, 49c yard.

— Think of buying 25c Floral Silk Crepe de Chine, 45c — all silk goods — good values — a selection of Misses' Crepes and good dresses, the ever popular Silk Crepe — Brocaded Irish Poplins, all silk peau de soie and crepe —

— All grouped under one price-head — Monday, 49c yard — buy for all your silk needs.

$1 to $2 Real Kid Gloves at 5c

— Kid gloves — from one of the world's famous makers of kid gloves —

— Imperfections — it is true — but the imperfections have been remedied by the skill and the imperfections are hard to find —

— Short kid gloves in black, tan, gray, white and other good colors — Gloves of quality — Monday, at only 5c pair, regular $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00 pair.

75c Long Silk Gloves 45c

— Kid gloves — from one of the world's famous makers of kid gloves —

— Imperfections — it is true — but the imperfections have been remedied by the skill and the imperfections are hard to find —

— Short kid gloves in black, tan, gray, white and other good colors — Gloves of quality — Monday, at only 5c pair, regular $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00 pair.

8 Cakes Calla Lily Borax Soap

— Limit to customers, delivered only with other merchandise —

— A splendid white laundry soap — and a well known brand — is fine for the hair — Monday, 8 cakes for 25c.

Ribbon Remnants — Now Buy!

— Remnants of ribbon — short lengths from our entire ribbon stock — plain and fancy ribbons — priced at almost unbelievable reductions — opportunity to secure wanted ribbons at such very low prices —

45c and 49c Floss Pillows for — A combination silk floss pillow — may be had in the 22x22, the 18x18 inch sizes Monday, for 25c each.

SOCIETY.

with scarlet geraniums. Marking the places for Mrs. Marshall Clark, Mrs. Frederic C. Beecher, Mrs. Wesley O. Broadbent, Mrs. H. E. Clemens, Mrs. H. Riley, Mrs. C. C. Lovett, Mrs. Lewis Morrison, Miss Stanton, Adeline Thompson, and Stanton Riley.

A pleasant addition to the summer colony is the bevy of attractive young girls, who, chaperoned by Mrs. Gilligan, are enjoying the sun here. On Wednesday evening a picnic was enjoyed and a number of boy friends entertained. Members of the party who were hostesses are Helen Norfleet, Jessie Bell, Eleanor Gilligan, Adelaide Shilling, Dorothy Hatch, Mary Morrison, Helen Shill, and the guests were Lew Oliver, James Stringfellow, Brooks Montgomery and Willard Robertson.

Mrs. Lewis Stanton entertained a party of six at luncheon one day last week at Seal Beach Inn. Mrs. M. M. Gilligan, Mrs. C. C. Lovett, Mrs. E. D. Morrison, Lewis Frank, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Aspinwall, Pasadena; Lewis O. West, Long Beach; Roy Fitzgerald, Frank Giora, Los Angeles; Sybil Morrison, Linda Morrison, Mrs. M. M. Gilligan, and Mrs. A. R. Bingham, Astoria; Joe Stack, Compton; William M. Play, Alabama; A. Alvaro, San Diego.

Mrs. Mary Norfleet, accompanied by her daughter, Frances, was the guest of friends here last week.

Westerly. Mrs. J. F. PATTERSON had as her guest last week Mrs. Charles Hammond of Tulare, a former resident of this place, who is spending the summer in the Southland.

Mrs. Hetty Murdy visited in Long Beach Saturday.

While riding from a wagon after a hayride Miss Nellie Fogie was painfully injured last week.

Mrs. Charles Smithfield returned here Sunday from a two month visit at Porterville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murdy and daughter, the Misses Eva and Ella Murdy, left Tuesday for Astoria for a two week's visit for the benefit of Mr. Murdy's health.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Day and family visited with Mr. Day's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Day, of Orange, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Abbott and Mrs. Charles Parr have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wilson of Riverside. Mrs. Wilson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abbott and a sister of Mrs. Parr.

Miss John Grant and daughter, Miss Florence Grant returned Friday from attending the encampment at Huntington Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kruger entertained a party of twenty young people from Los Angeles Sunday.

Festus. Mrs. M. L. SHAW, who has been visiting in the East, has returned home.

Leister Singletary has been visiting in Riverside and San Bernardino the past week, and has returned home after a very busy trip.

James Gyger of Elsinore, County Orange, was a visitor in Perris this week.

A very enjoyable party, with Mrs. Aaron Rialand as the honor guest was given during the week. Mrs. Rialand was visiting her mother, Mrs. Nance, and has returned to her home in Hemet.

Miss Zilpha Donaldson had as her house guest Miss Beulah Thompson of Riverside. They attended the banquet of the local Chamber of Commerce during Miss Thompson's stay.

Mr. George Bunker's sister of Los Angeles is visiting here with her Bunker.

Mr. and Mrs. George Conlin have returned home to Perris. They have been spending the summer at their beach cottage at East Newport. Their aunt, Miss Fannie Conlin, will remain at their home in East Newport.

H. C. Moore, a Los Angeles visitor this week. He was accompanied on his return trip by Mrs. Mooney, who was injured by an automobile collision while on a visit to Los Angeles. Her condition while she is improving rapidly, but will not be able to walk freely for some time.

Miss Hill of Santa Ana is the guest of Mrs. Hugh Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Nusbaum are to leave their new home in Randsburg late in the week.

Norton R. Reece and Miss Myrtle Reece have been Los Angeles visitors for the past two weeks and have returned to their home in the Gavilan district.

Miss Mildred Noonan of San Diego has been visiting relatives in Perris and has returned home.

The second annual banquet of the Pacific Chapter of the Shrine was a brilliant success. It was held Friday evening in the Masonic Hall, which was beautifully decorated with Shadai dates and palm branches. The banquet was served to the ladies of the Order.

The Committee on Arrangements was composed of J. N. Foss, Rufus Hook, F. J. Bonner, and H. A. Dunlap, Jr. The President, J. H. Canning, invited the guests to the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Waldey acted as toastmaster. After the address of welcome by President Canning, responses were made by Judge W. H. Ellis, J. A. Crane of Elsinore and H. M. May, secretary of the Pacific Chapter of the Shrine, and many others. Music and various entertainments during the evening were plentiful, and fancy dancing was also on the programme.

These ladies assisted in serving the refreshments. Mrs. Frank M. Greenleaf, Mrs. William Mansfield, Mrs. Rufus Hook, Mrs. John Dunlap, Mrs. A. H. Dunlap, Jr., Mrs. W. A. Morrison, Mrs. George Cummins, Mrs. F. A. Waldey, Mrs. F. J. Bonner, and Mrs. C. W. Slagle entertained friends at her home in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Beaumont of Pasadena. Among the guests were Mrs. Paul Hollister and daughter, Mrs. Elmer Downing. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Slagle's daughter, the Misses Lee Ellis and Ellen, assisted.

Miss Meta Mapes visited relatives and friends in Riverside the past week.

Mrs. W. W. Gethridge of Elsinore has had as her guest her mother, Mrs. H. C. Way of Santa Barbara. Mrs. Way celebrated her eighth birthday Saturday evening a dinner was served, seventeen covers being laid. A birthday cake with four bases representing the four generations present, was illuminated with eight-threes, a very spectacular appearance. Members of the family present included a daughter, three grand-daughters, one son, two grandsons and nine great-grandsons.

Miss Edith Ward of Vernon, Ward, son of William and Vernon Ward, a son of Mrs. Ward, and daughter, Mrs. Ethel Ward, a daughter of Mrs. Ward, who had performed the marriage service. Miss Bill and Mr. Ward are popular among

Shoe Sale Extraordinary

Tremendous outpouring of unprecedented shoe offerings that fairly bristle with savings—it's your saving chance—so come. Hundreds are sharing in this wonderful sale of footwear, hundreds are pocketing the difference they save by not going elsewhere.

BIGGER, BETTER AND GREATER THAN EVER

The Mammoth Shoe House IS BACK AGAIN ON BROADWAY

Below we present to you an inkling of what this sale holds in store for you. Remember our slogan is "Better shoes for less," and what we say we'll do—do we do. Of course, some of these offerings are limited, so come EARLY IF YOU CAN, BUT COME!

BAREFOOT SANDALS

Here is a remarkable offer. Children's barefoot sandals, in sizes to 12, made of tan grain leather, worth to 75c a pair, choices . . .

25c

Roman Sandals

Made with six or more straps, in velvet, satin or gunmetal. Hand turned soles. Ordinarily sell for a great deal more. Choices only . . .

$2.45

Colonial or Cleo Pumps

Boots, Pumps, Oxfords for women, $2.50, $3, $3.50 grades. Beautiful new footwear in all the new leathers and styles. At $1.75

real savings only . . .

$1.45

MAIL ORDERS CAREFULLY FILLED

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

$1.45

Bargains in Shoes for Boys and Girls

SYNTHETIC shoes $1.45 for boys in gun-metal leather.

Shoes to $1.45.

CHOICE $1.50 & $2 Shoes for Girls

Short Hems.

Over 1000 pairs.

All sizes, all leathers, dandy style, colors.

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if

our size is here you buy

our size

$1

Men's
Oxfords

all sizes mostly, but if our newest distinc-

SUNDAY MORNING.

SOCIETY.

John and Mrs. William Hagan of the small ranch were the host and hostess of a very gay dinner. The dinner in compliment to Rev. Mr. Clark H. Marsh, who have returned from Chicago. The table was prettily arranged, and the evening was a picture of mirth and gaiety.

Geraldine Heisley and Miss Moore were the guests of friends in Los Angeles during the past week, and yesterday one of the features of the day was a picnic at which a number of young people gathered.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bardales of the west end at San Bernardo were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Downes, a family of Durante, who have been residing the summer at the ranch, anticipate the return to the ranch home September 1.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Milliken have been spending the latter part of the week in Los Angeles, the meet- ing in attendance at the World League convention.

Remondino.

The formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Beatrice Verner of Pomona to Ernest Delgado of this city, one of the best-known musicians and orchestra leaders, was one of the interesting socials of the week and the date for marriage has been set for September 22. The groom-to-be is the son and descendant of one of the most prominent Spanish families in the country, and his mother's name is Dolores, who was his great-uncle.

The friendship leading to the interesting nuptial announcement of the happy couple was made in Pomona, where the young man is a student at the Pomona High School. Mr. Delgado is a complete master of violin, having developed his skill to the age of 8. His bride is the daughter of a young woman of the best social standing and a daughter of John Verner, a friend of the young couple.

Bernardino friends of Miss Helen Mills, who formerly was a student in this city, have been provided for the public, and persons who seek to deliver themselves of opinions, political or otherwise, are invited to meet the public in these salons, absolutely without cost to themselves.

For the employees of the great enterprise a completely-equipped gymnasium has been provided, in addition to a well-arranged and comfortable sleeping quarters. The plant is affectionately referred to by the Argentines as the "largest on earth," and it is a matter of common knowledge that the offices of the establishment are the most luxurious of their kind anywhere.

While the South Americans are regarded as exponents of the "manana" philosophy of life, the Argentines ascribe to the same, and their "Tinkers of the South" and their great news paper stands for this idea.

The paper itself is somewhat alien to the American idea of journalism, inasmuch as there are few if any illustrations, and the sports and sporting sections, as we understand them, Little space is devoted to the lighter side of life, and La Prensa is heavy with material matters of public concern and cable news from Europe.

While the European field is well covered it may be interesting to note that but little news comes from the United States.

"LA PRENSA" LIKE "THE TIMES."

The paper contains from twenty-four to forty-four pages daily. The front page is the same size as The Times. About 20 per cent of the space is utilized for classified advertisements, which are presented on the earlier pages, as the South Americans are fond of advertising in the columns of publicity. Only about 25 per cent of the space is given over to display announcements, which consist chiefly of physicians' advertisements and announcements of auction sales.

While the classified pages resemble the American real estate announcements, they are entirely different, as sales of land are generally conducted on a plan similar to an auction sale, and opportunity buyers are given an opportunity to bid.

The space devoted to news is divided about equally between foreign cables and news of the home country, and one-half of the columns is devoted to editorial comment.

Much space is given to a class of advertising little understood in the United States, under the head of "Aviso Funerario" or funeral notices, regarding players for funerals and attendance upon masses for the repose of souls.

As might be expected among the pleasure-loving Latinas, the columns of "diversiones" occupied a principal place in the paper.

Columns of cable matter describing the life of Mme. Cailloux in Paris are given a double column head, but that is all, and there is no display of red ink to give force to the story.

Market reports and business reviews are given with the leaders of La Prensa, as well as the movement of steamers and sailing ships, of which there are a large number scheduled to leave for European ports, but only two for North America.

Much space is given to the paper gives special place to "Aviso para Señoras y Señoritas," which include a score or more of announcements calculated to interest the woman at home. A review of the interesting news of "The Yankees ladies" of South America are in no wise different from those at home as the same kind of publicity matter is printed in that paper.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empted the commercial opportunity.

While the paper gives

little space to the trade with the United States is not as great as it might have been had American business men taken the trouble to cultivate this market before the Europeans pre-empt

Our Luncheonette

—Just the place to enjoy your noon-day meal. Served daily—coffee cooking and modern plates. See hints.

—WHILE CON CARNIVALE, INC.

—WHILE CON CARNIVALE, INC.

—BOAST YOUNG FOOL, POTATOES & GRAVY, INC.

—And delicious coffee.

—Blossoms.

All Remaining White Boots $1.50

$2.50 to $4 Lines Will Be

$1.50

ARTHUR LETTS
Broadway Department Store
BROADWAY, FOURTH AND HILL.

8 Superb Sundae Broadway, Tango and Oriental

—Sundae made at the bottom stage. Reservations to 2nd

—Main Floor and Basement.

—Main Floor.

—

JAMES MONTGOMERY FLAGG

A caricature of the author and artist by himself.

More of Why They Parted

Someone whispers in your ear;
"You know the Blanks of course—
well, Mrs. B. at last, I hear, She's gotten her divorce!"

You think at once the cause is clear—
Old Bimbo was rough or naughty?
There might be other reasons, dear,
We thought of several forty!

IT ONLY GOES TO SHOW.

wished like the dance they had children, he did; He would often and often repeat it—got what he wished for, and then some, he did; So he packed his new bins away, and he beat his

HE USED TO SCARE HER.

This couple were married July eighty-one.
He'd been hitting in whiskeys till now,
He foolishly bought him a raver for fun!
What happened was hardly a raver!

HE WAS KIND TO ANIMALS, TOO.

IT WAS A DELICATE LITTLE FELLER, THAT'S ALL.
It wasn't a question of morals with him.
Nor a question of taste when she croaked.

Nor a question of taste when she smoked;
Is saying good-by to her won't a while—
He can't sit still and be choked!

CHICKEN-HEARTED.
A time that he spent upon chickens.
Would never have caused any talk,
As he left home the pict thickens.
There are chickens, by hook or by crook,

Copyright by James

DAY MORNING

ANATOLE FRANCE

BY GORDON RAY

There is a saying in France that there are always men in France; men better than in their own country, and others by other nations. Anatole France, Dumas, Balzac, and others have a glance on backwater. "Immortal hairs" are those honor with increasing usual conformity, but literary judgments of the French and Belgians there has always been during which some have flourished, often severely, who is not now, or nearly great, any Englishman will something of pain necessary for him to apply to his country. France has produced perhaps more literary men of genius; but the English are more inaccurate in distinguishing geniuses and dunces than among the greatest nations. "Island" are numbered, but wholly dependent on anything that appreciates and honours wisdom been so in France. It is not unnatural to suppose that nationalism would urge them to robe themselves and seek undeserved, that same emotional appreciation seems rather a man of sheer ability to know how and be honest. A young man in French literature, such space for argument, as Baudelaire, whose "On the Art of Writing" (John Lane Company) is the second volume of a series known by the publisher; he has reached a position given to the world, and some thirty years, stories and letters, are modest, especially for a conceit, is rarely seen. In his own works he demands a talent for the beautiful and much indulgence"—reverence, so apt a master of a artist that he might castigate those around him, in speaking of his wife, who, almost "moral" a wife, in that once rather younger Dumas—The "Anatole France" is to me that he should be a virtue. . . . To me is a stupid piece of such a butchery as admitting that they are, they must have their minds, very little intelligence. I imagine a torpid and hard evenness, and that the charming shades of which even love sees.

They are familiar with Dumas' "Madame Bovary et Jean," and an honorable introduction to the author's opinions on what he is like. Anatole France is of De Maupassant's particular, although always so with a wistfulness in it: "M. Guy de Maupassant is today, in the same of esthetics and surprise no one who is of great value, is of the kind one practical and resolute, inclined to find the simpler than they are in theory, if I understand this: There are all good novels, but that estimating them. He is a man, he who judges

"Letters" contains a few written while he was on a show, as to all of a bold poise and a clearness to be exaggerated, but very sincere and often mother read to him "The Lives of the Saints," and these inculcated a sense of the mind. In one of "The Lives of My Friends" he writes of himself: "At seven years old I was taught how to read; I were dressed by my nurse wiped by ambition, I would have gone to the battlefield; I, a regiment, one I thought of becoming a saint, and won greater renown.

shall pilfer from that French Novelists of Today, which gives an account of the youthful Anatole's youthful strivings, and destined to meet with the members of his household, refusing his breakfast, I think he must be an example of St. Simon. For thirty-seven years (in a column) he climbed up, the servant, said to him, and lifted him down, encouragement from the dining-room chair, the generosity of his parents, he threw out of the window a hair-shirt out of the charitable appreciation for him a sound who went to bed, having been told that it is hard to be in the bosom of one who fails to understand what Jerome had been compelled to all intercourse with him in a desert among only a gratuitous statement. Anatole France will occupy a place similar to that of the men of his own time, not, then it is logical, contemporaries will indeed occupy significant positions when

LAGG
ld Say So!ARE HER only eighties years old now, and she's a new novel.ARE HER only eighties
years old now, and she's a new novel.TICKETS now talk about in New York!

Copyright by Jameson.

Literature and Art New Books Book News

AMATOLE FRANCE.

BY GORDON RAY YOUNG.

that there are always great literatures in France; men not only consider their own country, but placed themselves by other nations. Zola, Dumas, Balzac, Hugo—but the balance on backward and ideal, the immortal heirs of universal fame, honor with increase of ages.

universal conformity, posterity succeeds to the literary judgments of the French; but there has scarcely been a time during which some distinctive and original, often several authors have been born, who is not now classed with the nearly great.

That situation is enough to draw a snort of contempt from a chump. It may be possible for a man to do those things and yet be a true and loving husband, but outside of a picture book he would have a hard time making anybody believe he was such a chump.

But James has a queer idea regarding his duties. As the London manufacturer of pots and pans, he makes more money than he knows what to do with. His wife is economical; she insists on saving money, and though he begs her, implores her and argues with her, she does not spend a nickel more than is necessary.

James believes in keeping money in circulation, and when he opens a branch office in another city, he immediately sets some young lady up in style, and then hires a "dragon" (amateur detective) to watch over her from a distance, of course.

Ultimately he accumulates five of these establishments (not including his own permanent home) in which his wife partakes, and seek undeserved rewards, and that same emotional and unscrupulous seems rather to have to do with how he is honored for it, than in French letters today than space for argument. Jacques Tardieu, whose "On Life and Death" (John Lane Company) has just the second volume in English, is known by the pen name of James, and has given to the world some and some thirty other volumes, stories and letters.

James is modest, especially with such an boast, it is rarely found. In his own works he has said:

"In my writings perfect simplicity demands a talent I do not possess, and some indulgence, and some savor for the beautiful and good."

"Great indulgence"—remarkable for as apt a master of irony, so strict that he might easily and so quickly those arousing difficulties, in speaking of the wife, who, almost "morally right" in that, in once renowned Dumas—"The Affair"—Anatole France says: "It may be to me that he should assassinate."

As may be imagined, events move rather rapidly after the situation has reached this stage of development. One of James' good friends, who chances to be in the detective business, finds out the entire condition of affairs—but not the truth, since he believes James to be a deep-dyed, double-deceiving monster.

Fortunately the wife of James has her trusting eyes opened, but being a sensible woman, she does not rashly withdraw into the divorce court and raise a howl.

Since James believes in extravagance, it is easy as a loving wife to furnish him with extravagances. And she does it. He has no trouble at all in disposing of his income.

Indeed, purely as a matter of economy, it becomes incumbent on him to dispose of his "little rogues"—as he calls the maidens—and the "dragons," as well as the lavish dominees he has set up.

Assisted by some luck, and a final spurt of expense, he succeeds in gaining his financial equilibrium, and—just like the normal man—is happy ever after in his wife's bed.

Anthony Ball, a very young man and exceedingly inexperienced, finds it impossible to successfully adjust himself in any sort of salaried position, but enters rapidly into a strong love for Eliza, who returns the affection. However, at the happiest point, Anthony is started by his father toward California where a invitation has set up.

Assisted by some luck, and a final spurt of expense, he succeeds in gaining his financial equilibrium, and—just like the normal man—is happy ever after in his wife's bed.

Anthony Ball, a very young man and exceedingly inexperienced, finds it impossible to successfully adjust himself in any sort of salaried position, but enters rapidly into a strong love for Eliza, who returns the affection. However, at the happiest point, Anthony is started by his father toward California where a invitation has set up.

Almost at the same time he receives news that he has fallen heir to a substantial fortune. Anthony learns that Eliza is dead. He takes sorrowfully to champagne, is led to a bawdy house, inadvertently frees a "white slave"—and that is all.

Mr. Hergesheimer writes well enough as far as sentences go; but that which he writes about seems inconsequential and uninteresting. He appears to have no object in mind other than to ramble over numerous ideas and situations that have no particular value; and the impression given is that he did not know what he was going to write much before he wrote it.

LONG DRAWN OUT.

LAST OF THE SHADOWS. By Mrs. Robert Barron. Little, Brown & Co. Boston.

THE THIRTY-EIGHTH BOOK to be added to the popular list of Oppenheim novels is not incongruous with the author's reputation. It resembles many of the others. Not that the plot is identical or even so very similar—Mr. Oppenheim is too skillful and careful to permit duplication—but it is of the same type as those which have contributed most to his success.

He is not concerned over marital difficulties, he makes himself indifferent to the biological differences of human beings—his only problem in a novel is how to keep the reader breathless. He resorts to mystery, intrigue, and puts in a coloring of romance out of deference to the sentimental.

The first chapter of two in "The Vanished Friends" is exceptionally good. From the opening sentence we feel sure that something important and unusual is about to happen.

As we see Mr. John P. Dunster on the platform at the Liverpool station, and after he is approached by Gerald Fenolia, who asks to share the special train ordered by Dunster, we are confident that a big situation is being prepared for us, and the chapter of melodrama is not intruded.

Up until the train wrecks the story moves naturally, but the interest is strong, it seems that a better writer than Mr. Oppenheim is at work.

But after Gerald carries the injured Dunster off to the home of Squire Fenolia, then the story becomes perhaps more exciting, but certainly only a second-rate preposterous series of "hair-raising" adventures; the superior workmanship disappears and we have some interest, misdirection with a peculiar tragic and ridiculous ending.

Squire Fenolia, formerly a member of the English Foreign Office, has retired to a lonely country place on the coast following an "accident" that caused the amputation of both legs. He is not only unscrupulous but unprincipled; by means of his private wires and spies he keeps in touch with foreign politics, and plans to plunge England into war by withholding the message which Dunster is carrying from American bankers to a conference of the world powers. It is Fenolia's delight to bring misery to others; he tortures his family and servants; rigs out false signal lights to cause sailors to go on the rocks; makes a pretense at charity and does not hesitate at murder when it fits his convenience.

While Dunster is held as a prisoner in the Squire's castle, he climbs up a tall tree, and, after he has been freed, and has been driven from the castle of ordinary human experience, because her sensitiveness and beauty led those who knew her to label her with the damning label of faint praise, "thoroughly worthy." "And, my dear," she tells Phillips, "God help the girl to whom he is within his rights. There is that harmlessness and goodness which blinds us to the faults of others, and makes us forget the faults of others."

The story is told of a young baronet who meets with a terrible accident in the midst of Love's young dream. His injuries produce a peculiar mental condition in which he waits through the years for the coming of his beloved, who, after the accident, promptly flings away and marries another man. In the meantime, the faithless lady dies, and her niece, who bears a striking resemblance to her, is unexpectedly brought into contact with the bereaved lover, who, in his dreamy mental condition, mistakes her for the other "Phyllis" for whom he has waited so long. Isabella has loved the young man through the years. The new Phyllis also falls in love with him. The denouement is unexpected.

POETRY.

BERGSON IN POETRY. By Blanche Shorey. The Dramatic Allegory. Metcalfe, Ward & Co. New York.

WHEN it is so difficult for philosophers to express themselves, and to present the designs of their ideas in simple prose, it seems much like heaping Osses onto Pellan to make poetry deeply philosophical. But perhaps it is too much to say that "Eris" is deeply philosophical, though it is founded on, and may only be interpreted through Henri Bergson's philosophy.

This allegorical poem (dramatic and fantastic) is in the form of a dialogue between Man and Thought, a strange ensues and Man is forced into the abyss of nothingness with wild things, strange birds and reptiles and enhanced beasts that claw each other with the will to live" while Thought remains most magnificent and greater still.

The idea conveyed is that Man is nothing without Thought—or as Thought says:

"Man without me is but a pulsing clod;" that without memory the past is lost.

ROMANCE OF A "PURE" YOUNG MAN. By Jacob Hergesheimer. New York.

SAINTE-BEUVUE, generally considered to have been the peer of critics, sought to learn a great deal that the ordinary person considers extraneous on the book. He wished to know of the racial strains of the temperament of the parents and brothers and sisters, as well as the length of time spent in preparation on the subject. And to take it that Sainte-Beuvue would have looked with much interest on the fact that Mr. Hergesheimer is aged thirty-four, and posterity shall attend to filling the niches in the hall of fame; and many of his own contemporaries are men of merit.

FICTION.

EXTRAVAGANT DUTIES. By H. M. Edgerton. Little, Brown & Co. Boston.

NEW—speak right up, all you blouse students of life: Can a man be innocent and furnish up apartments for five lovely girls each in a different city, and when he takes turns about in spending week-ends with them, and, furthermore, when he is already married?

That situation is enough to draw a snort of contempt from a chump. It may be possible for a man to do those things and yet be a true and loving husband, but outside of a picture book he would have a hard time making anybody believe he was such a chump.

But James has a queer idea regarding his duties. As the London manufacturer of pots and pans, he makes more money than he knows what to do with. His wife is economical; she insists on saving money, and though he begs her, implores her and argues with her, she does not spend a nickel more than is necessary.

James believes in keeping money in circulation, and when he opens a branch office in another city, he immediately sets some young lady up in style, and then hires a "dragon" (amateur detective) to watch over her from a distance, of course.

Ultimately he accumulates five of these establishments (not including his own permanent home) in which his wife partakes, and seek undeserved rewards, and that same emotional and unscrupulous seems rather to have to do with how he is honored for it, than in French letters today than space for argument. Jacques Tardieu, whose "On Life and Death" (John Lane Company) has just the second volume in English, is known by the pen name of James, and has given to the world some and some thirty other volumes, stories and letters.

James is modest, especially with such an boast, it is rarely found. In his own works he has said:

"In my writings perfect simplicity demands a talent I do not possess, and some indulgence, and some savor for the beautiful and good."

"Great indulgence"—remarkable for as apt a master of irony, so strict that he might easily and so quickly those arousing difficulties, in speaking of the wife, who, almost "morally right" in that, in once renowned Dumas—"The Affair"—Anatole France says: "It may be to me that he should assassinate."

As may be imagined, events move rather rapidly after the situation has reached this stage of development. One of James' good friends, who chances to be in the detective business, finds out the entire condition of affairs—but not the truth, since he believes James to be a deep-dyed, double-deceiving monster.

Fortunately the wife of James has her trusting eyes opened, but being a sensible woman, she does not rashly withdraw into the divorce court and raise a howl.

Since James believes in extravagance, it is easy as a loving wife to furnish him with extravagances. And she does it. He has no trouble at all in disposing of his income.

Indeed, purely as a matter of economy, it becomes incumbent on him to dispose of his "little rogues"—as he calls the maidens—and the "dragons," as well as the lavish dominees he has set up.

Almost at the same time he receives news that he has fallen heir to a substantial fortune. Anthony learns that Eliza is dead. He takes sorrowfully to champagne, is led to a bawdy house, inadvertently frees a "white slave"—and that is all.

Mr. Hergesheimer writes well enough as far as sentences go; but that which he writes about seems inconsequential and uninteresting. He appears to have no object in mind other than to ramble over numerous ideas and situations that have no particular value; and the impression given is that he did not know what he was going to write much before he wrote it.

THE PRESENT is an indication of mental instability, and that as a usual thing the same aggregation of fads may be found lurking about each successive innovation brought to publicity. He says almost every fad that has appeared within the memory of this generation, if consistently pursued, would prove to some degree injurious. His differentiations between common sense and faddism—identifying faddism as the impulse that causes people to believe a grain of truth is a column like that of Saint Stiles, whereas one may safely spend a lifetime.

The mention that we have made barely skims across the contents of the book, but serves to show something of its nature; it is interesting, valuable and well worth reading.

fad (particularly Fletcherism) is an indication of mental instability, and that as a usual thing the same aggregation of fads may be found lurking about each successive innovation brought to publicity. He says almost every fad that has appeared within the memory of this generation, if consistently pursued, would prove to some degree injurious. His differentiations between common sense and faddism—identifying faddism as the impulse that causes people to believe a grain of truth is a column like that of Saint Stiles, whereas one may safely spend a lifetime.

The mention that we have made barely skims across the contents of the book, but serves to show something of its nature; it is interesting, valuable and well worth reading.

HISTORY OF BIG BUSINESS.

CONQUEST OF THE TROPICS. By Frederick G. Jackson. Harper & Brothers. $5.00.

IT IS TO BE HOPED that Mr. Adams is the precursor of a new movement and one that progresses away from the arsenals of snickerishness from which innumerable writers who have approached big business have hitherto come.

"Conquest of the Tropics," so the publishers announce, is the first of a series planned to describe certain big businesses whose histories and operations concern or interest the public. This volume deals exclusively with the history and operations of the United Fruit Company which makes it possible for tropical fruit to be purchased in the markets of our country at low prices during all seasons of the year.

In this first chapter, Mr. Adams shows that the United Fruit Company is the precursor of a new movement and one that progresses away from the arsenals of snickerishness from which innumerable writers who have approached big business have hitherto come.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received. It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

It is to be hoped that the book will be a success, and that it will be well received.

Clearing House
THE ENTIRE SOUTHWEST.

THIRD YEAR.

CLASSIFIED INDEX.

Hazardous SECTION.

Page 1-6.

1-2-3

1-3-4

1-4-5

1-5-6

1-6-7

1-7-8

1-8-9

1-9-10

1-10-11

1-11-12

1-12-13

1-13-14

1-14-15

1-15-16

1-16-17

1-17-18

1-18-19

1-19-20

1-20-21

1-21-22

1-22-23

1-23-24

1-24-25

1-25-26

1-26-27

1-27-28

1-28-29

1-29-30

1-30-31

1-31-32

1-32-33

1-33-34

1-34-35

1-35-36

1-36-37

1-37-38

1-38-39

1-39-40

1-40-41

1-41-42

1-42-43

1-43-44

1-44-45

1-45-46

1-46-47

1-47-48

1-48-49

1-49-50

1-50-51

1-51-52

1-52-53

1-53-54

1-54-55

1-55-56

1-56-57

1-57-58

1-58-59

1-59-60

1-60-61

1-61-62

1-62-63

1-63-64

1-64-65

1-65-66

1-66-67

1-67-68

1-68-69

1-69-70

1-70-71

1-71-72

1-72-73

1-73-74

1-74-75

1-75-76

1-76-77

1-77-78

1-78-79

1-79-80

1-80-81

1-81-82

1-82-83

1-83-84

1-84-85

1-85-86

1-86-87

1-87-88

1-88-89

1-89-90

1-90-91

1-91-92

1-92-93

1-93-94

1-94-95

1-95-96

1-96-97

1-97-98

1-98-99

1-99-100

1-100-101

1-101-102

1-102-103

1-103-104

1-104-105

1-105-106

1-106-107

1-107-108

1-108-109

1-109-110

1-110-111

1-111-112

1-112-113

1-113-114

1-114-115

1-115-116

1-116-117

1-117-118

1-118-119

1-119-120

1-120-121

1-121-122

1-122-123

1-123-124

1-124-125

1-126-127

1-127-128

1-128-129

1-129-130

1-130-131

1-131-132

1-132-133

1-133-134

1-134-135

1-135-136

1-136-137

1-137-138

1-138-139

1-139-140

1-140-141

1-141-142

1-142-143

1-143-144

1-144-145

1-145-146

1-146-147

1-147-148

1-148-149

1-149-150

1-150-151

1-151-152

1-152-153

1-153-154

1-154-155

1-155-156

1-156-157

1-157-158

1-158-159

1-159-160

1-160-161

1-161-162

1-162-163

1-163-164

1-164-165

1-165-166

1-166-167

1-167-168

1-168-169

1-169-170

1-170-171

1-171-172

1-172-173

1-173-174

1-174-175

1-175-176

1-176-177

1-177-178

1-178-179

1-179-180

1-180-181

1-181-182

1-182-183

1-183-184

1-184-185

1-185-186

1-186-187

1-187-188

1-188-189

1-189-190

1-190-191

1-191-192

1-192-193

1-193-194

1-194-195

1-195-196

1-196-197

1-197-198

1-198-199

1-1

